Probe Of Vote Irregularities Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee recommended 3-2 Wednesday that Dr. Dale Alford, Little Rock segregationist, be denied his House seat next year until an investigation is made of his election.

Alford, a write-in candidate, defeated the veteran Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) by about 1,200 votes after a campaign that had echoes of the Little Rock school integration problem. Hays took what he called a moderate stand on the integration issue.

House Will Decide

The committee, with its two Southern members strongly dissenting, recommended that when the new House convenes next Jan. 7 Alford be asked to stand aside and not take the oath of office until an investigation is made into charges of irregularities and fraud in the election.

The House itself will decide whether Alford shall be seated.

The majority committee report said that evidence presented established a prima facie case of fraud and irregularity in the conduct of the election.

Alford said at Little Rock that "further action will be taken in my behalf immediately." He did not specify what action or by whom.

Hays Not Contesting Election

Hays had told the committee earlier in the day there was a question of fraud in the election and that it should be investigated. He said that since he was not contesting the election there would be no question of personalities. At stake, he said, was the integrity of elections.

The committee acted upon complaint of John F. Wells, Little Rock weekly newspaper publisher, who charged there were numerous election irregularities, a conspiracy by Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus and others to unseat Hays and that stickers used by Alford voters to indicate their write-in choice were illegal.

Ike 'Neutral' In GOP Feud, Bridges Says

But President Hopes Senate Republicans Avoid Serious Split

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Styles Bridges said Wednesday President Eisenhower hopes the power struggle between liberal and conservative Senate Republicans can be compromised to avoid splintering of GOP ranks.

Bridges relayed the President's feelings on the bitter feud over the party's Senate leadership after a meeting with Eisenhower at the White House.

The New Hampshire Republican said the President would like to see Senate Republicans begin the new session of Congress next month as "a united party instead of in splinter groups."

Keeps "Hands-Off"

But Bridges emphasized that Eisenhower was maintaining a hands-off policy toward the dispute.

Bridges said he gave the President a report on the liberal-conservative struggle for Senate leadership posts. He conceded the feud could lead to a serious split in GOP ranks.

The liberal block has threatened to run its own slate of candidates for minority leader and four other GOP posts in an effort to break conservative domination of Senate GOP leadership jobs.

Bridges said he told the President he hoped the issue could be settled without an all-out fight. But he predicted the conservatives would win if it came to a showdown.

Dirksen Sees Ike

Shortly after Bridges left the President's office, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) went in. Dirksen is the conservative candidate for the minority leader's post being vacated by Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.).

Dirksen said he did not discuss the liberal-conservative fight with the President. He escorted a delegate from the Boys' Clubs of America who called on Eisenhower.

He joined in hoping for a friendly settlement of the dispute and added that Republicans "can't afford a spirited fight" at the opening of Congress. But he also said he was "reasonably confident" of a conservative victory if the liberals press their fight.

Air And Land Defenses Will Be Bolstered

Resolution Adopted Following Somber Report By Norstad

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization voted formally Wednesday to strengthen its defenses with more missiles, planes and divisions.

NATO took the decision in a formal resolution to do its best to bring the defense forces up to the minimum figure declared necessary by Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe.

But the goals for increased defensive might were listed in the resolution only as objectives.

The annual military review estimated there was no reduction in the extent of the Soviet war machine nor any reduction in its threat. The Soviets were pictured as able to pour a million troops quickly into central Europe in any showdown.

Soviet Warning Recalled

The threat itself was brought home to the Allies by the Soviet warning last month that by June, West Berlin would be declared a free city and its supply channels surrendered to Communist East German control.

An answer to this threat was being drafted by France, Britain, West Germany and the United States. There was no expectation that a completed draft will be ready for discussion by the NATO meeting.

The note, a short one, will reject the Soviet demand, but will express a willingness to negotiate on East-West tensions, informed sources said.

But the four powers will say they refuse to negotiate under an ultimatum. They will ask if the June deadline set by the Soviet Union is an ultimatum.

France Balks At Missile Bases

The day's developments in the NATO foreign ministers conference were few except for Norstad's report—a sober statement that his 17 combat divisions were barely half what he insists is a minimum.

The NATO briefing officer declined to give details of what Norstad reported on the present state of preparedness.

Two things are known, however. France has put so many special conditions upon placing intermediate-range missile bases in this country that Norstad has struck the country off the list—at least for now.

The second thing is that an agreement is almost up to the signing stage under which latly will accept such bases. Military sources insist it is almost as good an area as would be available in France.

U.S. To Develop Mighty Space Rocket Engine

WASHINGTON (AP) — This country's hope of being the first to rocket a man into space took an upward turn Wednesday — at a prospective cost of about 200 million dollars.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration gave a California firm the job of developing a huge engine designed, NASA said, "to deliver far more thrust than any other rocket now in existence."

NASA selected Rocketdyne, a division of North American Aviation, Inc., Canoga Park, Calif., to design and develop an engine with up to 1½ million pounds of thrust.

"Performance flight rating tests of the engine will be based on unmanned vehicle applications," the announcement said, "but it may eventually propel manned satellites and space craft."

Such an engine could launch space payloads weighing several tons. The thrust of rockets already developed by the Soviet Union has not been announced, but they claim to have shot up a 4,850-pound object to a height of 132 miles.

Selection of Rocketdyne to develop a rocket which would propel a heavier object much farther—perhaps to Mars or Venus—came soon after the Air Force successfully fired two Thor ballistic missiles, almost simultaneously, from both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

The more significant of the tests was from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., where one of the 50-ton weapons was hurtled 1,500 miles across the Pacific under combat-type conditions — a clear indication that the missile is about ready to be used in any actual war.

Another Thor was fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Tuesday night. It appeared to work perfectly and to cover about the same distance.

Emergency Landing

WILMINGTON, N. C. (UPI) — A National Airlines Constellation with 106 persons aboard made an emergency landing at Bleuthenthall Airport here Wednesday when an engine caught fire.

Farm Harvest Breaks Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American farms, blessed by good weather and modern technology, this year produced the biggest crops in the nation's history, the Agriculture Department reported Wednesday.

The department said U.S. farms produced 11 per cent more in 1958 than they did in previous record years of 1948 and 1957, despite the lowest planted acreage in 40 years.

Better seed, improved fertilizers and advanced cultivation techniques were largely responsible for the high yields per acre which helped produce the overall national record.

But the department said that weather conditions also were generally favorable throughout the entire planting-harvest cycle. Soil moisture helped seed germination and plant growth. Moderate temperatures favored crop maturity and dry fall weather aided harvesting.

Soviet Deputy Premier Wants To Visit U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet government was reported Wednesday night to have advised the United States that Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan would like to visit Washington in the near future. Such a visit could mean high level but informal Soviet-American talks on a wide range of issues.

Mikoyan is a close associate of Premier Nikita Khrushchev and is considered by Western experts on the Soviet government to be interested primarily in promoting trade between Russia and other countries.

State Department officials declined comment on the report.

Mikoyan was represented as wanting to come here for specific purpose of visiting Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov. Menshikov has been a constant advocate of expanded Soviet trade with the United States since he arrived here early this year.

U.S. officials have replied to his propaganda campaign with the argument that the Soviet government is not actually taking advantage of the trade opportunities already open to it with this and other Western countries.

New Cardinals Receive Red Caps

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Twenty new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church knelt before Pope John XXIII Wednesday and received the red caps and capes of their office.

Enthroned on a scarlet-carpeted dais in the 10th century Consistorial Hall of the Vatican Palace, the 77-year-old pontiff conferred on each the square cardinal's cap, called a biretta, and the cape, or mozetta.

It was the shortest of the four splendid ceremonies marking the creation and installation of the new Princes of the Church, including Richard James Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, and John Cardinal O'Hara, Archbishop of Philadelphia. It lasted less than half an hour.

Coya Knutson's Plea Rejected By House Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee flicked into its wastebasket Wednesday a complaint of Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn) that a malicious plot cheated her of re-election.

The unanimous action of the five man committee appeared likely to provide the final answer to the "Coya come home" plea of Mrs. Knutson's husband — a plea that figured sensationally in her defeat in the Nov. 4 election.

The blonde congresswoman voiced disappointment at the decision of the special committee set up to handle complaints about election activities and spending. She said there still is a strong possibility she will contest formally the election of her Republican opponent, Odin Langen. But her chances of getting anywhere with a contest appeared slight.

The committee which considered Mrs. Knutson's conspiracy complaint merely went through some preliminary maneuvers and then refused even to order a full investigation.

Its members agreed that "exploitation of the family life of the Knutsons was a contributing cause of her failure of election."

They also said there was no direct evidence linking Langen with any conspiracy to exploit the Knutson's family troubles.

The committee decided no further investigation is required on its part and "no further action is warranted."

The family difficulties centered on contentions of Andy Knutson that his wife was neglecting their home, was under the influence of her executive assistant, William Kjeldahl, and that Kjeldahl was dictating how her congressional office was run.

Andy issued his famous "Coya come home" letter in the form of a news release. The day after the election last month he filed a $200,000 alienation of affctions suit against Kjeldahl.

The suit was withdrawn shortly afterward.

Mrs. Knutson contended the suit and the come-home bid all were part of a conspiracy hatched by political allies of Langen which, she said, defrauded her of a third House term.

Hidden Capitol Steps Uncovered

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two steps to the Capitol that had been hidden since 1819, have been uncovered by workmen extending the east front of the building.

The sandstone steps, perfectly preserved, were covered with stone and dirt. They lay at an entrance on the Senate side of the east front portico near the massive granite steps to the central rotunda.

The steps and entrance were used in the early days when the capitol was only a fraction of its present size.

Within a few feet of the steps, George Washington laid the original cornerstone on Sept. 18, 1793. The cornerstone may be uncovered within a few days.

84 Store Fire Dead Mourned By Colombians

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Colombia mourned Wednesday night for 84 victims of fire and panic that turned a department store into a death trap for Christmas shoppers.

The fire and frenzied stampede swept the Vida store in downtown Bogota Tuesday night.

Fifty were injured and dozens of others affected by smoke and fumes from flames created by the explosion of a short-circuited display of Christmas lights.

The loss of life was the largest on record for a department store fire. Files of the National Protection Assn., in Boston, showed it doubled the previous high — the death of 41 persons at Christchurch, New Zealand, Nov. 18, 1947.

National mourning was decreed by President Alberto Lleras Camargo across this South American land of 12 million.

The government will pay for the funerals of the clerks and shoppers, mostly women, who perished.

Store manager Alberto Mazuera said that deaths might have been held to about 20 but for panic that sent many clawing and screaming up a stairway that led only to a mezzanine office.

"Unfortunately, the panic spread very quickly," he said.

The stairway seemed a pathway of safety to shoppers trapped among laden counters at the rear of the store—only 23 feet wide—by a curtain of flames at the center.

But it turned into a funeral pyre for masses of men, women and children, some with Christmas packages in their arms.

Those in the front of the store escaped easily through its street doors and through display windows smashed out by clerks. The doors were open at all times, the Interior Ministry said.

Customers had started bolting when they saw the clothing of some salesgirls catch fire.

Fire Fighters Winning Battle

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Cal. (UPI)—Marine and forest service fire fighters gained valuable ground Wednesday night on a 60,000 acre brush fire, as improved weather conditions reduced the danger to Camp Pendleton barracks and some 300 homes.

The U. S. Forest Service said the situation was "looking better" and that it now appears possible the fire, which broke out last Sunday, will be controlled completely by Friday night—barring a sudden flareup in winds.

The blaze "made a run for it" on the Northern line near Los Pinos peak early Wednesday, but winds died down and fire officials abandoned plans to send 120 Marines to a high ridge area by helicopter.

There were still no casualties reported in the fire, which moved within several miles of this historic town with its famed mission.

Homes in the Trabuco Canyon area appeared in no immediate danger.

The fire Wednesday night was described as 30 per cent controlled, with at least temporary lines set up around another 30 per cent. The remaining 40 per cent was completely out of control.

More than 2,000 firefighters have been battling the flames.

Insurance On 1959 Autos To Cost More

NEW YORK (AP)—Note to owners of 1959 automobiles: your insurance is going to cost more. Why? The increased use of glass in the new models.

The National Auto Underwriters Assn. said Wednesday most 1959 model owners will be charged an additional premium of $3 for each automobile insured for full comprehensive coverage and $1 for each automobile with $50 deductible comprehensive.

Glass losses are a major proportion of all claims paid under comprehensive coverage, said the association which represents some 500 insurance companies in the United States.

Marilyn Monroe Loses Unborn Child

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite elaborate safeguards, actress Marilyn Monroe has lost her second unborn child in 16 months. The miscarriage was confirmed Wednesday night.

Miss Monroe's personal press representative, Joseph Wolhandler, said the screen star is recovering nicely at her home here but is extremely upset over the loss of the unborn infant.

Personal Income For 1958 To Exceed Previous Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The personal income of Americans went to a record rate of 360 billion dollars a year in November.

The Commerce Department, reporting this Wednesday, called it a 2½-billion-dollar gain from October.

The substantial rise assured an all-year income total of more than 353 billion dollars. This would be five billion more than in 1957, in spite of the business recession.

However, the department said that price increases more than offset the income gain, so that consumer buying power did not quite match that of 1957.

Moreover, much of this year's rise represented government payments, including stepped-up unemployment compensation payments and old age benefits.

The November rise of individual incomes was impressive, however, and confirmed that the pace of the business recovery was well maintained this fall, if not speeded.

The pickup was aided by the settlement of strikes in the auto, machinery, chemical, glass and other industries. The settlements permitted heavier production schedules, the rehiring of laid off workers, and a longer work week. The strikes had caused a slight dip in total income in October.

The report capped a flow of good business news from Washington. It was disclosed earlier that industrial production advanced 2 per cent in November, retail sales climbed 1½ per cent, and the seasonally adjusted rate of joblessness dropped from 7.1 per cent to 5.9 per cent.

GI Convicted On AWOL Charge

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —An American soldier was sentenced to six months at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge Wednesday for going AWOL into Communist Romania for 10 years.

A U.S. Army courtmartial imposed the sentence after convicting Pvt. Jonathan Morris, 42, of Wheeling, W. Va. on the AWOL charge. It acquitted him of a more serious charge of desertion. The court also ordered him to forfeit all pay and allowances.

The Army had accused Morris of desertion for leaving his unit in Bavaria on Nov. 11, 1948, and going to Romania with his Romanian girl, Maria Minyow, 46.

Disillusioned with life behind the Iron Curtain, Morris voluntarily returned from Bucharest last September and surrendered to U.S. Army authorities in Germany. He was held for investigation. The girl did not return with him.

The soldier, who was broken from sergeant to private during World War II because of excessive drinking, told authorities he left his unit in 1948 because his officers "didn't like me and wanted to get rid of me."

W. Germany Slated To Produce Missiles

PARIS (AP)—Informed sources said today France, Italy, and West Germany have decided to produce jointly antiaircraft missiles and tanks.

This would mark the first time that the West Germans would go into actual production of missiles. They are barred by treaty from making such weapons, but the qualified informants said there was little doubt the Atlantic Alliance would lift this restriction.

The missile to be produced is the American - developed Hawk which has a range of 30 miles.

The three countries reportedly decided also to work jointly on a 39-ton tank. Officials declined comment.

Navy "Task Force" Helps Santa Claus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy came to the aid of Santa Claus Wednesday.

A volunteer task force of Pentagon officers asked and got Post Office permission to scan the Santa letters which are piling up faster than the dead letter office can handle them.

The Navy officers, who didn't want their names used, are trying to match appeals from children in needy families with offers of gifts from organizations and individuals.

AT&T Plans 3-For-1 Stock Split, 10% Dividend Boost

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the world's biggest public utility, offered shareowners the biggest Christmas melon in financial history Wednesday by recommending a 3-for-1 split of the stock and a 10 per cent increase in the dividend.

The news hit Wall Street like a bombshell. AT&T stock closed up $21 at $223 a share, breaking a 27-year high on the New York Stock Exchange. A volume of 110,200 shares was traded.

It will be the first stock-split in A&T history and the first change in the dividend rate in 37 years.

The recommendation by directors will come up for stockholder action at the next annual meeting April 15.

Its ratification is considered a foregone conclusion. In the first place, stockholders do not vote against Santa Claus—a stock split and dividend increase that would give them more money.

In the second place, AT&T stockholders meticulously follow recommendations of their directors. At the 1957 annual meeting, they rejected a 4-for-1 stock split proposal by an overwhelming margin because the board at that time strongly recommended against it.

On first news of the split, the stock shot up $3 to $205. Then an avalanche of buy orders forced suspension of trading. An hour and a half later, trading was resumed with a sale at $225, up $23 on a block of 75,000 shares.

Directors said that if the stock split were approved at the annual meeting, additional shares would be distributed about June 1.

Soviet Said To Have 1,400 M.P.H. Bomber

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union now has in operational service a secret six-jet intercontinental bomber twice as fast as any operational American heavy bomber, Jane's All the World Aircraft reported Wednesday.

The new Soviet delta wing bomber can travel about 1,400 m.p.h. — about twice the speed of sound — the authoritative British aviation publication said.

GI Convicted On AWOL Charge

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —An American soldier was sentenced to six months at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge Wednesday for going AWOL into Communist Romania for 10 years.

A U.S. Army courtmartial imposed the sentence after convicting Pvt. Jonathan Morris, 42, of Wheeling, W. Va. on the AWOL charge. It acquitted him of a more serious charge of desertion. The court also ordered him to forfeit all pay and allowances.

The Army had accused Morris of desertion for leaving his unit in Bavaria on Nov. 11, 1948, and going to Romania with his Romanian girl, Maria Minyow, 46.

Disillusioned with life behind the Iron Curtain, Morris voluntarily returned from Bucharest last September and surrendered to U.S. Army authorities in Germany. He was held for investigation. The girl did not return with him.

The soldier, who was broken from sergeant to private during World War II because of excessive drinking, told authorities he left his unit in 1948 because his officers "didn't like me and wanted to get rid of me."

W. Germany Slated To Produce Missiles

PARIS (AP)—Informed sources said today France, Italy, and West Germany have decided to produce jointly antiaircraft missiles and tanks.

This would mark the first time that the West Germans would go into actual production of missiles. They are barred by treaty from making such weapons, but the qualified informants said there was little doubt the Atlantic Alliance would lift this restriction.

The missile to be produced is the American - developed Hawk which has a range of 30 miles.

The three countries reportedly decided also to work jointly on a 39-ton tank. Officials declined comment.

Coya Knutson's Plea Rejected By House Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee flicked into its wastebasket Wednesday a complaint of Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn) that a malicious plot cheated her of re-election.

The unanimous action of the five man committee appeared likely to provide the final answer to the "Coya come home" plea of Mrs. Knutson's husband — a plea that figured sensationally in her defeat in the Nov. 4 election.

The blonde congresswoman voiced disappointment at the decision of the special committee set up to handle complaints about election activities and spending. She said there still is a strong possibility she will contest formally the election of her Republican opponent, Odin Langen. But her chances of getting anywhere with a contest appeared slight.

The committee which considered Mrs. Knutson's conspiracy com, laint merely went through some preliminary maneuvers and then refused even to order a full investigation.

Its members agreed that "exploitation of the family life of the Knutsons was a contributing cause of her failure of election."

They also said there was no direct evidence linking Langen with any conspiracy to exploit the Knutson's family troubles.

The committee decided no further investigation is required on its part and "no further action is warranted."

The family difficulties centered on contentions of Andy Knutson that his wife was neglecting their home, was under the influence of her executive assistant, William Kjeldahl, and that Kjeldahl was dictating how her congressional office was run.

Andy issued his famous "Coya come home" letter in the form of a news release. The day after the election last month he filed a $200,000 alienation of affctions suit against Kjeldahl.

The suit was withdrawn shortly afterward.

Mrs. Knutson contended the suit and the come-home bid all were part of a conspiracy hatched by political allies of Langen which, she said, defrauded her of a third House term.

Navy "Task Force" Helps Santa Claus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy came to the aid of Santa Claus Wednesday.

A volunteer task force of Pentagon officers asked and got Post Office permission to scan the Santa letters which are piling up faster than the dead letter office can handle them.

The Navy officers, who didn't want their names used, are trying to match appeals from children in needy families with offers of gifts from organizations and individuals.

Pier Wins Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Italian-born actress Pier Angeli won a divorce by default Wednesday from singer Vic Damone on testimony he was insanely jealous without having any reason to doubt her love.

Hidden Capitol Steps Uncovered

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two steps to the Capitol that had been hidden since 1819, have been uncovered by workmen extending the east front of the building.

The sandstone steps, perfectly preserved, were covered with stone and dirt. They lay at an entrance on the Senate side of the east front portico near the massive granite steps to the central rotunda.

The steps and entrance were used in the early days when the capitol was only a fraction of its present size.

Within a few feet of the steps, George Washington laid the original cornerstone on Sept. 18, 1793. The cornerstone may be uncovered within a few days.

Fire Fighters Winning Battle

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Cal. (UPI)—Marine and forest service fire fighters gained valuable ground Wednesday night on a 60,000 acre brush fire, as improved weather conditions reduced the danger to Camp Pendleton barracks and some 300 homes.

The U. S. Forest Service said the situation was "looking better" and that it now appears possible the fire, which broke out last Sunday, will be controlled completely by Friday night—barring a sudden flareup in winds.

The blaze "made a run for it" on the Northern line near Los Pinos peak early Wednesday, but winds died down and fire officials abandoned plans to send 120 Marines to a high ridge area by helicopter.

There were still no casualties reported in the fire, which moved within several miles of this historic town with its famed mission.

Homes in the Trabuco Canyon area appeared in no immediate danger.

The fire Wednesday night was described as 30 per cent controlled, with at least temporary lines set up around another 30 per cent. The remaining 40 per cent was completely out of control.

More than 2,000 firefighters have been battling the flames.

84 Store Fire Dead Mourned By Colombians

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Colombia mourned Wednesday night for 84 victims of fire and panic that turned a department store into a death trap for Christmas shoppers.

The fire and frenzied stampede swept the Vida store in downtown Bogota Tuesday night.

Fifty were injured and dozens of others affected by smoke and fumes from flames created by the explosion of a short-circuited display of Christmas lights.

The loss of life was the largest on record for a department store fire. Files of the National Protection Assn., in Boston, showed it doubled the previous high — the death of 41 persons at Christchurch, New Zealand, Nov. 18, 1947.

National mourning was decreed by President Alberto Lleras Camargo across this South American land of 12 million.

The government will pay for the funerals of the clerks and shoppers, mostly women, who perished.

Store manager Alberto Mazuera said that deaths might have been held to about 20 but for panic that sent many clawing and screaming up a stairway that led only to a mezzanine office.

"Unfortunately, the panic spread very quickly," he said.

The stairway seemed a pathway of safety to shoppers trapped among laden counters at the rear of the store—only 23 feet wide—by a curtain of flames at the center.

But it turned into a funeral pyre for masses of men, women and children, some with Christmas packages in their arms.

Those in the front of the store escaped easily through its street doors and through display windows smashed out by clerks. The doors were open at all times, the Interior Ministry said.

Customers had started bolting when they saw the clothing of some salesgirls catch fire.

Insurance On 1959 Autos To Cost More

NEW YORK (AP)—Note to owners of 1959 automobiles: your insurance is going to cost more. Why? The increased use of glass in the new models.

The National Auto Underwriters Assn. said Wednesday most 1959 model owners will be charged an additional premium of $3 for each automobile insured for full comprehensive coverage and $1 for each automobile with $50 deductible comprehensive.

Glass losses are a major proportion of all claims paid under comprehensive coverage, said the association which represents some 500 insurance companies in the United States.

Marilyn Monroe Loses Unborn Child

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite elaborate safeguards, actress Marilyn Monroe has lost her second unborn child in 16 months. The miscarriage was confirmed Wednesday night.

Miss Monroe's personal press representative, Joseph Wolhandler, said the screen star is recovering nicely at her home here but is extremely upset over the loss of the unborn infant.

Soviet Said To Have 1,400 M.P.H. Bomber

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union now has in operational service a secret six-jet intercontinental bomber twice as fast as any operational American heavy bomber, Jane's All the World Aircraft reported Wednesday.

The new Soviet delta wing bomber can travel about 1,400 m.p.h. — about twice the speed of sound — the authoritative British aviation publication said.

Personal Income For 1958 To Exceed Previous Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The personal income of Americans went to a record rate of 360 billion dollars a year in November.

The Commerce Department, reporting this Wednesday, called it a 2½-billion-dollar gain from October.

The substantial rise assured an all-year income total of more than 353 billion dollars. This would be five billion more than in 1957, in spite of the business recession.

However, the department said that price increases more than offset the income gain, so that consumer buying power did not quite match that of 1957.

Moreover, much of this year's rise represented government payments, including stepped-up unemployment compensation payments and old age benefits.

The November rise of individual incomes was impressive, however, and confirmed that the pace of the business recovery was well maintained this fall, if not speeded.

The pickup was aided by the settlement of strikes in the auto, machinery, chemical, glass and other industries. The settlements permitted heavier production schedules, the rehiring of laid off workers, and a longer work week. The strikes had caused a slight dip in total income in October.

The report capped a flow of good business news from Washington. It was disclosed earlier that industrial production advanced 2 per cent in November, retail sales climbed 1½ per cent, and the seasonally adjusted rate of joblessness dropped from 7.1 per cent to 5.9 per cent.

AT&T Plans 3-For-1 Stock Split, 10% Dividend Boost

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the world's biggest public utility, offered shareowners the biggest Christmas melon in financial history Wednesday by recommending a 3-for-1 split of the stock and a 10 per cent increase in the dividend.

The news hit Wall Street like a bombshell. AT&T stock closed up $21 at $223 a share, breaking a 27-year high on the New York Stock Exchange. A volume of 110,200 shares was traded.

It will be the first stock-split in A&T history and the first change in the dividend rate in 37 years.

The recommendation by directors will come up for stockholder action at the next annual meeting April 15.

Its ratification is considered a foregone conclusion. In the first place, stockholders do not vote against Santa Claus—a stock split and dividend increase that would give them more money.

In the second place, AT&T stockholders meticulously follow recommendations of their directors. At the 1957 annual meeting, they rejected a 4-for-1 stock split proposal by an overwhelming margin because the board at that time strongly recommended against it.

On first news of the split, the stock shot up $3 to $205. Then an avalanche of buy orders forced suspension of trading. An hour and a half later, trading was resumed with a sale at $225, up $23 on a block of 75,000 shares.

Directors said that if the stock split were approved at the annual meeting, additional shares would be distributed about June 1.

Project Mercury, Designed To Put Man Into Space, Outlined By NASA

WASHINGTON (AP)—An intensive American program designed to put a man into space was revealed Wednesday night by the nation's civilian space agency. Its name: Project Mercury.

Mercury also would be the nickname of the first American hurled into space, several years from now at the earliest, said T. Keith Glennan, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In a speech prepared for the Wright Day dinner in honor of aviation's pioneering Wright brothers, Glennan said his agency "is directing the national effort that has as its objective the putting into space of man himself."

He said the Defense Department's space agency—Advanced Research Projects Agency—is participating in the program, and he added: "I wish to emphasize that this is a long-range type of effort. We shall be working very hard, but at the very earliest, success of this venture is several years away."

Asserting that "our modern-day Mercury will be selected with the greatest of care," the space official said: "We will use the entire resources of the nation to determine, in advance insofar as possible, man's ability to cope with the physical, mental and psychological stresses of space travel.

"We hope to accomplish this determination on the ground . . . in the nation's aero-medical laboratories.

"All this must be done before any attempts are made to send Mercury aloft.

"The problems that must be solved in connection with this project . . . the ones we know about now . . . are very difficult. We anticipate we shall be facing other problems, not yet identified, that also will require solution."

Glennan said that in the coming year the United States will be sending into space a considerable number of satellites and probes under ARPA and NASA direction.

Belief Widens In Free Asia Mao On Skids

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tze-tung's retirement as President of Red China raised hopes among anti-Communist Asians that the Peiping regime is cracking. But most Western diplomats expected no change in Peiping policy.

The Chinese Communist party Central Committee, in a carefully worded communique breaking the news to the 600 million Chinese on the mainland, emphasized Wednesday that Mao is still the boss.

The U.S. State Department and British Far East experts were inclined to accept this view. They noted that the 65-year-old architect of the Chinese Communist revolution is still retaining his all-powerful job as party leader.

But in Hong Kong, South Korea and Formosa there was speculation that Mao was being downgraded and would ultimately be stripped of all power.

The Chinese Nationalist government spokesman in Formosa said "I have not the slightest doubt that we are witnessing today the beginning of the end for Mao Tze-tung & Co."

Nationalist underground agents on the mainland first reported last Saturday that Mao was stepping down.

Sources in the Japanese Foreign Ministry, who know the working of the Oriental mind, were frankly stumped. "We just don't know what it means," one responsible source said.

A tipoff on the significance of the shift may come when the People's Congress, Red China's Parliament, meets in January to choose Mao's successor.

The two most frequently mentioned for the chief of state post are Vice President Chu Teh, 72, an old ally of Mao; and Moscow-trained theoretician Liu Shao-chi, 60. Both are party vice chairmen.

Youth Confesses Slaying Young Mother-To-Be

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — A part-time college student related without emotion Wednesday how he raped and killed a pretty young expectant mother in the midst of her baby wardrobe and Christmas packages and then returned home across the street to read and study.

David S. Smith, 20, a tall, quiet night student of political science at Ohio State University, told authorities he had planned for two or three days to attack Mrs. Janice Ora Porter, 24, who was expecting her first child any day.

Young Smith, who attended classes at the university two nights a week, said he did not know the victim's first name.

He said he went to the Porter home early Tuesday to look for his cat and returned about 9:30 a.m. while Mrs. Porter was in the basement ironing.

He found a .22-caliber revolver and loaded it, he said, and when she came upstairs, he attacked her.

Two N.Y. Banks Plan To Merge

NEW YORK (AP)—J. P. Morgan & Co. Inc., a famous name in American financial history, plans to merge with Guaranty Trust Co. to form Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York.

The heads of the two banks announced the plans at a news conference.

The merger is subject to approval of the superintendent of banks of New York, the Federal Reserve Board and stockholders.

With capital funds of more than 500 million dollars and total resources of about four billion dollars, the merger institution would be the fourth largest bank in the nation. The four biggest banks now are San Francisco's Bank of America and New York's Chase Manhattan, First National City and Chemical Corn Exchange.

Henry C. Alexander, chairman of Morgan, would be chairman and chief executive officer of the merged bank. J. Luther Cleveland, chairman of Guaranty Trust, would be chairman of the executive committee.

University Is Flim-Flam Victim Of 'African Prince'

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Now the University of Maryland is a flim-flam victim of a fast operating "African Prince."

Dr. Furman Bridgers of the university said Wednesday a man posing as "his highness, Kawama Lapola Ademole, crown prince of Ubangi-Sheri, French Equatorial Africa," had charged several bills to the university where he claimed to be a student.

State police from coast to coast are looking for the 26-year-old Negro, whose real name is reported by authorities to be Edward Lee Wood. Wood is said to be formerly of Philadelphia and a native of Macclenny, Fla.

Police said he is wanted in Oregon, Atlanta and in Danville, Va., among other places.

Bridgers, foreign student adviser, said hospital bills were received at the university from Long Island, New Haven, Conn., and Frederick, Md. Another bill came from the Hotel New Yorker. All arrived since October, he said.

Violin strings were called cat gut strings, but they were made from sheep gut.

Middle-Aged Woman Holds Up Liquor Store

BALTIMORE (AP)—A middle-aged woman with her hand jammed in the pocket of her coat, held up a liquor store in suburban Baynesville Wednesday and escaped with about $200.

Mrs. Alvin Koch, 35, a clerk, estimated the woman to be about 55 and said she drove away in a car with Louisiana plates.

Mrs. Koch said the woman came into the store with her hand buried in a pocket and said "okay, let's have it."

Youth Admits Fatal Stabbing Of Woman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police said a 19-year-old youth was arrested Wednesday and admitted he fatally stabbed Miss Edna G. Jewel, 50, a government clerk.

Miss Jewel died of wounds in the throat and chest. She was found by a neighbor Tuesday night inside the door of her ransacked apartment.

Inspector Aubrey M. Tolson said the youth, who lives in the neighborhood, was arrested by Detective James A. Buch acting on a tip from an unidentified informant.

Tolson quoted the youth as saying he was in the apartment looking for money when Miss Jewel returned.

Towson Woman Near Death From Burns

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Mary L. Cararo, 70, suffered burns on 75 per cent of her body Wednesday when a curtain she was hanging in her kitchen caught fire.

She was in critical condition in Union Memorial Hospital in Baltimore.

The fire department said the fire apparently was caused by a flame from a kitchen range igniting the curtain, which in turn ignited her clothes.

Neighbors heard her screams, ran into the home, and smothered the flames with their hands. Some of them also received treatment for burns.

Drop In U. Md. Farm Students Causes Concern

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Enrollment in agriculture at the University of Maryland, the second oldest college for the study of farming in the United States, is declining in contrast to the skyrocketing overall increase in students.

A report that there are only 429 students in the agriculture this year came as somewhat of a surprise and caused some concern to legislators and farming leaders of the state Wednesday.

They were guests of the university to hear reports on the College of Agriculture, which started in 1856, and its related programs.

Listeners learned that the related program of research, extension and other services, have dwarfed the study of farming by undergraduates.

Dr. Gordon M. Cairns, dean of agriculture, reported that only 7 per cent of the total $5,100,000 appropriation for his department is spent on teaching.

The department's appropriation is one-seventh of the entire university's budget. The university has an undergraduate enrollment of over 14,000 in all branches.

Dr. Paul Poffenberger, assistant dean in charge of agricultural instruction, reported the number of students declined from 531 two years ago to 494 last year and 429 this year.

Poffenberger, under this questioning, conceded that perhaps the university had not had enough personal contact with high school guidance counselors or fully utilized its resources in the counties.

He also disclosed to many of his audience for the first time that the university has started a two-year course of study for the strictly "vocational type of training" in agriculture.

He said this is coupled with a belief by the staff that education in the future should concentrate more on activities related to agriculture, such as the processing and transportation of food.

A question from Del. Perry O. Wilkinson (D - Prince Georges) elicted from Poffenberger information that the university agriculture staff numbers 160. He also said that while undergraduate enrollment in agriculture is declining, the number of graduate students is going up at the rate of 10-15 a year and now totals 189.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, in greeting the legislators and farm leaders, regents and state board of agriculture described the meeting as an effort to communicate with residents of the state and to review the agricultural program.

He described agriculture "as a major part of the university." He said it was aided in its beginning by a grant of land from the federal government.

The college was allowed to sell the land, located in the midwest, in return for teaching "agriculture and the mechanic arts."

Among those who took part in questioning about the decline in agriculture enrollment were Edward F. Holter, regent from Middletown, William H. Evans of Hyattsville, Louis McL. Merryman of Sparks and Del. Dale Hess (D-Harford).

State To Pay Cannon $146,000 For Holdings

SALISBURY (AP)—Del. Robert P. Cannon (D-Wicomico) will be paid $146,000 for three pieces of downtown property to be used in relocation of U.S. 50 in Salisbury.

The State Roads Commission advised the Wicomico County Circuit Court it would pay that price for the tracts which are within a block of City Hall.

Cannon's home is located on one of the properties. There is also a house on another. The holdings cover 30,451 square feet.

A condemnation hearing had been scheduled in Circuit Court, but was called off when attorneys advised Judge Rex A. Taylor of the out-of-court settlement.

In 1955 Cannon spearheaded a move in the House of Delegates to investigate what he called extravagance and favoritism in roads commission operations.

Innocent Man Released After 2½ Years In Prison

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Willie D'Onofrio was free Wednesday after spending 2½ years in prison for a crime he didn't commit.

"I don't know what to say," he murmured softly as he dabbed at brimming eyes. "It takes a lot out of you to spend that kind of time in prison."

D'Onofrio, now 40, was convicted in June 1956 of the armed robbery of a filling station and sentenced to 12 years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

He was found guilty principally on the testimony of the two other men. Since then, the two have admitted their testimony was untrue. Both are serving prison terms.

D'Onofrio was ordered freed at a hearing Tuesday, before Chief Judge John B. Gontrum. After the hearing, Gontrum said "it was obvious, beyond any doubt, that there had been a miscarriage of justice."

But he added that if he had sat in the original trial, he would have agreed with Judge Michael Paul Smith, who heard the case.

Here is what led up to the conviction, as heard by Judge Gontrum:

D'Onofrio was in a tavern the night of May 13, 1956, when he got into a brawl with Harvey Burroughs, now 30, and Earl Burke, now 22.

Four nights later, in the same bar, the two came in and apologized to D'Onofrio and the bartender for causing the trouble.

They offered to take D'Onofrio home. He accepted.

In the car, Burroughs told D'Onofrio of his plan to hold up a gas station. D'Onofrio protested he didn't want any part of it and tried to get him to stop the car so he could get out.

Instead, Burroughs drove into a filling station.

To try to avert a holdup, D'Onofrio talked to the attendant as if he were a friend. Burroughs drove off with D'Onofrio and Burke in the car.

He turned in the driveway of another filling station and committed the robbery.

The three were captured by police a few minutes later.

At their trial, both Burke and Burroughs implicated D'Onofrio. D'Onofrio protested his innocence but was convicted.

Burroughs, a former Baltimore city firemen, was sentenced to 12 years in prison. Burke is serving a 10 year sentence.

Before they were transferred to the penitentiary, Burke made a verbal statement to Warden Joseph Butts that he had lied on the witness stand. Later Burroughs also admitted he had given false testimony.

But it took until Tuesday for the legal wheels to turn the lock on D'Onofrio's cell.

As he walked out of the big gray building, D'Onofrio felt hungry. He grabbed a cab.

"I was hungry for some real Italian spaghetti, so I told the cabbie to take me to the place at Madison and Castle sts."

It was the tavern where his troubles started.

"When I got there I realized that there was a new owner, but he recognized me right away because he said all his customers had talked about was the story of Willie D'Onofrio and how he had been sent to jail for something he didn't do," he went on.

"When I said I was hungry for some Italian food he took me right out into his family kitchen and sat me down with his little daughter and I had a wonderful meal with them.

"I ate spaghetti and Italian sausage. It was wonderful. Wonderful."

Comptroller Tawes will speak at 3 p. m. in the lobby of the State Treasury building.

Sell Car Or Else

WASHINGTON (AP) — A motorist with a five year record of traffic offenses Wednesday was advised to sell his car or face traffic charge sentences totaling $200 or 20 days in jail, or both.

"You don't belong on the streets," Judge Milton S. Kronheim Jr. told James E. Brooks, 30.

New Stretch Of Pike Opened

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Gov. Mc Keldin snipped a ribbon Wednesday to open another two-mile stretch of the Washington National Pike, a freeway which will run from Frederick to Washington.

The ceremonies were held at the intersection of Old Georgetown Road (Maryland 187) and the new pike near Lux Lane, about three miles north of here.

The new portion of dual highway extends from Montrose Road to Old Georgetown Road.

The governor noted that he participated about a year ago in ceremonies marking extension of the pike to Montrose Avenue. "At last the . . . pike is preparing to knock on the doors of our nation's capital," he said.

McKeldin said the pike was one of five highways in the nation recently cited by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads as examples of originality in design. One of the others was the Baltimore-Washington Expressway.

The governor predicted the pike, as part of the interstate highway system, will become one of the heaviest carriers of traffic in the state.

Mum Word At Girls' High School

BALTIMORE (AP)—A bunch of girls vowed they'd keep their mouths shut Wednesday — unless spoken to, of course.

They are students at Eastern High, an all-girl school.

The day of silence was a "Christmas present to the teachers," 15-year-old sophomore Sue Brown explained.

"Silence Day" was proclaimed by the Student Council. Mum was the word unless spoken to by a teacher.

Most of the 3,000 girls managed to curb their yakking. "It's delightful," said one teacher.

Those who forgot were promptly "shhhh'd" by student council members. Reminder signs were carried by some.

In lieu of talking, the girls smiled, frowned, made faces at each other, pointed or waved and made signs with their fingers.

School corridors were almost tomb-like, the silence broken only by the movement of students between classes.

"You can hear people's feet for the first time," one awed student remarked.

The United States averages 175,000 forest fires a year. People start about 90 per cent of them, mostly through sheer carelessness.

Charges Against Official Dismissed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Chief Magistrate Standley L. Richardson Wednesday dismissed disorderly conduct charges against a newly-elected Anne Arundel County commissioner and two companions.

The commissioner, Edward J. Klima; William J. Helms Jr., 30 and Morton Robinson, 44, all of Glen Burnie, were charged with disorderly conduct early Monday after an argument with a cab driver.

Richardson said there wasn't enough evidence to hold anyone.

The cab driver, Robert Arbogast, had complained that Helms pushed him when he wouldn't allow more than one passenger in the front seat.

Arbogast didn't press the charges at Wednesday's hearing.

The day of silence was a "Christmas present to the teachers," 15-year-old sophomore Sue Brown explained.

"Silence Day" was proclaimed by the Student Council. Mum was the word unless spoken to by a teacher.

Most of the 3,000 girls managed to curb their yakking. "It's delightful," said one teacher.

Those who forgot were promptly "shhhh'd" by student council members. Reminder signs were carried by some.

In lieu of talking, the girls smiled, frowned, made faces at each other, pointed or waved and made signs with their fingers.

School corridors were almost tomb-like, the silence broken only by the movement of students between classes.

"You can hear people's feet for the first time," one awed student remarked.

The United States averages 175,000 forest fires a year. People start about 90 per cent of them, mostly through sheer carelessness.

Charges Against Official Dismissed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Chief Magistrate Standley L. Richardson Wednesday dismissed disorderly conduct charges against a newly-elected Anne Arundel County commissioner and two companions.

The commissioner, Edward J. Klima; William J. Helms Jr., 30 and Morton Robinson, 44, all of Glen Burnie, were charged with disorderly conduct early Monday after an argument with a cab driver.

Richardson said there wasn't enough evidence to hold anyone.

The cab driver, Robert Arbogast, had complained that Helms pushed him when he wouldn't allow more than one passenger in the front seat.

West Virginians Dealt Hard Blow By '58 Recession

By CARLO J. SALZANO
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The business recession which sent up warning signals over West Virginia late last year hit the state full force early in 1958 before starting to level off at mid-year.

Most businesses were affected one way or another but the wage earner felt it hardest with the number of non-agricultural jobs sliding sharply from 515,200 in September, 1957, to a low of 460,600 last May. The number of jobs began to pick up in June and was expected to be in the neighborhood of 480,000 by the end of the year.

Soft coal mining, the Mountain State's biggest industry, took a severe beating with production falling to less than 97,000,000 tons during the first 10 months of the year, 36,000,000 tons below the first 10 months of 1957. Production for all of 1958 is expected to be off about 25 per cent or 35,000,000 tons short of last year's output.

The state's coal regions, plagued with increasing unemployment over the years, suffered most. The number of jobs in the coal industry dropped to a low of 61,000 last July, the lowest monthly figure listed by the State Employment Security Department since that agency began keeping records in 1950. At that time, soft coal mining employed 117,500 workers.

But in the coal industry it was apparent that mechanization of the mines had much to do with the loss of jobs. For example, in 1954, when there were about 10,000 more coal miners employed, production totaled only 116,251,000 tons or about four million tons less than the anticipated 1958 total output.

Figures Uncertain

An accurate picture of the degree of unemployment in West Virginia may never be known. As of the end of October, the Department of Employment Security had more than 67,000 active applications for jobs on file in its local offices.

This total up 151 per cent over the number listed in October, 1957, includes only unemployed persons who are receiving jobless benefits or who have received them and are continuing monthly renewals of job applications.

Some relief came last June when the Legislature voted in special session to participate in a temporary federal unemployment program to increase the jobless pay period from 24 to 36 weeks.

Under both the regular and temporary programs, total jobless pay distributed i West Virginia during the first 10 months of the year was more than $35,000,000—nearly three times the amount paid during all of 1957. The monthly payment peak this year was reached in May when benefits totaled $4,500,000.

The West Virginia farmer apparently fared best through the business recession. His crop market was down somewhat from 1957 but this decline was more than offset by a considerable increase in livestock prices, lifting his overall 1958 income by some 3 to 4 per cent. Wages and salaries in non-agricultural jobs, on the other hand, are down about 5 per cent.

Tax Receipts Drop

The effects of the recession were further reflected in the collection of the state's gross and consumers sales taxes. During 1957-58, gross sales tax collections broke a $50,000,000 record but starting last July, collections started dropping off. Gross sales tax revenues this year were running about $3,000,000 behind last year while the consumers sales tax was expected to be around

Soviet Explorers Making Monkey Out Of Noah Webster

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is making a monkey out of Noah Webster.

The Soviets report from Antarctica that they have set up an observation station at the Pole of Inaccessibility.

But if you read the dictionary, the definition of inaccessible is plain: "not to be reached, obtained or approached; as an inaccessible rock."

Obviously the Soviets can't be in business at any Pole of Inaccessibility, since once they got there the place wouldn't be inaccessible any more.

What's going on in the geographical world anyway?

Well, a check with the National Geographic Society experts presents this chilly intelligence:

Explorers fell to worrying about icy, hard-to-get-to spots, and finally came up with a couple of frigid dandies, one in the Arctic Circle, the other in the Antarctica. They decided to call each a Pole of Inaccessibility.

By coincidence, each is about 500 miles from the true Pole, as a penguin or polar bear walks.

Right off, there was trouble.

The late Adm. Richard Evelyn Byrd, who spent a lifetime proving there's no such thing as inaccessibility, complained that these terms would be confused with the geographical North or South pole, which he considered more important.

"We felt the admiral was right," one of the society's geographers said. "On our maps we call them areas of inaccessibility.

"But the whole thing is a misnomer, though. The sooner we get away from the word the better."

During the International Geophysical Year activities, the Soviets decided to take a whack at making the inaccessible accessible.

You'll have to give them full credit here. It's no job for anyone who quickly gets cold feet.

The area goes up to 14,000 feet, and the weather is so foul airplanes can't fly there.

Last year they tried and failed. According to their report this week, they now have moved 18 men 1,366 miles over the ice and snow to set up the base.

The National Geographic people think the Soviets will pick up all sorts of valuable information — the minerals to be found thereabouts, the temperatures, the terrain, items dear to an explorer's notebook.

And now, what about the North? Anyone going that way soon?

"There's a vast difference between the two places," the geographer said. "The northern area of inaccessibility is simply more ice over the water

"Who would want to go there?"

To Build Magnet

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union is going to build a super electro-magnet in the Georgian Republic for advanced cosmic ray studies, Tass news agency said Tuesday.

The highest recorded tides occur in the Bay of Fundy in Canada, where a tide sometimes reaches over 50 feet in height.

Tirades Indicate Khrushchev Still Has Strong Opposition

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The violence of Nikita Khrushchev's attack in Moscow on the "antiparty group" indicates he still is encountering strong opposition within the Communist party.

Khrushchev is not given to flogging dead horses. He is now sounding off with a more detailed indictment of the views and policies of Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov, L. M. Kaganovich, Dmitri Shepilov and Nikolai Bulganin. He must have good reason.

It looks as if there are many Soviet Communists who in one or another degree share the dim views which Malenkov and the others took of the radical changes in the Soviet system which Khrushchev is making.

Khrushchev defeated this group decisively in June 1957. He ousted them from leadership and either exiled them to the remote provinces or else expelled them from public life.

In Moscow currently the Central Committee of the Communist party is meeting to prepare the way for a new congress of the party. This new congress at the end of January will elect a new Central Committee.

Therefore, this is a time for political jockeying — and this is what Khrushchev by his blast against the opposition is doing. He is attributing to its members all of the most unpopular agricultural policies of the last decade in the U.S.S.R. There is some measure of justice in this since there is no doubt some members of the "antiparty" group—in particular Molotov and Kaganovich — have all along taken a thoroughly negative attitude toward any changes in the pre-1953 system of management of agriculture. But the only possible reason for bringing this up at this particular time is political.

It seems to suggest that not only does an opposition to Khrushchev continue to exist but also that it is somewhat stronger than most observers of the Soviet scene inside and outside Moscow have previously considered.

By removing his leading opponents from public office Khrushchev has apparently managed to make the resistance lose its overt leadership, but he has apparently not destroyed the resistance to his reforms.

West Virginians

Despite the business slump, much of West Virginia heavy industry continued an active pace this year and one of its prize giants, Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., began operating its huge plant at Ravenswood. But, Kaiser was only one of 41 big and little industries which spent $227,000,000 to put some 4,500 workers in 30 counties on payrolls this year.

In addition, 33 industrial plants set aside $129,000,000 to expand facilities or authorize new construction this year. Large units under construction include the new $10,000,000 Goodyear Rubber & Tire Co. plant at Apple Grove, the $79,000,000 Naval Astronomy Laboratory at Sugar Grove, the big Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank and two charcoal producing plants at Parsons and Belington.

Indications were that West Virginia business will pick up in 1959 and employment — bolstered by, among other things, greater activity in federal interstate road construction — will see a gradual upward trend.

Simulates Madman

BUDAPEST (UPI) — A Hungarian worker has been sentenced to two years and eight months in prison for cheating the state by simulating the "perfect madman" for two years, the newspaper Nepszaba said Wednesday. Robert Mauthner, 35, received some $1,700 in sickness benefits. An investigation showed that he learned what symptoms to fake during medical checkups.

Kills Assaulter

SYRACUSE, Sicily (UPI) — Lidia Calarco, 15, took a hatchet Tuesday and killed a 48-year-old man she charged had raped her two sisters, age 18 and 9, police quoted Linda as saying she killed Giuseppe Spara when he threatened to assault her.

Soldier Killed

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —An Army spokesman said Wednesday Pvt. John Davitt, 19, of 69 Leonardine Ave., South River, N.J., was killed Monday when a .45-caliber pistol was discharged while he was clearing the weapon. He was stationed with the 12th Cavalry Regiment of the 3rd Armored Division.

Sentence Farm Hand

BOLOGNA, Italy (UPI)—A Bologna court of appeals Tuesday night sentenced Guerrino Costi, a Communist farm hand, to 26 years in prison for shooting and killing two Christian Democratic Party members celebrating an election victory in a village inn. Costi, 41, killed the two men in March, 1955.

Tirades Indicate Khrushchev Still Has Strong Opposition

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The violence of Nikita Khrushchev's attack in Moscow on the "antiparty group" indicates he still is encountering strong opposition within the Communist party.

Khrushchev is not given to flogging dead horses. He is now sounding off with a more detailed indictment of the views and policies of Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov, L. M. Kaganovich, Dmitri Shepilov and Nikolai Bulganin. He must have good reason.

It looks as if there are many Soviet Communists who in one or another degree share the dim views which Malenkov and the others took of the radical changes in the Soviet system which Khrushchev is making.

Khrushchev defeated this group decisively in June 1957. He ousted them from leadership and either exiled them to the remote provinces or else expelled them from public life.

In Moscow currently the Central Committee of the Communist party is meeting to prepare the way for a new congress of the party. This new congress at the end of January will elect a new Central Committee.

Therefore, this is a time for political jockeying — and this is what Khrushchev by his blast against the opposition is doing. He is attributing to its members all of the most unpopular agricultural policies of the last decade in the U.S.S.R. There is some measure of justice in this since there is no doubt some members of the "antiparty" group—in particular Molotov and Kaganovich — have all along taken a thoroughly negative attitude toward any changes in the pre-1953 system of management of agriculture. But the only possible reason for bringing this up at this particular time is political.

It seems to suggest that not only does an opposition to Khrushchev continue to exist but also that it is somewhat stronger than most observers of the Soviet scene inside and outside Moscow have previously considered.

By removing his leading opponents from public office Khrushchev has apparently managed to make the resistance lose its overt leadership, but he has apparently not destroyed the resistance to his reforms.

West Virginians

Despite the business slump, much of West Virginia heavy industry continued an active pace this year and one of its prize giants, Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., began operating its huge plant at Ravenswood. But, Kaiser was only one of 41 big and little industries which spent $227,000,000 to put some 4,500 workers in 30 counties on payrolls this year.

In addition, 33 industrial plants set aside $129,000,000 to expand facilities or authorize new construction this year. Large units under construction include the new $10,000,000 Goodyear Rubber & Tire Co. plant at Apple Grove, the $79,000,000 Naval Astronomy Laboratory at Sugar Grove, the big Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank and two charcoal producing plants at Parsons and Beilington.

Indications were that West Virginia business will pick up in 1959 and employment — bolstered by, among other things, greater activity in federal interstate road construction — will see a gradual upward trend.

Simulates Madman

BUDAPEST (UPI) — A Hungarian worker has been sentenced to two years and eight months in prison for cheating the state by simulating the "perfect madman" for two years, the newspaper Nepszaba said Wednesday. Robert Mauthner, 35, received some $1,700 in sickness benefits. An investigation showed that he learned what symptoms to fake during medical checkups.

Kills Assaulter

SYRACUSE, Sicily (UPI) — Lidia Calarco, 15, took a hatchet Tuesday and killed a 48-year-old man she charged had raped her two sisters, age 18 and 9, police quoted Linda as saying she killed Giuseppe Spara when he threatened to assault her.

Soldier Killed

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —An Army spokesman said Wednesday Pvt. John Davitt, 19, of 69 Leonardine Ave., South River, N.J., was killed Monday when a .45-caliber pistol was discharged while he was clearing the weapon. He was stationed with the 12th Cavalry Regiment of the 3rd Armored Division.

Sentence Farm Hand

BOLOGNA, Italy (UPI)—A Bologna court of appeals Tuesday night sentenced Guerrino Costi, a Communist farm hand, to 26 years in prison for shooting and killing two Christian Democratic Party members celebrating an election victory in a village inn. Costi, 41, killed the two men in March, 1955.

Firemen Get Call To Times-News

Firemen from Central Fire Station last night were called to the Times-News Building at Baltimore and Mechanic streets.

Smoke was reported coming from an exhaust fan in the stereotype room on the second floor of the building. Firemen made a complete inspection of the rear of the building and surmise it was a flue fire. The 85-foot aerial ladder truck and pumper responded to the call about 6:45 p. m.

Marriage Licenses

when they arrive, was the closing statement by the president.

Dr. Lillian Compton, in a few brief remarks pointed out that there were only 76 students at the college when she assumed the presidency and that the growth shows definitely that the need is here and must be met.

President Hardesty then gave a period of time for questions from the visitors which brought out the fact that State serves the local Nursing School at Memorial Hospital by giving one semester training to new nursing students. Requests have been made for additional courses to permit degrees to be offered in nursing. The college has an approved Junior College program which gives premed, engineering, law and other courses which are transferrable to other colleges and universities. Associate in Arts Degree is awarded these graduates. The college has elementary and junior teacher training and is investigating high school training.

A graduate course was added last summer permitting a graduate student to earn a Master's Degree by attending summer school for five years. More faculty members will be added in February and more next September. French will be taught in the Laboratory School on an experimental basis.

Tour Campus

Following the closing of the question period, the visitors were taken on a tour over the campus. President Hardesty pointed out that with the new buildings and other additions the site is now worth $4,059,750.

Those attending the dinner included Dr. Lillian C. Compton, retired president of the college, Delegates William Walsh, Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., Estel C. Kelly, and Noel Speir Cook, of Allegany County and Leslie Savage of Garrett County; Dr. Paul V. Taylor, president of the Frostburg Rotary Club who gave the invocation at the luncheon; Ivan C. Diehl, dean of instruction; Elisabeth Hitchens, registrar in charge of admissions; Frederic M. Wescott Jr., registrar; Ronald E. Ellis, principal account clerk; John M. Dunn and Robert W. Jones, directors of practice, junior high; Mary E. Carter, M. Hazel Swecker and Anna E. Workman, supervisors of residence halls; Philip Jenkins, president of Laboratory School and Lowell Sowers, public relations.

SRC Purchases Local Property

The State Roads Commission has purchased two parcels of land within the city limits, according to deeds filed yesterday in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Property located on the south side of Patterson Avenue was bought from M. Helen Dwyer while land on the west side of Orchard Street was purchased from Harry Calvin Jones and his wife, Lucille Regina Jones.

Hearing Today In Damage Suit

A damage suit for $20,000 brought by a Barton man against a resident of Westernport for injuries suffered when he was struck by a car on Georges Creek Boulevard in December 1957 will be heard in Circuit today.

A jury will hear the case with Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presiding.

The suit was filed by James Garrison of Barton against Raymond M. Chaney of Westernport. In the declaration drawn up by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Garrison, it was stated that Garrison was walking along the shoulder of the highway, facing traffic. He was headed towards Westernport.

Chaney was driving toward Barton and another car was headed in the opposite direction. The two cars passed each other about the time they drew abreast of Garrison.

Garrison was hit by the Chaney vehicle and suffered a fractured skull, broken leg and arm and was hospitalized for some time.

The October term of Circuit Court is nearing a close. It is the first time for many years the October term has lasted so long.

Hail Engineer

IPSWICH, England (UPI)—Engineer William Soar, a 65-year-old grandfather, risked death in a gas pipe trench Tuesday night to save part of the town from a possible major explosion. Soar crawled into the trench and worked for 90 minutes to replace a blown valve in a main gas pipe.

Hearing Today In Damage Suit

A damage suit for $20,000 brought by a Barton man against a resident of Westernport for injuries suffered when he was struck by a car on Georges Creek Boulevard in December 1957 will be heard in Circuit today.

A jury will hear the case with Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presiding.

The suit was filed by James Garrison of Barton against Raymond M. Chaney of Westernport. In the declaration drawn up by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Garrison, it was stated that Garrison was walking along the shoulder of the highway, facing traffic. He was headed towards Westernport.

Chaney was driving toward Barton and another car was headed in the opposite direction. The two cars passed each other about the time they drew abreast of Garrison.

Garrison was hit by the Chaney vehicle and suffered a fractured skull, broken leg and arm and was hospitalized for some time.

The October term of Circuit Court is nearing a close. It is the first time for many years the October term has lasted so long.

Hail Engineer

IPSWICH, England (UPI)—Engineer William Soar, a 65-year-old grandfather, risked death in a gas pipe trench Tuesday night to save part of the town from a possible major explosion. Soar crawled into the trench and worked for 90 minutes to replace a blown valve in a main gas pipe.

Baby kangaroos are only about an inch long at birth.

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICES

EMORY L. BARNHOUSE

KITZMILLER — Emory L. (Buck) Barnhouse, 33, of 1222 Broening Highway, Baltimore, died Tuesday in Baltimore City Hospital after an illness of six days.

Born at Chaffee, W. Va., he was a son of Mrs. Nora (Paugh) Barnhouse and the late Roy Barnhouse. He was a veteran of World War II and had resided in Baltimore the past six years.

Surviving, besides his mother, are his widow, Virena (Baham) Barnhouse; five children, Joann, Emory, Denise, Mark and Stefani, all at home; two brothers, Joseph, Aliquippa, Pa., and Pvt. Dwight Barnhouse, with the Army stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C.; two sisters, Mrs. Frances Cage, Morgantown, W. Va., and Miss Jean Barnhouse, Baltimore; three half-sisters, Mrs. Verda Wilson, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Dorothy Nine, Newburg, W. Va., and Mrs. Hazel Sharpless, Deer Park, and a half-brother, Edgar Moreland, Morgantown.

Services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. at Mt. Bethel Methodist Church by Rev. Charles Pence, pastor. Burial will be in the IOOF Cemetery at Elk Garden.

The body is at the Sharpless Funeral Home, Blaine, and will be taken to the home of his mother at 3 p.m. today.

Services Friday For Children Burned To Death In Fire

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—Joint funeral services for the only three children of James H. and Evelyn (Eash) Ansell, who were burned to death Tuesday night when a fire destroyed their home near here, will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at the Price Funeral Home here.

Rev. Charles E. Staub, pastor of Meyersdale Lutheran Church, will officiate, and burial will be in Union Cemetery.

The three children, Robert, 5, Ronald, 2, and Linda, 1½, were alone in the house when an explosion occurred, trapping the three youngsters in the house.

Their father had been out in the barn feeding the chickens and was unable to get into the house to rescue the children. Mrs. Ansell was in church when the fire started.

Carl Lester Turner, 57, of 1209 Lexington Avenue, died Tuesday in Memorial Hospital shortly after being admitted.

A native of this city, he was born May 5, 1901 a son of the late Charles and Anna Turner. He was employed as a laborer by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Lawrence (Robey) Turner; a foster son, Albert Turner, Washington, and two brothers, Harry and Frederick Turner, both of Wiley Ford.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Salvation Army Corps Post in South Cumberland. Lt. Richard McConniel, commander, will officiate and burial will be in Rest Lawn Memorial Park.

THOMAS W. RICHARDSON

FROSTBURG — Thomas W. Richardson, 74, died Wednesday at the home of his son, Charles Richardson, South Water Street, where he had resided since September.

He was the husband of the late Lillian (Folk) Richardson and was the son of the late Thomas and Nancy (Miller) Richardson. He was born in Frostburg, January 28, 1884 and was a retired coal miner.

Besides Charles he is survived by two other sons, Jackson and Earle, both of Frostburg, and seven grandchildren. He was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

The body will be at the Durst Funeral Home where friends will be received from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. today and tomorrow.

SGT. TRENUM RITES

WESTERNPORT — A funeral service for Sgt. First Class Thomas Allan Trenum, 31, who was killed in an automobile accident in Germany December 8, will be held Friday at 2 p. m. in the Boal Funeral Home here.

Rev. W. Randolph Keefe Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church, Cumberland, will preside, and burial will be in Philos Cemetery here.

GUNTHER SERVICES

A requiem mass will be celebrated for W. Arnold (Doc) Gunther, 64, of 526 Cumberland Street, who died Tuesday in Sacred Heart Hospital, today at 10 a.m. in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Following the mass the body will be taken to the Strong Funeral Home in Baltimore. Graveside services will be conducted Friday at 10 a. m. in the New Cathedral Cemetery in Baltimore.

Active pallbearers will be Walter White, Harvey Shockley, W. E. (Pat) Kline, Patrick J. Hopkins, Eugene McGreevy and Lloyd Collins.

EDWARD D. MOON

Edward Douglas Moon, 64, of 15 Potomac Avenue, Ridgeley, was pronounced dead on arrival last night at Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Moon was born in Commerce County, Texas, a son of the late William W. and Martha (Garner) Moon.

He retired from the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation in 1951 after 19 years service. Mr. Moon was a member of Calvary Methodist Church and Lodge 271, LOO Moose, Cumberland.

Survivors include his widow, Mary E. (Walbert) Moon; two sons, William D. Moon, Uniontown, Pa., and James C. Moon, Shepherdstown, W. Va.; a sister, Mrs. William Haines, Commerce, Texas, and four grandchildren.

The body is at the George Funeral Home.

MISS SWANKHAUS RITES

A requiem mass for Miss Anna Swankhaus, 81, of 16 North Waverly Terrace, who died Tuesday in Sacred Heart Hospital, will be celebrated tomorrow at 9 a. m. at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home where the rosary will be recited today at 7:30 p. m.

Births Announced

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Duckworth, Frostburg, a daughter Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Layton, RFD 2, Flintstone, a daughter Tuesday.

Eckhart Club Meets At Moon's

ECKHART — The Eckhart Homemakers Club held a Christmas dinner and jingle party at Moon's Dining Room. Mrs. Lena Lewis presided and extended greetings. She also installed Mrs. Dorothy Loar as vice president; and Mrs. Rosetta Adams as secretary for the next two years.

The table was decorated with miniature reindeer and sleighs, filled with tiny gifts. Red candles in green holders and chocolate Santas were the favors. Mrs. Alice Wonn was in charge of arrangements.

A program was presented featuring Christmas carols; the story "Christmas Is," given by Mrs. Edna Logsdon; and a reading, "The Nativity," by Miss Leona Phillips. Games were played and jingles exchanged.

The next meeting will be January 8 at the home of Mrs. Logsdon, with Miss Phillips, Mrs. Margaret Price and Mrs. Kate Nelson cohostesses. One visitor and 24 members attended.

Arrange Program

ELLERSLIE — The Ellerslie School will present their Christmas program, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30.

Rev. W. Randolph Keefe Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church, Cumberland, will preside, and burial will be in Philos Cemetery here.

GUNTHER SERVICES

A requiem mass will be celebrated for W. Arnold (Doc) Gunther, 64, of 526 Cumberland Street, who died Tuesday in Sacred Heart Hospital, today at 10 a.m. in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Following the mass the body will be taken to the Strong Funeral Home in Baltimore. Graveside services will be conducted Friday at 10 a. m. in the New Cathedral Cemetery in Baltimore.

Active palibearers will be Walter White, Harvey Shockley, W. E. (Pat) Kline, Patrick J. Hopkins, Eugene McGreevy and Lloyd Collins.

EDWARD D. MOON

Edward Douglas Moon, 64, of 15 Potomac Avenue, Ridgeley, was pronounced dead on arrival last night at Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Moon was born in Commerce County, Texas, a son of the late William W. and Martha (Garner) Moon.

He retired from the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation in 1951 after 19 years service. Mr. Moon was a member of Calvary Methodist Church and Lodge 271, LOO Moose, Cumberland.

Survivors include his widow, Mary E. (Walbert) Moon; two sons, William D. Moon, Uniontown, Pa., and James C. Moon, Shepherdstown, W. Va.; a sister, Mrs. William Haines, Commerce, Texas, and four grandchildren.

The body is at the George Funeral Home.

MISS SWANKHAUS RITES

A requiem mass for Miss Anna Swankhaus, 81, of 16 North Waverly Terrace, who died Tuesday in Sacred Heart Hospital, will be celebrated tomorrow at 9 a. m. at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home where the rosary will be recited today at 7:30 p. m.

Births Announced

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Duckworth, Frostburg, a daughter Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Layton, RFD 2, Flintstone, a daughter Tuesday.

Eckhart Club Meets At Moon's

ECKHART — The Eckhart Homemakers Club held a Christmas dinner and jingle party at Moon's Dining Room. Mrs. Lena Lewis presided and extended greetings. She also installed Mrs. Dorothy Loar as vice president; and Mrs. Rosetta Adams as secretary for the next two years.

The table was decorated with miniature reindeer and sleighs, filled with tiny gifts. Red candles in green holders and chocolate Santas were the favors. Mrs. Alice Wonn was in charge of arrangements.

A program was presented featuring Christmas carols; the story "Christmas Is," given by Mrs. Edna Logsdon; and a reading, "The Nativity," by Miss Leona Phillips. Games were played and jingles exchanged.

The next meeting will be January 8 at the home of Mrs. Logsdon, with Miss Phillips, Mrs. Margaret Price and Mrs. Kate Nelson cohostesses. One visitor and 24 members attended.

Arrange Program

ELLERSLIE — The Ellerslie School will present their Christmas program, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30.

Water Pollution Primary Concern

When a scientist in a laboratory plans to do something new with a solution in hand, he first makes sure he knows just what is already in it and what its properties are. As a careful fellow schooled in the scientific method of research he writes all this down in a notebook.

At New Johnsonville, Tenn., on a lake formed by damming the Tennessee River, the du Pont Co. is building a new $30 million titanium plant to go into operation next spring. Control of water pollution was a primary concern. According to the current Conservation News of the National Wildlife Federation:

"Three years ago, when a decision was reached to construct the plant, du Pont initiated a series of six scientific studies of aquatic life and water conditions in Kentucky Lake. Particular emphasis was on information about fish and the organisms on which they feed.

"When studies are completed before plant operation begins, du Pont probably will know as much about physical conditions of the lake as is known about any similar impoundment. This knowledge will enable du Pont to quickly detect any change resulting from operations of the plant."

This illustrates how the principles of the scientific method—and of regard for public welfare—are carried over into industrial chemistry as applied to the building of a great new plant. And it is safe to say this is how most of the leading firms of big industry look out for natural resources and the public's recreation wherever a job of new construction is laid out.

It is not only evidence of responsibility to the public, it is also good business because it is the best of public relations to show concern for people in their leisure-time fun and sport.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Lost Days

One comes in for what is called a "check-up." The thing is a lark. Get yourself checked annually and make sure the doctor can pay his bills. Well, they find something. Then the fuss starts. Other doctors are called in. The real trouble is that all former records are gone. Mine, of course, would be scattered over many places. What do they really matter?

After all, if something has gone wrong, that is a fact, like Khrushchev is a fact. I'm in the hands of a stranger whom I have only known four or five days. I turn to the nurses as my source of information. They always know everything and having retained human qualities, they are to be depended upon. Of this little man who hops around in green pajamas and a white coat, they all talk as though he were a god. Maybe he is all that they say.

At any rate, he is an honest man. He has nothing to hide. He brings up his pictures and he shows what there is. An honest man is so rare. Also, he has no side. He is as humble as an angel.

My friends call to inquire. Each has his own life and affairs. They tell me that it has been snowing. I missed the first snow. I like the first snow. I like to go out into it with Joe. My daughter has taken over Joe. My wife looks after him. Poor Joe! He wonders where I am. Well, Joe, the old boy has something that needs as much attention as Nasser needs victories and Khrushchev needs publicity. The old boy is the center of attention—doctors, nurses, friends, they are all concerned. I am a big man today, Joe. They will stand around me, as though I were an emperor, trying to discover the source of all evil.

There is a nurse here whom they call Angelina. It is not her name. I have seen her face in many moods even when she smiles like Mona Lisa. She possesses the personality of power. No one knows her but everyone knows who she is and in her reposes the gift of confidence. She is sure. She will be there when they peer inside me for the source of all evil and perhaps clip it off.

And so what amounted to nothing has become something, which is not unnatural in this life. The most casual events may become chains of incidents. But also as one lies here, waiting, the old question comes to mind: What is really important?

One cannot run from reality. Many believe that they can run away from reality. They fill their lives with all kinds of fantasies about themselves and their world but were they to be here waiting, they would know that they are little more than the tinsel that surrounds them.

The essence of life is a unity—God. No matter how the sectarians and separatists may try to tear man away from man and make us separate and different, the truth is that on that table under the fierce white light with little green creatures in masks cutting and probing, all that is there is a creature of God's mercy. It does not much matter who he is and how enormous he may think he is. Emperors, kings, presidents, workers, peasants, even slaves, they all become one—creatures of the flesh. Their differences melt away like snow on a city street and those who thrive on differences melt away too. For God is one and man is one.

It may take many more centuries for our feeble minds to discover this, but we are making progress. It used to be that birth was a mark of superiority. Politics and science wiped that slate clean. Most of the kings are commoners and the few that remain kings have learned that theirs is a political not a biological distinction. It used to be that the rich regarded themselves as superior not because they could buy more but because they had more. Today, they can only gain distinction by giving away more.

We are coming closer to the unity of man even if the politicians believe that they can keep the world at war their little troubles to settle. But when the heart gives out or any other physical part goes wrong, the creature that lies waiting for the decision is not the colossal warrior. He is just a man and before him stands God.

Slim Christmas For Sherman Adams Seen As Goldfine Troubles Pile Up

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It looks as if Sherman Adams would not be on Bernard Goldfine's Christmas list this year.

While Adams is busy writing his memoirs in his quiet New Hampshire home, the New England industrialist whom Adams claimed as one of his dearest friends is having all sorts of trouble with the courts, with Internal Revenue, and with Congress. The power inside the White House that once protected him is gone.

More than this, a sneaking suspicion has crossed the mind of the vicuna manufacturer, according to his friends, that maybe Adams was looking out chiefly for himself during the congressional hearings.

Goldfine can't help remembering that when he first hired Edward Bennett Williams, the noted trial lawyer, to defend him, he got a call from Adams telling him to hire Roger Robb instead. Robb is close to the White House, had defended several conflict-of-interest cases involving high-up administration officials, had been, in effect, the attorney for Adm. Lewis Strauss when the latter was head of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Goldfine followed Adams' advice. Then he found that Robb's advice was contrary to his Boston attorney's advice. Subsequently Robb published a copy of his confidential memo to his client, which some attorneys considered highly unusual.

All this has caused Goldfine to go back to his original choice—lawyer Williams. And he is not at all happy about his old friend, Sherman Adams.

Khrushchev's Missiles

Inside reason why President Eisenhower did not challenge the Khrushchev statement to Sen. Hubert Humphrey that Russia had fired a missile 8,700 miles was because CIA Director Allen Dulles had already reported this to the White House.

Dulles' radar tracking stations in Turkey had tracked two tests of these long-range missiles as they plunged into the Black Sea.

Khrushchev, incidentally, not only bragged about the new missile but complained to Senator Humphrey that Russia didn't have enough space to test out its missiles even though the Soviet Union has the largest land mass of any nation in the world.

Khrushchev also stated that even the jet airplane was out of date as a weapon. Missiles had made them completely passe.

The Soviet Chief spoke along the same lines to Eric Johnston, head of the motion picture producers, when they talked together on the Black Sea in October. With both Johnston and Humphrey he was bitter against American planes flying along the Soviet-Armenian border. He claimed they were spying.

"When a man pulls down the blinds of his house," said Khrushchev, "his neighbor does not come pecking through those blinds. Whenever we catch one of your planes doing this we will shoot them down."

Friendship Bricks

Generous contributions continue to come in for the Clinton, Tenn., schoolhouse to rebuild it as a monument for law and order. The National Bureau for Lathing and Plastering and the Tennessee State Bureau for Lathing and Plastering will contribute all those materials and supervise the work for the bombed-out portion of the school . . . The General Shale Products Corporation of Johnson City, Tenn., Glen Bruce and George Sells, executives, is giving 15,000 bricks . . . When Washington, D. C. School Board rules prevented students of the Alice Deal School from collecting "Friendship Bricks," members of the "Pep Club" under Louise Hantman, president, got around the rule by holding a "bake sale." They raised $72.50 . . . The Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO contributed $1,000 each to the Clinton and the Osage, W. Va., schools, also issued inspiring statements regarding the contagion of violence . . . The Woman's Club of Garrett Park, Md., wrote: "When any house of religion is attacked, all our churches are in jeopardy, all our freedoms are threatened. When any school is bombed, all our children are in danger. Because we believe this is the time for righteous indignation we have voted unanimously to send what funds we have in our educational fund to the Clinton High School."

Washington Pipeline

Governor Faubus has been holding secret strategy meetings with close friends on the prospects of organizing a third party in the south. His friends report that he's intrigued with the idea of stalemating the Electoral College and throwing the entire 1960 presidential election into the House of Representatives . . . Atomic scientists have temporarily abandoned their plan to use a hydrogen bomb to excavate a harbor in northern Alaska, near Cape Thompson. They're afraid the blast might kill too many fish or even create a tidal wave. However, they are going ahead with plans for an underground blast inside a New Mexico salt mound. They hope to contain the atomic explosion within the mound and use the energy released from the mound to operate a power plant . . . A delightful new book just off the press has a foreword by Chief Justic eEarl Warren. It's written by one of the great editors of California, Tom Stroke, of the Santa Barbara News-Press—"California Editor." . . . Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts has persuaded Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina to join in sponsoring his anti-dynamiting bill. Kennedy was the first to draft a bill as early as last March offering the FBI more authority to crack down on school and church dynamiters.

Nasser Government Searches For Right Response

By Joseph Alsop

CAIRO

Gamal Abdel Nasser's government has just begun to search for the right response to the new Soviet challenge in the Middle East. The outcome cannot yet be predicted. But the search itself has the deepest moral, political and historic interest.

As this correspondent has perhaps tiresomely insisted in recent reports, the entire Middle Eastern pattern has now been radically transformed by a sharp change in the Kremlin line for this area. No longer content with supporting the anti-Western drive of Nasser's Arab nationalism, Nikita Khrushchev has now ordered the Arab Communist parties to enter into an open, direct power competition with the Nationalists.

Thus far, the Communist challenge to Nasser's nationalists centers in Iraq. Yet the new Kremlin line plainly applies to the whole area—all the Arab lands that Nasser claims to lead and to inspire. As already indicated in this space, the Kremlin's adoption of this new line, and its at least temporary success in Baghdad, are causing something very like consternation here in Cairo.

The consternation is only natural. From the moment when Soviet arms were provided for the Egyptian Army, Gamal Abdel Nasser has depended very heavily on the Kremlin's support.

The Egyptian development program has achieved striking successes against heavy odds, and the Egyptians themselves have made great efforts. But the Soviet development credits to the United Arab Republic amounting to only a little less than three hundred and fifty million dollars for Egypt and Syria together, also constitute a considerable item in the balance sheet. Still another considerable item is the special Soviet credit of only a little less than one hundred million dollars, recently granted for the famous Aswan high dam project.

More important still, there is the simple fact that both the Egyptian and Syrian armies are now completely and fairly lavishly equipped with Soviet weapons. Some expert foreign observers maintain that this fact alone must be decisive. In reality, Nasser has done his best to prevent his Soviet arms contracts from turning into a mortgage on his independence, insisting for instance, on buying several years' supply of spade parts for all weapons purchased. Yet the source of their weapons must still influence Nasser's soldiers, and through them Nasser himself.

For these reasons, many foreigners and not a few Egyptian observers think that Nasser is too entangled to be able to respond to the new Kremlin line. This is evidently the theory of Nikita Khrushchev. The new line was first tentatively sketched in the Syrian coup d'etat of the summer of 1957, when Nasser's situation was temporarily much weakened. Then the new line was applied with full force in Iraq (where the Communists are now openly anti-Nasser). Simultaneously, the Kremlin offered Nasser the Aswan high dam credit as you might offer a dog a biscuit for being good.

The role that the Kremlin has allotted to Nasser is very plain. While the Communists seek to fasten and extend their grip on the Eastern Arab lands, which just happen to be the oil-bearing lands, Nasser is to remain passive. As a reward for remaining passive, he will receive generous further support. With this support, he is to continue his power drive, but into North Africa, the Sudan and Central Africa.

It must be added that the initial Cairo responses to the new Soviet challenge is not encouraging. Maybe it is because the habit is now so rooted here of blaming the wicked West for all imaginable troubles, almost including the occasional cloud in Cairo's winter sky. At any rate, incredible as it may seem, the West is also being blamed here for the Communist successes in Baghdad. Even such a cool-headed and sophisticated man as the Egyptian Foreign Minister, Dr. Mahmoud Fawzy, suggested to this reporter that the American and British Embassies in Baghdad were "collaborating" with the Iraqi Communist party, in order to "divide the Arabs."

In truth, Nasser may play the role desired by the Kremlin in the end. It is the easy course to adopt, and some of his advisers will think it is the best course, at least for the time being. In contrast, it will be very difficult indeed for Nasser to fight all-out against the new foreign intrusion into the Arab lands, if only because the Arabs have had their bellies-full of "Western imperialism" but have never tasted the sterner Soviet brand.

There is only single fact, indeed, to suggest that a firm response to the new challenge is still possible despite all the difficulties. It is possible because Gamal Adbel Nasser himself knows that, failure to respond to the challenge will mean the doom of his grand ambition to free the Arabs from all "foreign interference," the end of his own hopes for Arab unity, and his own eventual transformation into a mere Soviet client and agent.

The question is whether Nasser will act on this knowledge of his. He believes he cannot act on it if he must fight what he calls a "war on two fronts," against the West and the Soviets at the same time.

Newspapers Missed

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK — YOU know who misses the New York newspapers most in the current deliverers strike? The New York newspapermen.

Going without a newspaper is worse than trying to stop smoking or drinking. A fellow doesn't know what to do with his hands. Or his head. You have the feeling of being alone in a crowd and without knowledge of some great news that everybody else knows about and won't tell. You have a feeling, too, that the world might be going to pot and nobody knows it.

The radio and TV stations around New York have done what they could to fill the void. NBC had two hours of New York Timesmen sounding forth last Sunday. WNEW, the powerful independent, has a number of the New York columnists reading their pieces over the air. All the stations have increased the number of newscasts.

But this burst of effort, commendable as it is, points up a timeless truth. There's no substitute for a newspaper. The pear-shaped tone, the flitting image on a screen, can never replace or even fill in temporarily for the printed word. The hour-by-hour record of these momentous days can be kept only by the daily papers. The most comprehensive sort of news show on the air can be little else than sketchy. It is a transient look at something which can be confirmed properly only by study of the story in the press.

A comparative handful of deliverers has silenced the biggest, most articulate and influential press in the land, the New York newspapers. The manner by which it has been done has been deplored on both sides, union and management, and in the middle, the government arbitrator. But it has been done. The papers have lost December revenue which will mean, for some, the difference between a winning and a losing year. The merchants of the town have lost some incalculable sum because they could not promote sales through their advertisements.

The familiar news vendors' kiosks around the city are bleak places these days, without their stacks of newspapers. The protruding shelf that knew the weight of exciting new editions breathing with the pulse of a changing world now sag forlornly under cheap magazines — one of them containing a feature on how well Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds are getting along together in Hollywood.

The weekly newsmagazines are a bit of a help, but not the answer. The news is stale and stilted. In Time the anonymous young men continue to strive more for a flippancy than a fact, more for a pun than a pungent throught. Wafer thin, razor sharp, pipe puffing Time is not one to replace hen shaped, blunt tongued, posture blasting Westbrook Pegler, seems it to me.

So we grieve for our daily papers, especially we who help to produce them. The syndicate writers keep hacking away (ed. note: to wit) but it takes sometimes several days and more often a week to find out whether any editor, any reader, cared.

We hardly know what to do with our time these days, since so much of it was given over to reading and studying all the New York papers, not just the N.Y. Journal American and N.Y. Mirror. Some of us have gotten out that old unfinished novel and looked it over again.

Let that be a warning to the literature lovers among the balky deliverers! If that doesn't bring them to their knees, nothing will.

Truth Better For Patient Than A Runaround

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The outcome of stroke is unpredictable but most victims improve. The slightly affected usually recover completely but those who fail to get well need not be discouraged because there are ways to compensate for the handicap.

It is difficult to tell an older person, after a year of unsuccessful treatment, he will be paralyzed for the remainder of his life. On the other hand, it is wrong to tell him he will recover, when the chances are nil.

Many adult sons and daughters have pleaded with their father's physician, "Don't tell Dad he will never be able to use his affected arm and leg again." It's the same old story. "Dad has been so active the news would kill him. Please, Doctor, encourage him to take more heat treatments; give him a tranquilizer to calm him; and repeat again and again that he will get better."

All this sounds humane but is far from it when the stroke victim has a keen mind and has tried physical therapy for a year. Common sense tells him he has not improved and what others says goes in one ear and out the other as empty promises.

Frankness is the only solution to the problem, especially when the individual has been treated for 12 months or more and the muscles of the leg or arm remain motionless. Tell him the extremity may never move again but—with the aid of artificial appliances—he will be able to use the parts. After all, those who have lost a leg or an arm are able to get along with a prosthesis. Why shouldn't the stroke victim?

Braces serve the same purpose as an artifical limb and are not difficult to use after several weeks of training. It is surprising how many of these persons perk up when they learn the truth. There no longer is an element of uncertainty and they again are masters of their destiny.

POOR CONSTITUTION

C. F. writes: Can anything be done for neurocirculatory asthenia?

REPLY

The victim of this condition must appreciate its nature and know why his cardiovascular system behaves as it does under stress. Many sufferers improve by increasing their tolerance to exertion and to work. Others have to drop down a notch or two in their job and limit their activities to a level that no longer leads to palpitation, breathlessness, and chest pain.

WRINKLING

Mrs. T. writes: Can skin wrinkles be avoided on losing weight?

REPLY

No. In time the skin regains its tone and the wrinkles become less noticeable.

REDHANDED

E. writes: What causes the hands to turn blood red after washing with soap and water?

REPLY

The soap may be harsh, the water too hot, or the scrubbing too vigorous. Blame your circulation if this occurs when the weather is cold or you are emotionally upset.

EXCITABLE FAMILY

R. C. writes: My brother and sister-in-law take two of three tranquilizers every day and want me to do the same because I'm so nervous. What would you advise?

REPLY

Consult a physician who will try to get to the bottom of your nervousness. This is better than leaning on a crutch all your life.

MUSCLE STRENGTH

J. W. writes: Is a glandular disturbance responsible for lack of muscle development of the arms and legs in a man?

REPLY

SICKLE-SHAPED CELLS

E. D. writes: What treatment is given sickle cell anemia?

REPLY

There is no satisfactory treatment for this hereditary disease in which the red blood cells are shaped like sickles. Occasionally improvement follows removal of the spleen.

HOW MANY R'S

K. P. writes: What tests are done to determine whether a person has had too much radiation?

REPLY

I know of no tests along this line. Workers in this field wear small badgelike meters that offer a clue to how much radiation they receive each week.

WHITE OR DARK

L. D. writes: Is there any difference in food value between the white and dark meat of chicken?

REPLY

Not essentially. The white meat is of looser texture and contains less connective tissue and fat and more nicotinic acid.

TOMORROW: Giddy behavior under water.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Lewis Nichols tells of the stern, erect, conservatively attired Bostonian who encountered author John Marquand at the Harvard club one afternoon and announced, "I've read all your books, Mr. Marquand, and let me tell you this. You never wrote anything better than 'Sorrel and Son.'"

"Thank you," nodded Mr. Marquand with the trace of a smile, "but that wasn't mine. 'Sorrel and Son' was written by Warwick Deeping."

"Nonsense!" snapped the Bostonian, and stalked off to the wash room.

"Junior!" exclaimed a shocked mother. "Who taught you those disgraceful words?"

"Santa Claus," responded Junior demurely. "What fantasy!"

said the mother. "When did you ever hear Santa Claus use language like that?"

"Right in this room last Christmas eve," explained Junior, "when those packages fell out of his hands and he knocked the whole tree over."

Control of water pollution was a primary concern. According to the current Conservation News of the National Wildlife Federation:

"Three years ago, when a decision was reached to construct the plant, du Pont initiated a series of six scientific studies of aquatic life and water conditions in Kentucky Lake. Particular emphasis was on information about fish and the organisms on which they feed.

"When studies are completed before plant operation begins, du Pont probably will know as much about physical conditions of the lake as is known about any similar impoundment. This knowledge will enable du Pont to quickly detect any change resulting from operations of the plant."

This illustrates how the principles of the scientific method—and of regard for public welfare—are carried over into industrial chemistry as applied to the building of a great new plant. And it is safe to say this is how most of the leading firms of big industry look out for natural resources and the public's recreation wherever a job of new construction is laid out.

It is not only evidence of responsibility to the public, it is also good business because it is the best of public relations to show concern for people in their leisure-time fun and sport.

These Days

Lost Days

One comes in for what is called a "check-up." The thing is a lark. Get yourself checked annually and make sure the doctor can pay his bills. Well, they find something. Then the fuss starts. Other doctors are called in. The real trouble is that all former records are gone. Mine, of course, would be scattered over many places. What do they really matter?

After all, if something has gone wrong, that is a fact, like Khrushchev is a fact. I'm in the hands of a stranger whom I have only known four or five days. I turn to the nurses as my source of information. They always know everything and having retained human qualities, they are to be depended upon. Of this little man who hops around in green pajamas and a white coat, they all talk as though he were a god. Maybe he is all that they say.

At any rate, he is an honest man. He has nothing to hide. He brings up his pictures and he shows what there is. An honest man is so rare. Also, he has no side. He is as humble as an angel.

My friends call to inquire. Each has his own life and affairs. They tell me that it has been snowing. I missed the first snow. I like the first snow. I like to go out into it with Joe. My daughter has taken over Joe. My wife looks after him. Poor Joe! He wonders where I am. Well, Joe, the old boy has something that needs as much attention as Nasser needs victories and Khrushchev needs publicity. The old boy is the center of attention—doctors, nurses, friends, they are all concerned. I am a big man today, Joe. They will stand around me, as though I were an emperor, trying to discover the source of all evil.

There is a nurse here whom they call Angelina. It is not her name. I have seen her face in many moods even when she smiles like Mona Lisa. She possesses the personality of power. No one knows her but everyone knows who she is and in her reposes the gift of confidence. She is sure. She will be there when they peer inside me for the source of all evil and perhaps clip it off.

And so what amounted to nothing has become something, which is not unnatural in this life. The most casual events may become chains of incidents. But also as one lies here, waiting, the old question comes to mind: What is really important?

One cannot run from reality. Many believe that they can run away from reality. They fill their lives with all kinds of fantasies about themselves and their world but were they to be here waiting, they would know that they are little more than the tinsel that surrounds them.

The essence of life is a unity—God. No matter how the sectarians and separatists may try to tear man away from man and make us separate and different, the truth is that on that table under the fierce white light with little green creatures in masks cutting and probing, all that is there is a creature of God's mercy. It does not much matter who he is and how enormous he may think he is. Emperors, kings, presidents, workers, peasants, even slaves, they all become one—creatures of the flesh. Their differences melt away like snow on a city street and those who thrive on differences melt away too. For God is one and man is one.

It may take many more centuries for our feeble minds to discover this, but we are making progress. It used to be that birth was a mark of superiority. Politics and science wiped that slate clean. Most of the kings are commoners and the few that remain kings have learned that theirs is a political not a biological distinction. It used to be that the rich regarded themselves as superior not because they could buy more but because they had more. Today, they can only gain distinction by giving away more.

We are coming closer to the unity of man even if the politicians believe that they can keep the world at war their little troubles to settle. But when the heart gives out or any other physical part goes wrong, the creature that lies waiting for the decision is not the colossal warrior. He is just a man and before him stands God.

Slim Christmas For Sherman Adams Seen As Goldfine Troubles Pile Up

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It looks as if Sherman Adams would not be on Bernard Goldfine's Christmas list this year.

While Adams is busy writing his memoirs in his quiet New Hampshire home, the New England industrialist whom Adams claimed as one of his dearest friends is having all sorts of trouble with the courts, with Internal Revenue, and with Congress. The power inside the White House that once protected him is gone.

More than this, a sneaking suspicion has crossed the mind of the vicuna manufacturer, according to his friends, that maybe Adams was looking out chiefly for himself during the congressional hearings.

Goldfine can't help remembering that when he first hired Edward Bennett Williams, the noted trial lawyer, to defend him, he got a call from Adams telling him to hire Roger Robb instead. Robb is close to the White House, had defended several conflict-of-interest cases involving high-up administration officials, had been, in effect, the attorney for Adm. Lewis Strauss when the latter was head of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Goldfine followed Adams' advice. Then he found that Robb's advice was contrary to his Boston attorney's advice. Subsequently Robb published a copy of his confidential memo to his client, which some attorneys considered highly unusual.

All this has caused Goldfine to go back to his original choice—lawyer Williams. And he is not at all happy about his old friend, Sherman Adams.

Khrushchev's Missiles

Inside reason why President Eisenhower did not challenge the Khrushchev statement to Sen. Hubert Humphrey that Russia had fired a missile 8,700 miles was because CIA Director Allen Dulles had already reported this to the White House.

Dulles' radar tracking stations in Turkey had tracked two tests of these long-range missiles as they plunged into the Black Sea.

Khrushchev, incidentally, not only bragged about the new missile but complained to Senator Humphrey that Russia didn't have enough space to test out its missiles even though the Soviet Union has the largest land mass of any nation in the world.

Khrushchev also stated that even the jet airplane was out of date as a weapon. Missiles had made them completely passe.

The Soviet Chief spoke along the same lines to Eric Johnston, head of the motion picture producers, when they talked together on the Black Sea in October. With both Johnston and Humphrey he was bitter against American planes flying along the Soviet-Armenian border. He claimed they were spying.

"When a man pulls down the blinds of his house," said Khrushchev, "his neighbor does not come peeking through those blinds. Whenever we catch one of your planes doing this we will shoot them down."

Friendship Bricks

Generous contributions continue to come in for the Clinton, Tenn., schoolhouse to rebuild it as a monument for law and order. The National Bureau for Lathing and Plastering and the Tennessee State Bureau for Lathing and Plastering will contribute all those materials and supervise the work for the bombed-out portion of the school . . . The General Shale Products Corporation of Johnson City, Tenn., Glen Bruce and George Sells, executives, is giving 15,000 bricks . . . When Washington, D. C. School Board rules prevented students of the Alice Deal School from collecting "Friendship Bricks," members of the "Pep Club" under Louise Hantman, president, got around the rule by holding a "bake sale." They raised $72.50 . . . The Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO contributed $1,000 each to the Clinton and the Osage, W. Va., schools, also issued inspiring statements regarding the contagion of violence . . . The Woman's Club of Garrett Park, Md., wrote: "When any house of religion is attacked, all our churches are in jeopardy, all our freedoms are threatened. When any school is bombed, all our children are in danger. Because we believe this is the time for righteous indignation we have voted unanimously to send what funds we have in our educational fund to the Clinton High School."

Washington Pipeline

Governor Faubus has been holding secret strategy meetings with close friends on the prospects of organizing a third party in the south. His friends report that he's intrigued with the idea of stalemating the Electoral College and throwing the entire 1960 presidential election into the House of Representatives . . . Atomic scientists have temporarily abandoned their plan to use a hydrogen bomb to excavate a harbor in northern Alaska, near Cape Thompson. They're afraid the blast might kill too many fish or even create a tidal wave. However, they are going ahead with plans for an underground blast inside a New Mexico salt mound. They hope to contain the atomic explosion within the mound and use the energy released from the mound to operate a power plant . . . A delightful new book just off the press has a foreword by Chief Justic eEarl Warren. It's written by one of the great editors of California, Tom Stroke, of the Santa Barbara News-Press—"California Editor." . . . Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts has persuaded Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina to join in sponsoring his anti-dynamiting bill. Kennedy was the first to draft a bill as early as last March offering the FBI more authority to crack down on school and church dynamiters.

Nasser Government Searches For Right Response

By Joseph Alsop

CAIRO

Gamal Abdel Nasser's government has just begun to search for the right response to the new Soviet challenge in the Middle East. The outcome cannot yet be predicted. But the search itself has the deepest moral, political and historic interest.

As this correspondent has perhaps tiresomely insisted in recent reports, the entire Middle Eastern pattern has now been radically transformed by a sharp change in the Kremlin line for this area. No longer content with supporting the anti-Western drive of Nasser's Arab nationalism, Nikita Khrushchev has now ordered the Arab Communist parties to enter into an open, direct power competition with the Nationalists.

Thus far, the Communist challenge to Nasser's nationalists centers in Iraq. Yet the new Kremlin line plainly applies to the whole area—all the Arab lands that Nasser claims to lead and to inspire. As already indicated in this space, the Kremlin's adoption of this new line, and its at least temporary success in Baghdad, are causing something very like consternation here in Cairo.

The consternation is only natural. From the moment when Soviet arms were provided for the Egyptian Army, Gamal Abdel Nasser has depended very heavily on the Kremlin's support.

The Egyptian development program has achieved striking successes against heavy odds, and the Egyptians themselves have made great efforts. But the Soviet development credits to the United Arab Republic amounting to only a little less than three hundred and fifty million dollars for Egypt and Syria together, also constitute a considerable item in the balance sheet. Still another considerable item is the special Soviet credit of only a little less than one hundred million dollars, recently granted for the famous Aswan high dam project.

More important still, there is the simple fact that both the Egyptian and Syrian armies are now completely and fairly lavishly equipped with Soviet weapons. Some expert foreign observers maintain that this fact alone must be decisive. In reality, Nasser has done his best to prevent his Soviet arms contracts from turning into a mortgage on his independence, insisting for instance, on buying several years' supply of spade parts for all weapons purchased. Yet the source of their weapons must still influence Nasser's soldiers, and through them Nasser himself.

For these reasons, many foreigners and not a few Egyptian observers think that Nasser is too entangled to be able to respond to the new Kremlin line. This is evidently the theory of Nikita Khrushchev. The new line was first tentatively sketched in the Syrian coup d'etat of the summer of 1957, when Nasser's situation was temporarily much weakened. Then the new line was applied with full force in Iraq (where the Communists are now openly anti-Nasser). Simultaneously, the Kremlin offered Nasser the Aswan high dam credit as you might offer a dog a biscuit for being good.

The role that the Kremlin has allotted to Nasser is very plain. While the Communists seek to fasten and extend their grip on the Eastern Arab lands, which just happen to be the oil-bearing lands, Nasser is to remain passive. As a reward for remaining passive, he will receive generous further support. With this support, he is to continue his power drive, but into North Africa, the Sudan and Central Africa.

It must be added that the initial Cairo responses to the new Soviet challenge is not encouraging. Maybe it is because the habit is now so rooted here of blaming the wicked West for all imaginable troubles, almost including the occasional cloud in Cairo's winter sky. At any rate, incredible as it may seem, the West is also being blamed here for the Communist successes in Baghdad. Even such a cool-headed and sophisticated man as the Egyptian Foreign Minister, Dr. Mahmoud Fawzy, suggested to this reporter that the American and British Embassies in Baghdad were "collaborating" with the Iraqi Communist party, in order to "divide the Arabs."

In truth, Nasser may play the role desired by the Kremlin in the end. It is the easy course to adopt, and some of his advisers will think it is the best course, at least for the time being. In contrast, it will be very difficult indeed for Nasser to fight all-out against the new foreign intrusion into the Arab lands, if only because the Arabs have had their bellies-full of "Western imperialism" but have never tasted the sterner Soviet brand.

There is only single fact, indeed, to suggest that a firm response to the new challenge is still possible despite all the difficulties. It is possible because Gamal Adbel Nasser himself knows that, failure to respond to the challenge will mean the doom of his grand ambition to free the Arabs from all "foreign interference," the end of his own hopes for Arab unity, and his own eventual transformation into a mere Soviet client and agent.

The question is whether Nasser will act on this knowledge of his. He believes he cannot act on it if he must fight what he calls a "war on two fronts," against the West and the Soviets at the same time.

Newspapers Missed

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK — YOU know who misses the New York newspapers most in the current deliverers strike? The New York newspapermen.

Going without a newspaper is worse than trying to stop smoking or drinking. A fellow doesn't know what to do with his hands. Or his head. You have the feeling of being alone in a crowd and without knowledge of some great news that everybody else knows about and won't tell. You have a feeling, too, that the world might be going to pot and nobody knows it.

The radio and TV stations around New York have done what they could to fill the void. NBC had two hours of New York Timesmen sounding forth last Sunday. WNEW, the powerful independent, has a number of the New York columnists reading their pieces over the air. All the stations have increased the number of newscasts.

But this burst of effort, commendable as it is, points up a timeless truth. There's no substitute for a newspaper. The pear-shaped tone, the flitting image on a screen, can never replace or even fill in temporarily for the printed word. The hour-by-hour record of these momentous days can be kept only by the daily papers. The most comprehensive sort of news show on the air can be little else than sketchy. It is a transient look at something which can be confirmed properly only by study of the story in the press.

A comparative handful of deliverers has silenced the biggest, most articulate and influential press in the land, the New York newspapers. The manner by which it has been done has been deplored on both sides, union and management, and in the middle, the government arbitrator. But it has been done. The papers have lost December revenue which will mean, for some, the difference between a winning and a losing year. The merchants of the town have lost some incalculable sum because they could not promote sales through their advertisements.

The familiar news vendors' kiosks around the city are bleak places these days, without their stacks of newspapers. The protruding shelf that knew the weight of exciting new editions breathing with the pulse of a changing world now sag forlornly under cheap magazines — one of them containing a feature on how well Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds are getting along together in Hollywood.

The weekly newsmagazines are a bit of a help, but not the answer. The news is stale and stilted. In Time the anonymous young men continue to strive more for a flippancy than a fact, more for a pun than a pungent throught. Wafer thin, razor sharp, pipe puffing Time is not one to replace hen shaped, blunt tongued, posture blasting Westbrook Pegler, seems it to me.

So we grieve for our daily papers, especially we who help to produce them. The syndicate writers keep hacking away (ed. note: to wit) but it takes sometimes several days and more often a week to find out whether any editor, any reader, cared.

We hardly know what to do with our time these days, since so much of it was given over to reading and studying all the New York papers, not just the N.Y. Journal American and N.Y. Mirror. Some of us have gotten out that old unfinished novel and looked it over again.

Let that be a warning to the literature lovers among the balky deliverers! If that doesn't bring them to their knees, nothing will.

Truth Better For Patient Than A Runaround

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The outcome of stroke is unpredictable but most victims improve. The slightly affected usually recover completely but those who fail to get well need not be discouraged because there are ways to compensate for the handicap.

It is difficult to tell an older person, after a year of unsuccessful treatment, he will be paralyzed for the remainder of his life. On the other hand, it is wrong to tell him he will recover, when the chances are nil.

Many adult sons and daughters have pleaded with their father's physician, "Don't tell Dad he will never be able to use his affected arm and leg again." It's the same old story. "Dad has been so active the news would kill him. Please, Doctor, encourage him to take more heat treatments; give him a tranquilizer to calm him; and repeat again and again that he will get better."

All this sounds humane but is far from it when the stroke victim has a keen mind and has tried physical therapy for a year. Common sense tells him he has not improved and what others says goes in one ear and out the other as empty promises.

Frankness is the only solution to the problem, especially when the individual has been treated for 12 months or more and the muscles of the leg or arm remain motionless. Tell him the extremity may never move again but—with the aid of artificial appliances—he will be able to use the parts. After all, those who have lost a leg or an arm are able to get along with a prosthesis. Why shouldn't the stroke victim?

Braces serve the same purpose as an artifical limb and are not difficult to use after several weeks of training. It is surprising how many of these persons perk up when they learn the truth. There no longer is an element of uncertainty and they again are masters of their destiny.

POOR CONSTITUTION

C. F. writes: Can anything be done for neurocirculatory asthenia?

REPLY

The victim of this condition must appreciate its nature and know why his cardiovascular system behaves as it does under stress. Many sufferers improve by increasing their tolerance to exertion and to work. Others have to drop down a notch or two in their job and limit their activities to a level that no longer leads to palpitation, breathlessness, and chest pain.

WRINKLING

Mrs. T. writes: Can skin wrinkles be avoided on losing weight?

REPLY

No. In time the skin regains its tone and the wrinkles become less noticeable.

REDHANDED

E. writes: What causes the hands to turn blood red after washing with soap and water?

REPLY

The soap may be harsh, the water too hot, or the scrubbing too vigorous. Blame your circulation if this occurs when the weather is cold or you are emotionally upset.

EXCITABLE FAMILY

R. C. writes: My brother and sister-in-law take two of three tranquilizers every day and want me to do the same because I'm so nervous. What would you advise?

REPLY

Consult a physician who will try to get to the bottom of your nervousness. This is better than leaning on a crutch all your life.

MUSCLE STRENGTH

J. W. writes: Is a glandular disturbance responsible for lack of muscle development of the arms and legs in a man?

REPLY

SICKLE-SHAPED CELLS

E. D. writes: What treatment is given sickle cell anemia?

REPLY

There is no satisfactory treatment for this hereditary disease in which the red blood cells are shaped like sickles. Occasionally improvement follows removal of the spleen.

HOW MANY R'S

K. P. writes: What tests are done to determine whether a person has had too much radiation?

REPLY

I know of no tests along this line. Workers in this field wear small badgelike meters that offer a clue to how much radiation they receive each week.

WHITE OR DARK

L. D. writes: Is there any difference in food value between the white and dark meat of chicken?

REPLY

Not essentially. The white meat is of looser texture and contains less connective tissue and fat and more nicotinic acid.

TOMORROW: Giddy behavior under water.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Lewis Nichols tells of the stern, erect, conservatively attired Bostonian who encountered author John Marquand at the Harvard club one afternoon and announced, "I've read all your books, Mr. Marquand, and let me tell you this. You never wrote anything better than 'Sorrel and Son.'"

"Thank you," nodded Mr. Marquand with the trace of a smile, "but that wasn't mine. 'Sorrel and Son' was written by Warwick Deeping."

"Nonsense!" snapped the Bostonian, and stalked off to the wash room.

"Junior!" exclaimed a shocked mother. "Who taught you those disgraceful words?"

"Santa Claus," responded Junior demurely. "What fantasy!" said the mother. "When did you ever hear Santa Claus use language like that?"

County Treasury Will Get $82 From Slot Machines

Allegany County became $82.65 richer yesterday when the State's Attorney's office opened the three slot machines found last Friday night at Blank's Store in Zihlman.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, said the money will be turned over to James Bishop, county treasurer.

Getty pointed out that according to law, Bishop must wait 30 days before he files a petition in Circuit Court for permission to deposit the money in the county treasury.

The 30-day period is required in the event the owner would file an appeal of his sentence.

Getty also noted that the machines will be turned over to the Sheriff's Office, and will later be destroyed.

The machines were the property of Arthur Blank, Zihlman, who was fined $500 earlier this week by Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Mail Volume At Post Office Shows Increase

Christmas mail operations are picking up at the main Post Office here, according to Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon, although cancellations and parcel post are still running behind last year's volume.

Curiously enough, the postmaster said, improvements made during the past year permit the regular and extra employes to handle a larger volume of mail than in any previous year.

Conlon said the conveyor system which was installed last summer has proved an invaluable aid in handling mail during the holiday period, and also cited the addition of a truck mail route from Baltimore as being an important factor in permitting the employes to keep abreast of the mail volume.

The handling of mail this year has also been improved by the acquisition of another cancelling machine, the postmaster stated, explaining that it has been pressed into service daily to take care of the overflow during peak periods. This marks the first time that the local Post Office has had the use of two cancelling machines.

Cancellations Tuesday totaled 133,200, bringing the nine-day handle to 512,000. For the same period in 1957, cancellations numbered 712,000, Conlon said.

By comparisons, Tuesday's cancellation total was 25,700 under the number recorded last December 17, and 12,100 fewer than were recorded on the same day of the week last year.

Incoming parcel post continues to be heavier than last year, while the outgoing matter is slightly below the 1957 volume, Conlon said.

The postmaster expressed concern that Christmas mail and parcels will be delivered late unless the volume picks up.

Mute Faces Charges In Assault Case

Charges of assault with intent to kill and armed robbery have been filed against Jack E. Gerhard, the mute who beat and bound a RD 3 Bedford woman and shot and wounded her husband last Thursday.

Pennsylvania State Police at the Bedford substation meanwhile reported that the 27-year-old Gerhard was on probation from the Harrisburg State Hospital at the time he entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Renshaw, four miles south of Bedford, and allegedly committed the offenses with which he is charged.

Police said that Gerhard, who is from Upper Darby in the Philadelphia area, was put on probation after having been an inmate at the Harrisburg Hospital this fall.

The charges were filed with Bedford Justice of the Peace H. Cyril Bingham. The accused will remain confined in the Bedford County Jail pending further action in the case.

Gerhard may face additional charges in Maryland for allegedly breaking and entering two homes in this state early last Thursday prior to the Bedford area incident. Police say that his offenses were similar in all these instances and that in addition he attempted to enter another Maryland home but was frightened off.

Pinto Church Plans Cantata

A Christmas cantata will be presented Tuesday at 10 p. m. at Pinto Mennonite Church.

The drama, "A King Is Given," follows the Biblical story of the Nativity. Dramatic roles are supervised by Mrs. Paul Livengood and Mrs. Ralph Blauch.

Mrs. Carl Moreland portrays the role of "Mary," and Claude Yoder, "Joseph."

Others in the cast: Carl Moreland, Royal Abe, Kay Blauch, Donald Yoder, Calvin Dayton, Charles Liller, Kenneth Blauch, Abe Helmick, Richard Trost, Esta Moreland, Gail Reall, Linda Weese, Sandra Trost, Carolyn Isner, Janet Watts, Betty Yoder, Connie Liller, Bonnie Hiett, Judy Livengood, Linda Dayton, Steven Liller, Mary Rosier, Richard Kidwell.

The choir of 18 will be directed by Mrs. Harold Ours. Solo parts will be sung by Miss Janet Longenecker and Harold Ours.

Costuming is under the supervision of Mrs. Paul Yoder, Mrs. Carlton Helmick and Mrs. Harry Barton; scenery in charge of Abe Helmick, Walter Rosier, Donald Yoder and Calvin Dayton, and lighting, David Dayton and Bobby Longenecker.

Church To Begin Christmas Series

Centre Street Methodist Church will begin a series of Christmas services on Sunday at the 9:30 and 11 a. m. services.

Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor, will preach on the sermon, "Stranger In The Manger." Christmas music will be given by the Sanctuary Choir, under the direction of Charles I. Sager.

Mrs. Robert R. Gormer, church organist, will present a Christmas prelude, and a communion service by candlelight will be held in the Sanctuary from 4:30 until 6 p. m. The communicant may come at any time during this period and leave after receiving communion which will be administered every five minutes during this period by the pastor.

The Sanctuary has been decorated for the Christmas season by the Ushers Club of the Church.

Largest single religious body in the United States is the Roman Catholic church, which has more than 30 million members.

County Treasury Will Get $82 From Slot Machines

Allegany County became $82.65 richer yesterday when the State's Attorney's office opened the three slot machines found last Friday night at Blank's Store in Zihlman.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, said the money will be turned over to James Bishop, county treasurer.

Getty pointed out that according to law, Bishop must wait 30 days before he files a petition in Circuit Court for permission to deposit the money in the county treasury.

The 30-day period is required in the event the owner would file an appeal of his sentence.

Getty also noted that the machines will be turned over to the Sheriff's Office, and will later be destroyed.

The machines were the property of Arthur Blank, Zihlman, who was fined $500 earlier this week by Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Mail Volume At Post Office Shows Increase

Christmas mail operations are picking up at the main Post Office here, according to Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon, although cancellations and parcel post are still running behind last year's volume.

Curiously enough, the postmaster said, improvements made during the past year permit the regular and extra employes to handle a larger volume of mail than in any previous year.

Conlon said the conveyor system which was installed last summer has proved an invaluable aid in handling mail during the holiday period, and also cited the addition of a truck mail route from Baltimore as being an important factor in permitting the employes to keep abreast of the mail volume.

The handling of mail this year has also been improved by the acquisition of another cancelling machine, the postmaster stated, explaining that it has been pressed into service daily to take care of the overflow during peak periods. This marks the first time that the local Post Office has had the use of two cancelling machines.

Cancellations Tuesday totaled 133,200, bringing the nine-day handle to 512,000. For the same period in 1957, cancellations numbered 712,000, Conlon said.

By comparisons, Tuesday's cancellation total was 25,700 under the number recorded last December 17, and 12,100 fewer than were recorded on the same day of the week last year.

Incoming parcel post continues to be heavier than last year, while the outgoing matter is slightly below the 1957 volume, Conlon said.

The postmaster expressed concern that Christmas mail and parcels will be delivered late unless the volume picks up.

Mute Faces Charges In Assault Case

Charges of assault with intent to kill and armed robbery have been filed against Jack E. Gerhard, the mute who beat and bound a RD 3 Bedford woman and shot and wounded her husband last Thursday.

Pennsylvania State Police at the Bedford substation meanwhile reported that the 27-year-old Gerhard was on probation from the Harrisburg State Hospital at the time he entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Renshaw, four miles south of Bedford, and allegedly committed the offenses with which he is charged.

Police said that Gerhard, who is from Upper Darby in the Philadelphia area, was put on probation after having been an inmate at the Harrisburg Hospital this fall.

The charges were filed with Bedford Justice of the Peace H. Cyril Bingham. The accused will remain confined in the Bedford County Jail pending further action in the case.

Gerhard may face additional charges in Maryland for allegedly breaking and entering two homes in this state early last Thursday prior to the Bedford area incident. Police say that his offenses were similar in all these instances and that in addition he attempted to enter another Maryland home but was frightened off.

Pinto Church Plans Cantata

A Christmas cantata will be presented Tuesday at 10 p. m. at Pinto Mennonite Church.

The drama, "A King Is Given," follows the Biblical story of the Nativity. Dramatic roles are supervised by Mrs. Paul Livengood and Mrs. Ralph Blauch.

Mrs. Carl Moreland portrays the role of "Mary," and Claude Yoder, "Joseph."

Others in the cast: Carl Moreland, Royal Abe, Kay Blauch, Donald Yoder, Calvin Dayton, Charles Liller, Kenneth Blauch, Abe Helmick, Richard Trost, Esta Moreland, Gail Reall, Linda Weese, Sandra Trost, Carolyn Isner, Janet Watts, Betty Yoder, Connie Liller, Bonnie Hiett, Judy Livengood, Linda Dayton, Steven Liller, Mary Rosier, Richard Kidwell.

The choir of 18 will be directed by Mrs. Harold Ours. Solo parts will be sung by Miss Janet Longenecker and Harold Ours.

Church To Begin Christmas Series

Centre Street Methodist Church will begin a series of Christmas services on Sunday at the 9:30 and 11 a. m. services.

Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor, will preach on the sermon, "stranger In The Manger." Christmas music will be given by the Sanctuary Choir, under the direction of Charles I. Sager.

Mrs. Robert R. Gormer, church organist, will present a Christmas prelude, and a communion service by candlelight will be held in the Sanctuary from 4:30 until 6 p. m. The communicant may come at any time during this period and leave after receiving communion which will be administered every five minutes during this period by the pastor.

The Sanctuary has been decorated for the Christmas season by the Ushers Club of the Church.

Largest single religious body in the United States is the Roman Catholic church, which has more than 30 million members.

LaVale Resident Has Model Railroad Train Operation Setup In Basement

The Cumberland-Georges Creek Railroad," an HO gauge affair, won't carry any passengers but it's destined to give a lot of pleasure to its owner and many others.

The CGCR is located in the basement of the Daniel Mathews' home on Center Street, LaVale, and while not complete has been three years in the building. It covers an area better than 18 by 18 feet, has more than 550 feet of track and 800 feet of wiring which originates from a "home-made" block control panel.

The double main line layout, when complete will handle 10 trains or six more than Mathews can operate at the present time.

In the "Mountain Division" there is a 21-foot upgrade and 18-foot downgrade with the actual grade 2½ degrees. Landscaping is well underway with tree-covered "mountains" forming the background for the locomotives and other equipment.

There is an ice plant with six cars waiting to be loaded; a factory; gantry crane (non-operational); bucket crane (operational); complete sawmill and logging cars; a village; several trestles and bridges; a roundhouse with six stalls and automatic turntable for locomotives; and a hump yard capable of taking 16 cars.

Also included is a nearly-completed rock conveyor and Mathews has underway an automatic coal dumper in which cars will run into the tipple and the car and its coal load turned over and dumped automatically. The model is based on the real dumpers in operation in Baltimore and in the Great Lakes region.

Adding more authenticity is the model of the "Black Bart Coal Mine."

Equipment includes a Diesel freight with two A and one B units; a passenger Diesel with an A and B unit; a mallet freight; two Pacifics (freight or passenger); one Mikado mostly for fast freight or passenger; one shifter; one dockside (oil burner) and one motorcar-flatcar-toolcar unit which is the smallest made in HO.

There are 50 freight cars and at least 20 passenger cars ranging from those popular in the 18th century to the present-day, modern astro-dome.

None of this equipment, track or buildings, is of the "ready-made" variety. Mathews has constructed it all from kits or "scratch." And all the materials, he added, have been purchased locally.

In that connection, he does all his repair work and maintains a "library" on the latest developments in HO.

There isn't much room left in the Mathews' basement for expansion but the plans are being changed all the time. Some changes were underway when the CGCR was visited this time and as a result not all the equipment was operational.

Community Tree Erected At Midland

MIDLAND—The civic committee has announced that a Community Christmas tree will be erected on the south end of Broadway Street. The tree will be trimmed and lighted by the Senior and Junior 4-H Clubs, under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur Tighe and Mrs. Jack Lancaster.

The streets are now decorated with varicolored lights and American Legion Post No. 169 will trim the Honor Roll grounds this week.

Class Plans Party

ELLERSLIE — Light Bearers Sunday School Class will hold its Christmas party, Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the Methodist Church hall. Each member is to bring a gift for their class sister and new class sisters will be chosen.

Frostburg Elks Will Entertain 125 Children

FROSTBURG — One hunderd twenty-five children from Frostburg and the immediate area will be guests of the Frostburg Elks Lodge No. 470 at a Christmas party at the Elks' Home, East Main Street. According to Wayne Myers, chairman of the committee on arrangements, admittance will be by ticket only and these may be procured through the several schools attended by the children. Myers states that he would like to invite all the children in the area but that room is not available for more than the specified number.

The Elk's party has been an annual event for many years. A large tree will be provided at the home. A full course dinner will be served and each child attending will receive a gift coin. Following the party at the home the group, accompanied by a number of Elks will attend a movie at the Palace Theatre with the management serving as host.

Masons Elect At Oakland

OAKLAND—Foster D. Bittle is the new worshipful master of the Masonic lodge here. He takes over the duties of Harold C. Ashby.

The four other principal officers elected are George M. Browning, senior warden; Thomas D. Browning, junior warden; Robert T. Hoffman, secretary and Dr. D. W. Grant, treasurer.

Other officers are appointive and will be named prior to the installation in January.

Henry Smiley Retires As Paper Foreman

WESTERNPORT — Henry Smiley, 442 Spruce Street, has retired after serving 48 years at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company. He was a calendar paper foreman.

Mr. and Mrs. Smiley are the parents of six children: Arthur, at home; William and Paul, of Westernport; Mrs. Daniel Broadwater, of Baltimore; Mrs. Imogene Jordan, wife of Rev. Cecil R. Jordan, pastor of Dry Fork Church, and Anna Lee Smiley, student at Zion Bible Institute, East Providence, R. I.

The eldest son, Staff Sergeant Oliver Smiley, was reported missing in the Pacific Theatre during World War II.

Rotarians Plan Christmas Party

GRANTSVILLE — The Rotary Club held a recent meeting with Jonas McKenzie, president, presiding. John Hershberger was in charge of the program.

Paul Muha, principal of Northern High School, spoke on "Americanism." Rev. Emory McGraw and Robert Diehl were inducted into the club by Charles Keller. Guests included Sherwood Holbart and Ray Lackemby.

Party Postponed

FROSTBURG — The Braddock Playground Association announced that the kiddies party scheduled for Saturday has been postponed until Monday, December 22 at 1 p. m.

The party is for children who were enrolled at the playground during the past season and will be held at the park pavillion.

C&A Gas Company Worker To Retire December 31

BUCKHANNON — George O. Bailey, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company's guardian of its production and supply properties in this area, will end a 35-year gas company career by retiring December 31.

Bailey, 65, has worked in West Virginia gas fields for almost 50 years, the last 35 being with C&A. In 1909, at the age of 16, he started as a laborer for a predecessor company of C&A. After working one year on a temporary job he joined another gas company, remaining with them until 1923 when he rejoined C&A.

Bailey has been foreman of C&A's gas production operations and its pipeline transportation system since 1944. His district of supervision takes in all of the company's West Virginia area and Garrett County in Maryland.

He will be guest of honor at a dinner party January 10 at Evunbreth Acres here. Over 200 friends, co-workers and their wives are expected to attend the event.

During his career, Bailey has seen the gas industry progress from a pick and shovel era to its present modernization of operations involving motor-driven ditch-diggers, high speed, efficient drilling machines and other time and labor-saving mechanized equipment.

Bailey rejoined C&A in Weston in 1923 as a cleaning-out operator. He worked as a driller and also as a laborer before being made foreman in 1944. In 1955 the company's production headquarters in Weston were transferred to Buckhannon, nearer the center of the utility's gas production areas.

During the 1930's when he worked as a driller and laborer, Bailey took part in the initial phase of sinking original wells deeper in an attempt to obtain more gas. That same plan has been considered for current wells in this area as a means of maintaining future gas production in West Virginia.

A native of Lewis County, Bailey and his wife, Ella Lee, live at 123 South Kanawha Street, Buckhannon. They have four children and six grandchildren.

Marshall Lumber Co. To Occupy Quarters At Click's Crossing

LONACONING — The Marshall Lumber Company, in business here for more than half a century, is moving from its West Main Street location to a large building at Click's Crossing, just off Route 36.

Mrs. Agnes B. Marshall, president, said the new quarters will be opened Monday, December 29.

The new facility, she explained will include a modern show room containing 1,200 square feet, plus about 6,000 square feet of storage space, shops etc.

The company deals in all types of lumber and building supplies, hand and power tools, and building harware and accessories. The establishment is a retail organization and serves a number of building contractors in the Tri-State Area. The firm also specializes in home improvements and general remodeling.

Mr. and Mrs. Smiley are the parents of six children: Arthur, at home; William and Paul, of Westernport; Mrs. Daniel Broadwater, of Baltimore; Mrs. Imogene Jordan, wife of Rev. Cecil R. Jordan, pastor of Dry Fork Church, and Anna Lee Smiley, student at Zion Bible Institute, East Providence, R. I.

The eldest son, Staff Sergeant Oliver Smiley, was reported missing in the Pacific Theatre during World War II.

Rotarians Plan Christmas Party

GRANTSVILLE — The Rotary Club held a recent meeting with Jonas McKenzie, president, presiding. John Hershberger was in charge of the program.

Paul Muha, principal of Northern High School, spoke on "Americanism." Rev. Emory McGraw and Robert Diehl were inducted into the club by Charles Keller. Guests included Sherwood Holbart and Ray Lackemby.

Party Postponed

FROSTBURG — The Braddock Playground Association announced that the kiddies party scheduled for Saturday has been postponed until Monday, December 22 at 1 p. m.

The party is for children who were enrolled at the playground during the past season and will be held at the park pavillion.

C&A Gas Company Worker To Retire December 31

BUCKHANNON — George O. Bailey, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company's guardian of its production and supply properties in this area, will end a 35-year gas company career by retiring December 31.

Bailey, 65, has worked in West Virginia gas fields for almost 50 years, the last 35 being with C&A. In 1909, at the age of 16, he started as a laborer for a predecessor company of C&A. After working one year on a temporary job he joined another gas company, remaining with them until 1923 when he rejoined C&A.

Bailey has been foreman of C&A's gas production operations and its pipeline transportation system since 1944. His district of supervision takes in all of the company's West Virginia area and Garrett County in Maryland.

He will be guest of honor at a dinner party January 10 at Evunbreth Acres here. Over 200 friends, co-workers and their wives are expected to attend the event.

During his career, Bailey has seen the gas industry progress from a pick and shovel era to its present modernization of operations involving motor-driven ditch-diggers, high speed, efficient drilling machines and other time and labor-saving mechanized equipment.

Bailey rejoined C&A in Weston in 1923 as a cleaning-out operator. He worked as a driller and also as a laborer before being made foreman in 1944. In 1955 the company's production headquarters in Weston were transferred to Buckhannon, nearer the center of the utility's gas production areas.

During the 1930's when he worked as a driller and laborer, Bailey took part in the initial phase of sinking original wells deeper in an attempt to obtain more gas. That same plan has been considered for current wells in this area as a means of maintaining future gas production in West Virginia.

A native of Lewis County, Bailey and his wife, Ella Lee, live at 123 South Kanawha Street, Buckhannon. They have four children and six grandchildren.

Marshall Lumber Co. To Occupy Quarters At Click's Crossing

LONACONING — The Marshall Lumber Company, in business here for more than half a century, is moving from its West Main Street location to a large building at Click's Crossing, just off Route 36.

Mrs. Agnes B. Marshall, president, said the new quarters will be opened Monday, December 29.

The new facility, she explained will include a modern show room containing 1,200 square feet, plus about 6,000 square feet of storage space, shops etc.

The company deals in all types of lumber and building supplies, hand and power tools, and building harware and accessories. The establishment is a retail organization and serves a number of building contractors in the Tri-State Area. The firm also specializes in home improvements and general remodeling.

Tornado Has Easy Time In 61-54 Game

Ronnie Smith Leads Winners' Attack With 20 Points

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Keyser High's Golden Tornado opened their Potomac Valley Conference basketball campaign here last night with a convincing 61-54 triumph over the Moorefield High Yellowjackets.

The triumph was the second in three starts for Coach John Shelton's Tornado crew while Moorefield now has divided four games this season, all in the conference.

Center Ronnie Smith of Keyser dumped in two quick buckets for the Tornado at the opening whistle and the victors never were headed. Keyser built up a 16-3 lead at the quarter and increased it to 33-11 at halftime.

Moorefield, battling back in the second half, held Keyser on even terms in the third period and pulled within seven points in the final stanza, but never really got in the ball game.

Smith was the top gunner for Keyser with 10 field goals and 20 points, while teammate Gary Keedy pitched in 16 markers. High man for Moorefield was Jim Paugh with 20 points on seven goals and 6-7 at the foul line. Marlin Evans added 13 tallies for the losers.

In the preliminary game the Moorefield Jayvees salvaged part of the doublebill program with a 28-24 triumph over the Keyser Junior Varsity five. The lineups:

American Assn. Acquires Three New Texas Teams

DENVER (UPI) — The American Assn. officially acquired Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston from the Texas League Wednesday.

Presidents Ed Doherty of the American Assn. and Dick Butler of the Texas League signed agreements transferring the three territories, for which the Texas League will collect $96,000 in indemnities.

Doherty turned over a check for $50,000 to Butler, and said the balance would be paid by July 1, 1959.

The Class AAA American Assn. now has 10 teams. Doherty said he expected the loop's "greatest year" in 1959.

Bobcats Drop 6th In Row To Indiana

Pennsy Crew Tops Teachers, 98 To 54 With 42 Goal Spree

FROSTBURG — Coach Harold Cordts' Frostburg State Teachers basketball team dropped its sixth consecutive game last night before a small home crowd to the Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers quintet, 98-54.

The loss was the third in as many days for the winless Bobcats who already have dropped more games this season than they did in 1957-58.

Dan Sherwood paced the Indiana cagers with 19 points as six Indiana players scored in the double figures. High man for Frostburg, which does not play again until Jonuary 8, was Ed Truly with 15 points. The lineups:

Moore Named To Receive Neil Trophy

Fighter Of Year Dreams Come True

NEW YORK (AP)—"A dream come true."

That was Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore's comment when told he had been named recipient of the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as "fighter of the year."

The Boxing Writers Assn.'s trophy is awarded annually in memory of The Associated Press boxing writer who died in 1938 while covering the war in Spain. It is the most prized award in boxing.

Sam Taub, 72-year-old New York wrter - broadcaster, was awarded the James J. Walker Memorial Trophy for long and meritorious service to boxing.

The fast-talking pioneer boxing broadcaster was speechless when fellow members of the BWA made him the unanimous choice for the honor. Taub, a boxing writer for the New York Daily Sports Bulletin, is one of the three surviving charter members of the BWA.

Moore said the Neil award was a "fine birthday present." Archie's birthday was Dec. 13 but he didn't say which one. He is 42, 45 or 49.

Whatever the age, the old ring warrior staged one of the greatest comebacks of all time when he knocked out Yvon Durelle in the 11th round of his seventh title defense Dec. 10. Moore had been on the canvas four times, thrice in the first round, of the Montreal thriller.

A pro 22 years, Archie won the 175-pound division crown six years ago from Joey Maxim. He has scored knockouts in his last five defenses. He hasn't been beaten by a light heavyweight in seven years.

Moore and Taub will be presented the trophies at the BWA's annual dinner which will be held early in January.

Orioles Planning School At Miami

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles will hold a baseball school at Miami next February for about 35 youngsters, General Manager Lee MacPhail announced Wednesday.

The school will give selected player prospects schooling needed to push them toward major league careers, MacPhail said. It will also give some of the Bird's better minor loop players a chance to show what they can do.

Navy Upsets Terps 53-50

Bad First Half Costly For Losers

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland tried mightily without success to atone for an atrocious first-half performance and was upset 53-50 by Navy's tenacious basketball team Wednesday night.

The cautious but sharpshooting Middies ran up a 29-13 halftime lead while Maryland was fumbling around and had a 19-point advantage with slightly less than 13 minutes to play.

Navy ventured only nine shots at the basket in the second half, but made five of them to stay ahead until the end for its fourth victory in five games.

Maryland's first team, which sat out the first six minutes of the last half, rebounded strong from a 38-19 deficit and three times came within two points of squaring the score.

The last time, with just more than two minutes to go, came on two quick baskets by Jerry Bechtle which left Maryland trailing 46-44. However, Francis Delano sank two fouls and his teammate, Jim Bower, dropped in another to hike Navy's margin to five points with only 1½ minutes left.

One minute went by before Charles McNeil scored a basket from underneath for Maryland. This was offset by Ronnie Doyle's brace of fouls for Navy and Bechtle dumped in another last-second goal to end the scoring.

Maryland made only five of 25 shots from the floor in the first half and didn't seem to know how to crack through Navy's zone defense to set the stage for its fourth setback in five games.

Perkins Gets TKO Over Vasquez

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eddie Perkins, speedy young Chicago lightweight, boosted his stock on Wednesday night by scoring a technical knockout over more experienced Baby Vasquez of Mexico in the seventh round because of a cut brow suffered by Vasquez.

Referee Ray Boven halted the bout because Vasquez' left brow was bleeding profusely and asked Dr. John Kneipp to examine the wound. Dr. Kneipp advised stopping the televised bout and the referee did so at 2:40 of the round.

Final Pimlico Double Pays Bettors $753

BALTIMORE (AP) — The final daily double of the Maryland season provided some Christmas money for lucky bettors Wednesday at Pimlico when Chabine ($20) won the first race and Atom Rocket ($36.60) came home in the second to provide a $753.40 payoff.

Pimlico ended its fall season Wednesday.

Bobby Moon And Bill Scott On W.Va. All-State Team

Romney Deaf School, Ridgeley Gridders On Class A Eleven

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — Winfield, runner-up for the championship, was the only squad to land more than one player on the 1958 Class A All-West Virginia high school football team.

Bill Bryant, Winfield's big offensive weapon and the state's top scorer with 198 points, was chosen in the all-state backfield. The other Winfield selection was 195-pound senior Allen Spurlock at tackle.

Meadow Bridge, which beat Winfield in a playoff to win the Class A championship, has one all-state representative in end George McCune.

The choices were announced Wednesday by Bill Bibb of the Wheeling Intelligencer, chairman of the all-state football board.

Named to the backfield with Bryant were Carl Prince, who scored 113 points for Crum; Bobby Moon of Romney School for the Deaf, and Gene Lamb of Middlebourne.

Making up the all-senior line, which averages 185 pounds, are Bill Scott of Ridgeley and McCune at ends, Spurlock and Jim Faddoul of Sistersville at tackles, Grayson (Tuffy) Alderson of Rupert and Charles Field of Masontown at guards and Billy Gunn of Huntington Douglass at center.

The selection of Moon, who recently had the courts change his name officially to Robert Cook when his mother remarried, is the first in the annals of the West Virginia School for Deaf, according to Principal Eldon Shipman.

Moon combined with Larry Jones to give the Lions a potent 1-2 punch as Coach Donald Bullock's gridders racked up the only unbeaten and untied record in the tri-state area, 8-0-0. He scored two touchdowns for the Lions, but his running, passing and pass-catching were instrumental in helping his mates gain the undefeated season.

Scott was a sparkplug defensive end for Coach Tom O'Connor's Ridgeley Blackhawks eleven which wound up last season with a 6-3 mark.

In addition the husky end tallied 11 touchdowns, including nine in the Potomac Valley Conference, and tacked on nine extra points from placement. His selection capped a successful season for the Hawks.

Tornado Has Easy Time In 61-54 Game

Ronnie Smith Leads Winners' Attack With 20 Points

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Keyser High's Golden Tornado opened their Potomac Valley Conference basketball campaign here last night with a convincing 61-54 triumph over the Moorefield High Yellowjackets.

The triumph was the second in three starts for Coach John Shelton's Tornado crew while Moorefield now has divided four games this season, all in the conference.

Center Ronnie Smith of Keyser dumped in two quick buckets for the Tornado at the opening whistle and the victors never were headed. Keyser built up a 16-3 lead at the quarter and increased it to 33-11 at halftime.

Moorefield, battling back in the second half, held Keyser on even terms in the third period and pulled within seven points in the final stanza, but never really got in the ball game.

Smith was the top gunner for Keyser with 10 field goals and 20 points, while teammate Gary Keedy pitched in 16 markers. High man for Moorefield was Jim Paugh with 20 points on seven goals and 6-7 at the foul line. Marlin Evans added 13 tallies for the losers.

American Assn. Acquires Three New Texas Teams

DENVER (UPI) — The American Assn. officially acquired Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston from the Texas League Wednesday.

Presidents Ed Doherty of the American Assn. and Dick Butler of the Texas League signed agreements transferring the three territories, for which the Texas League will collect $96,000 in indemnities.

Doherty turned over a check for $50,000 to Butler, and said the balance would be paid by July 1, 1959.

The Class AAA American Assn. now has 10 teams. Doherty said he expected the loop's "greatest year" in 1959.

Bobcats Drop 6th In Row To Indiana

Pennsy Crew Tops Teachers, 98 To 54 With 42 Goal Spree

FROSTBURG — Coach Harold Cordts' Frostburg State Teachers basketball team dropped its sixth consecutive game last night before a small home crowd to the Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers quintet, 98-54.

The loss was the third in as many days for the winless Bobcats who already have dropped more games this season than they did in 1957-58.

Dan Sherwood paced the Indiana cagers with 19 points as six Indiana players scored in the double figures. High man for Frostburg, which does not play again until Jonuary 8, was Ed Truly with 15 points. The lineups:

Moore Named To Receive Neil Trophy

Fighter Of Year Dreams Come True

NEW YORK (AP)—"A dream come true."

That was Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore's comment when told he had been named recipient of the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as "fighter of the year."

The Boxing Writers Assn.'s trophy is awarded annually in memory of The Associated Press boxing writer who died in 1938 while covering the war in Spain. It is the most prized award in boxing.

Sam Taub, 72-year-old New York wrter - broadcaster, was awarded the James J. Walker Memorial Trophy for long and meritorious service to boxing.

The fast-talking pioneer boxing broadcaster was speechless when fellow members of the BWA made him the unanimous choice for the honor. Taub, a boxing writer for the New York Daily Sports Bulletin, is one of the three surviving charter members of the BWA.

Moore said the Neil award was a "fine birthday present." Archie's birthday was Dec. 13 but he didn't say which one. He is 42, 45 or 49.

Whatever the age, the old ring warrior staged one of the greatest comebacks of all time when he knocked out Yvon Durelle in the 11th round of his seventh title defense Dec. 10. Moore had been on the canvas four times, thrice in the first round, of the Montreal thriller.

A pro 22 years, Archie won the 175-pound division crown six years ago from Joey Maxim. He has scored knockouts in his last five defenses. He hasn't been beaten by a light heavyweight in seven years.

Moore and Taub will be presented the trophies at the BWA's annual dinner which will be held early in January.

Orioles Planning School At Miami

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles will hold a baseball school at Miami next February for about 35 youngsters, General Manager Lee MacPhail announced Wednesday.

The school will give selected player prospects schooling needed to push them toward major league careers, MacPhail said. It will also give some of the Bird's better minor loop players a chance to show what they can do.

Navy Upsets Terps 53-50

Bad First Half Costly For Losers

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland tried mightily without success to atone for an atrocious first-half performance and was upset 53-50 by Navy's tenacious basketball team Wednesday night.

The cautious but sharpshooting Middies ran up a 29-13 halftime lead while Maryland was fumbling around and had a 19-point advantage with slightly less than 13 minutes to play.

Navy ventured only nine shots at the basket in the second half, but made five of them to stay ahead until the end for its fourth victory in five games.

Maryland's first team, which sat out the first six minutes of the last half, rebounded strong from a 38-19 deficit and three times came within two points of squaring the score.

The last time, with just more than two minutes to go, came on two quick baskets by Jerry Bechtle which left Maryland trailing 46-44. However, Francis Delano sank two fouls and his teammate, Jim Bower, dropped in another to hike Navy's margin to five points with only 1½ minutes left.

One minute went by before Charles McNeil scored a basket from underneath for Maryland. This was offset by Ronnie Doyle's brace of fouls for Navy and Bechtle dumped in another last-second goal to end the scoring.

Maryland made only five of 25 shots from the floor in the first half and didn't seem to know how to crack through Navy's zone defense to set the stage for its fourth setback in five games.

Perkins Gets TKO Over Vasquez

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eddie Perkins, speedy young Chicago lightweight, boosted his stock on Wednesday night by scoring a technical knockout over more experienced Baby Vasquez of Mexico in the seventh round because of a cut brow suffered by Vasquez.

Referee Ray Boven halted the bout because Vasquez' left brow was bleeding profusely and asked Dr. John Kneipp to examine the wound. Dr. Kneipp advised stopping the televised bout and the referee did so at 2:40 of the round.

Bobby Moon And Bill Scott On W.Va. All-State Team

Romney Deaf School, Ridgeley Gridders On Class A Eleven

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — Winfield, runner-up for the championship, was the only squad to land more than one player on the 1958 Class A All-West Virginia high school football team.

Bill Bryant, Winfield's big offensive weapon and the state's top scorer with 198 points, was chosen in the all-state backfield. The other Winfield selection was 195-pound senior Allen Spurlock at tackle.

Meadow Bridge, which beat Winfield in a playoff to win the Class A championship, has one all-state representative in end George McCune.

The choices were announced Wednesday by Bill Bibb of the Wheeling Intelligencer, chairman of the all-state football board.

Named to the backfield with Bryant were Carl Prince, who scored 113 points for Crum; Bobby Moon of Romney School for the Deaf, and Gene Lamb of Middlebourne.

Making up the all-senior line, which averages 185 pounds, are Bill Scott of Ridgeley and McCune at ends, Spurlock and Jim Faddoul of Sistersville at tackles, Grayson (Tuffy) Alderson of Rupert and Charles Field of Masontown at guards and Billy Gunn of Huntington Douglass at center.

The selection of Moon, who recently had the courts change his name officially to Robert Cook when his mother remarried, is the first in the annals of the West Virginia School for Deaf, according to Principal Eldon Shipman.

Moon combined with Larry Jones to give the Lions a potent 1-2 punch as Coach Donald Bullock's gridders racked up the only unbeaten and untied record in the tri-state area, 8-0-0. He scored two touchdowns for the Lions, but his running, passing and pass-catching were instrumental in helping his mates gain the undefeated season.

Scott was a sparkplug defensive end for Coach Tom O'Connor's Ridgeley Blackhawks eleven which wound up last season with a 6-3 mark.

In addition the husky end tallied 11 touchdowns, including nine in the Potomac Valley Conference, and tacked on nine extra points from placement. His selection capped a successful season for the Hawks.

Valley Risks Unbeaten Skein Tonight Against Piedmont

Lions Seek To Avenge Only Defeat

Lonaconing Contest Expected To Draw A Capacity Crowd

Valley High School's undefeated Black Knights will put a four-game winning streak on the line tonight when they entertain Coach William "Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions on the Valley court at 8 o'clock.

Piedmont comes to Lonaconing hoping to atone for the only defeat on its record in five outings to date and the Knights believe they can sweep this series. The first game at Piedmont was a close one which the Lions dropped by the score of 49-46. In other games the Mineral Countians have disposed of Elk Garden, 95-62, Southern, 67-51, Beall 66-42 and Petersburg 76-60. Valley holds decisions over LaSalle, 63-36, Keyser 54-53 and Southern 59-43 in addition to the win over Piedmont.

Piedmont is the defending champion in the Potomac Valley Conference and is now tied with Romney for first place in that circuit, each school having won three games and lost none.

The Valley-Piedmont game is a "natural" and is expected to attract a capacity crowd to the Lonaconing school gymnasium.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Potomac State Catamounts hit the road on a two-day trip that includes games tonight with Shenandoah College, Dayton, Va., and tomorrow with St. Mary's at St. Mary's City, Md.

In other high school games on tap for tonight, Bayard High School (2-1) plays host to Aurora High School of Preston County and Coach Ronnie Kellough's Oldtown High cagers invade West Virginia to play Hedgesville High School.

Charles Town Opens Today

44-Day Winter Meet Runs Through Feb. 7

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—A 44-day winter horse racing meeting gets underway at Charles Town Thursday with letups only for Christmas Day and Sundays through Feb. 7.

Main aim of this dashing through the snow and cold is to sidestep competition from other Eastern tracks.

To make things easier for the more determined fans the track plans to run special buses or trains from New York City, Newark and Camden, N. J., and Philadelphia, in addition to Baltimore and Washington.

The 25-year-old plant in the Shenandoah Valley is 40 miles west of Washington and 63 miles from Baltimore.

For the operators of Pimlico in Baltimore the Charles Town opening merely means changing race tracks. Pimlico wound up a meeting Wednesday and its owners will operate Charles Town under a lease arrangement with Mrs. Helen E. Boyle, widow of the track's builder.

Among the riders expected to work at Charles Town is Larry Raymonds, 17-year-old apprentice who was the leading apprentice here last summer with 24 wins and topped the Maryland circuit with 56, not counting the Pimlico meet, where he also starred.

Pimlico Closes State's 119-Day Racing Season

Sabotage Is Victor In Featured Event

BALTIMORE, Dec. 17 (AP)—Maryland's 119-day major racing season closed at Pimlico today with Fred J. Thompson's Sabotage winning the featured Glen Arm Purse, in track record time.

Lowering the mile-and-seventy-yard record to 1.41 2/5 from the 1.41 4/5 set by Beau Broke four years ago, Sabotage won by a mere nose from Leigh G. Bishop's Ricci Tavi. Five lengths back in third place came Diamond Stable's No Fear 2nd.

Sidney Cole rode his second winner of the meeting on Sabotage and brought the 3-year-old colt from off the pace along the inside rail to win from older rivals in a thrilling stretch battle.

After finishing third on No Fear 2nd, Jockey Richard Lawless claimed foul against Freddy Kratz and Ricci Tavi. He told the stewards his mount was bothered by Ricci Tavi at the top of the stretch. The official found by viewing the pictures that No Fear 2nd had been in close quarters, but through no fault of Ricci Tavi. They made the original result official.

Sabotage paid $11.20, $4.20, and $3.60. Ricci Tavi returned $3 and $2.40 and No Fear 2nd $4.

Pimlico closed its fall session with the best weekday handle of the meeting — $1,105,828. This brought the total play for the 30-day meeting to $28,588,833 for a daily average of $952,961. This was a decline of 5.2 per cent from last fall when $23,290,520 was wagered in 23 days for a daily average of $1,012,631.

Attendance for the 30-day meeting was 322,842 compared with 267,433 a year ago in 23 days. This year's average was 10,761 against 11,628 in the fall of 1957, down 7 per cent.

RESIGNS — Ray (Scooter) McLean quit yesterday as head coach of the National Football League Green Bay Packers. He will join the Detroit Lions' coaching staff under George Wilson with whom he formerly played and roomed when both were with the Chicago Bears. (AP Photofax)

Olson, Villa Purses Held

Commission Probes TKO In Fresno

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Purses of light heavyweights Bobo Olson and Tommy Villa were held up Wednesday as the State Athletic Commission began an investigation into the confused ending of their fight Tuesday night.

Villa refused to resume scrapping after being hit by a low blow in the fifth round and Referee Johnny Reno awarded former middleweight champion Olson a technical knockout, his third victory on a comeback trail.

The official decision must come from the full commission. In San Francisco, Willie Ritchie, chief inspector for the commission in northern California, said reports are being made by the officials and the doctor who examined Villa. When these are compiled, the commission will rule. It will also decide the issue of the purses—Olson's $3,250 and Villa's $500.

McLean Quits As Coach Of Pro Packers

Green Bay Mentor Joins Lions Staff

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Ray (Scooter) McLean quit Wednesday after one year as head coach of the defeat-ridden Green Bay Packers. He promptly took a job as backfield coach under his long-time friend, George Wilson of the Detroit Lions.

Wilson and McLean were roommates when both played professional football with the Chicago Bears.

Wilson said earlier this year that he would have hired McLean for his staff if the Scooter had not gotten a chance at the top job at Green Bay.

On the Lions' staff, McLean will succeed Red Cochran, who resigned Wednesday. The Lions said Cochran's plans were indefinite.

An Associated Press report from Detroit that he would become backfield coach under Wilson apparently caught one-time halfback McLean unprepared.

Advised of the story at 1 p.m. (CST), he at first denied the report. Then he pleaded for more time. Ten minutes later, he announced his resignation — but would not say at first what his future plans were.

McLean submitted his resignation to Dominic Olejniczak, president of the National Football team, only three days after the Packers closed the scorebooks on the worst campaign in their 40-year history.

Despite high hopes at the start of the NFL season, the Packers won only one game—over the almost as futile Philadelphia Eagles—and tied one, 13-13 with the Lions. They lost 10.

Corum Services Set For Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Funeral services for Bill Corum, sports writer and president of Churchill Downs Race Track, were scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday, with final interment Saturday in Booneville, Mo.

Detroit Breaks White Sox Hold On Defensive Laurels

Tigers Take Honors With .982 Average

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers broke a two-year Chicago Whitesox monopoly Wednesday by being named the best defensive team in the American League for 1958.

The Tigers took fielding honors last season with a team average of .982, only one point better than the White Sox, according to official figures released by league headquarters. Chicago was the top defensive team in 1956 and 1957.

Closest battle for individual honors was at second base where Frank Bolling of Detroit won the distinction by an eyelash. Bolling finished with a mark of .9849 while Nellie Fox of the White Sox and Pete Runnels of the Red Sox each fielded .9848. Billy Gardner of the Orioles was only a shade behind with .9845.

Skowron made only eight errors in 1,119 chances for a .993 average in 118 games. Berra didn't make a single error while handling 550 chances behind the plate in 88 games.

Joe DeMaestri of Kansas City, top fielding shortstop in the league during 1957, retained his laurels with a .980 average. He made only 13 errors in 137 games.

Fleet Jim Busby of the Orioles paced the outfielders with a .995 mark, followed by Al Kaline of the Tigers with .994, and Roy Sievers of the Senators with .991. Kaline had the most assists of any outfielder, 23.

Among the pitchers who fielded their position perfectly, Billy O'Dell of the Orioles was high man with 44 chances. Ned Garver of the As handled the most chances of any pitcher, 77, but made two errors for a .974 average.

Lonaconing Contest Expected To Draw A Capacity Crowd

Valley High School's undefeated Black Knights will put a four-game winning streak on the line tonight when they entertain Coach William "Huck" Miers' Piedmont Lions on the Valley court at 8 o'clock.

Piedmont comes to Lonaconing hoping to atone for the only defeat on its record in five outings to date and the Knights believe they can sweep this series. The first game at Piedmont was a close one which the Lions dropped by the score of 49-46. In other games the Mineral Countians have disposed of Elk Garden, 95-62, Southern, 67-51, Beall 66-42 and Petersburg 76-60. Valley holds decisions over LaSalle, 63-36, Keyser 54-53 and Southern 59-43 in addition to the win over Piedmont.

Piedmont is the defending champion in the Potomac Valley Conference and is now tied with Romney for first place in that circuit, each school having won three games and lost none.

The Valley-Piedmont game is a "natural" and is expected to attract a capacity crowd to the Lonaconing school gymnasium.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Potomac State Catamounts hit the road on a two-day trip that includes games tonight with Shenandoah College, Dayton, Va., and tomorrow with St. Mary's at St. Mary's City, Md.

In other high school games on tap for tonight, Bayard High School (2-1) plays host to Aurora High School of Preston County and Coach Ronnie Kellough's Oldtown High cagers invade West Virginia to play Hedgesville High School.

Charles Town Opens Today

44-Day Winter Meet Runs Through Feb. 7

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—A 44-day winter horse racing meeting gets underway at Charles Town Thursday with letups only for Christmas Day and Sundays through Feb. 7.

Main aim of this dashing through the snow and cold is to sidestep competition from other Eastern tracks.

To make things easier for the more determined fans the track plans to run special buses or trains from New York City, Newark and Camden, N. J., and Philadelphia, in addition to Baltimore and Washington.

The 25-year-old plant in the Shenandoah Valley is 40 miles west of Washington and 63 miles from Baltimore.

For the operators of Pimlico in Baltimore the Charles Town opening merely means changing race tracks. Pimlico wound up a meeting Wednesday and its owners will operate Charles Town under a lease arrangement with Mrs. Helen E. Boyle, widow of the track's builder.

Among the riders expected to work at Charles Town is Larry Raymonds, 17-year-old apprentice who was the leading apprentice here last summer with 24 wins and topped the Maryland circuit with 56, not counting the Pimlico meet, where he also starred.

Pimlico Closes State's 119-Day Racing Season

Sabotage Is Victor In Featured Event

BALTIMORE, Dec. 17 (AP)—Maryland's 119-day major racing season closed at Pimlico today with Fred J. Thompson's Sabotage winning the featured Glen Arm Purse, in track record time.

Lowering the mile-and-seventy-yard record to 1.41 2/5 from the 1.41 4/5 set by Beau Broke four years ago, Sabotage won by a mere nose from Leigh G. Bishop's Ricci Tavi. Five lengths back in third place came Diamond Stable's No Fear 2nd.

Sidney Cole rode his second winner of the meeting on Sabotage and brought the 3-year-old colt from off the pace along the inside rail to win from older rivals in a thrilling stretch battle.

After finishing third on No Fear 2nd, Jockey Richard Lawless claimed foul against Freddy Kratz and Ricci Tavi. He told the stewards his mount was bothered by Ricci Tavi at the top of the stretch. The official found by viewing the pictures that No Fear 2nd had been in close quarters, but through no fault of Ricci Tavi. They made the original result official.

Sabotage paid $11.20, $4.20, and $3.60. Ricci Tavi returned $3 and $2.40 and No Fear 2nd $4.

Pimlico closed its fall session with the best weekday handle of the meeting — $1,105,828. This brought the total play for the 30-day meeting to $28,588,833 for a daily average of $952,961. This was a decline of 5.2 per cent from last fall when $23,290,520 was wagered in 23 days for a daily average of $1,012,631.

Attendance for the 30-day meeting was 322,842 compared with 267,433 a year ago in 23 days. This year's average was 10,761 against 11,628 in the fall of 1957, down 7 per cent.

Olson, Villa Purses Held

Commission Probes TKO In Fresno

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Purses of light heavyweights Bobo Olson and Tommy Villa were held up Wednesday as the State Athletic Commission began an investigation into the confused ending of their fight Tuesday night.

Villa refused to resume scrapping after being hit by a low blow in the fifth round and Referee Johnny Reno awarded former middleweight champion Olson a technical knockout, his third victory on a comeback trail.

The official decision must come from the full commission. In San Francisco, Willie Ritchie, chief inspector for the commission in northern California, said reports are being made by the officials and the doctor who examined Villa. When these are compiled, the commission will rule. It will also decide the issue of the purses—Olson's $3,250 and Villa's $500.

McLean Quits As Coach Of Pro Packers

Green Bay Mentor Joins Lions Staff

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Ray (Scooter) McLean quit Wednesday after one year as head coach of the defeat-ridden Green Bay Packers. He promptly took a job as backfield coach under his long-time friend, George Wilson of the Detroit Lions.

Wilson and McLean were roommates when both played professional football with the Chicago Bears.

Wilson said earlier this year that he would have hired McLean for his staff if the Scooter had not gotten a chance at the top job at Green Bay.

On the Lions' staff, McLean will succeed Red Cochran, who resigned Wednesday. The Lions said Cochran's plans were indefinite.

An Associated Press report from Detroit that he would become backfield coach under Wilson apparently caught one-time halfback McLean unprepared.

Advised of the story at 1 p.m. (CST), he at first denied the report. Then he pleaded for more time. Ten minutes later, he announced his resignation — but would not say at first what his future plans were.

McLean submitted his resignation to Dominic Olejniczak, president of the National Football team, only three days after the Packers closed the scorebooks on the worst campaign in their 40-year history.

Despite high hopes at the start of the NFL season, the Packers won only one game—over the almost as futile Philadelphia Eagles—and tied one, 13-13 with the Lions. They lost 10.

Corum Services Set For Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Funeral services for Bill Corum, sports writer and president of Churchill Downs Race Track, were scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday, with final interment Saturday in Booneville, Mo.

Corum, 63-year-old New York Journal-American columnist who headed Churchill Downs since 1949, died at St. Luke's Hospital here Tuesday night of lung cancer. He had been trying unsuccessfully to complete his autobiography.

Detroit Breaks White Sox Hold On Defensive Laurels

Tigers Take Honors With .982 Average

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers broke a two-year Chicago Whitesox monopoly Wednesday by being named the best defensive team in the American League for 1958.

The Tigers took fielding honors last season with a team average of .982, only one point better than the White Sox, according to official figures released by league headquarters. Chicago was the top defensive team in 1956 and 1957.

Closest battle for individual honors was at second base where Frank Bolling of Detroit won the distinction by an eyelash. Bolling finished with a mark of .9849 while Nellie Fox of the White Sox and Pete Runnels of the Red Sox each fielded .9848. Billy Gardner of the Orioles was only a shade behind with .9845.

Skowron made only eight errors in 1,119 chances for a .993 average in 118 games. Berra didn't make a single error while handling 550 chances behind the plate in 88 games.

Joe DeMaestri of Kansas City, top fielding shortstop in the league during 1957, retained his laurels with a .980 average. He made only 13 errors in 137 games.

Fleet Jim Busby of the Orioles paced the outfielders with a .995 mark, followed by Al Kaline of the Tigers with .994, and Roy Sievers of the Senators with .991. Kaline had the most assists of any outfielder, 23.

Among the pitchers who fielded their position perfectly, Billy O'Dell of the Orioles was high man with 44 chances. Ned Garver of the As handled the most chances of any pitcher, 77, but made two errors for a .974 average.

Shortstop Don Buddin of the Red Sox committed more errors than any other player in the circuit, 31.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Happy days — Hollywood's spending big money again!

Today, Hal Roach Jr., and Robert Bradford are telling the world that they'll spend 10-million dollars making movies in the next two and a half years!

There are 27 features on the slate for their new Hy-Ford Productions Company costing approximately eight-million dollars with a two-million dollar "special" coming up late in 1959. Already in production in Hong Kong is "The Scavengers" starring Vince Edwards and Carol Ohmart.

Following this comes "The Loves of Eve Martin," an original melodrama by Walter Doniger, to be filmed in Rome with Vittorio De Sica starring. Young Roach and Bradford also hope to get Dorothy Malone and Gig Young for this. There are many more features including some chillers with titles like "The Creature from Blood Island." Well, they are top moneymakers.

The life story of famed combat photographer Robert Capa, who was killed in 1954 while covering Communist uprisings in Indo-China, has been bought by director Robert Wise for independent production. Wise, who directed the controversial "I Want to Live," will call his story "Battle" and he'll both direct and produce it for U-A release.

Capa had many friends whom he photographed in Hollywood, among them Gregory Peck, Hedy Lamarr, Kirk Douglas, John Huston and others. Much of the picture will be filmed in England, France, Spain, Russia, Austria and Indo-China. However, it won't be made until Wise finishes "Odds Against Tomorrow" with Shelley Winters and Harry Belafonte.

Every year I get a Christmas card from Clara Bow. This year she writes me on her card: "Do you realize that the young girl you interviewed in New York for the first time is now 51 years old? Both of my sons are in the armed forces, Tony in the Air Force, and George in the Marines. Neither of them will be home for the holidays. I shall miss them terribly.

"My dad is still living. He will be 84 in April. Rex (her husband, popular Rex Bell), was re-elected to his office as Lt. Gov. Of Nevada in November. He's also opened another Western clothing store in Reno.

"I have been very ill all this year. I suffered a badly burned foot due to a faulty electric pack. It is healing now but very slowly."

I'm told that at the New Orleans premiere of "The Buccaneer", the audience gave an ovation to C. B. De Mille when he appeared on stage. And well they might. For while Anthony Quinn gets credit for the direction of this swashbuckling spectacle and Henry Wilcoxon is listed as producer—and both turn in good jobs—still the master touch, of old master C. B. shows on every romantic foot of it.

Yul Brynner with hair is dashing as Jean Lafitte, and he plays the pirate with both humor and charm. Write "The Buccaneer" high up on your list of lighthearted adventure hits.

I have had so many letters from fans protesting and asking why I don't print the truth about Hugh O'Brian and his seven-year old boy.

Let me say there is no truth in the story that Hugh has a son whose mother is fighting for his custody. Hugh never yet has told me an untruth so I must believe him when he says it isn't true. So let's not have any more of those letters calling me names because I don't expose Wyatt Earp.

David Niven's ability to ridicule himself is one of his greatest charms. He does it with tongue in cheek and in such a deprecating manner. He told me his two sons age 15 and 13 are in school in New Hampshire, and when he visited them he took them to the local motion picture theatre.

The woman in the box office whispered to David, "Oh, I am so happy to meet you, Mr. Niven, you are one of my favorite actors. But," she added, "not many other people in town like you."

Miami, Florida, is approximately as far south as Monterrey, Mexico.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 NT.	Pass	6 NT.
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠.

North's overcaution in the bidding appeared to produce a careless attitude in his partner's play of a slam contract today. The result was an ignominious defeat instead of a substantial profit.

The six no trump explosion may impress some players as a dashing gesture. Actually it is distinctly craven. North has 13 good points with something added for his excellent five card suit. If South has a maximum two no trump bid a grand slam should be witthin reach and North should have explored such possibilities with a temporizing bid of three diamonds before jumping to six no trump. On the actual holding, the play for seven depends merely on a normal diamond break.

West opened the 10 of spades. South won and made the error of leading a low diamond to the ace. When East showed out the shock was so great that South proceeded in "give-up" fashion. He led a diamond to the king and a diamond back and West, of course, split his honors. Declarer went up with the queen and all he could take was 11 tricks.

South's handling of the diamond suit was rather slip-shod. Proper play is the king of diamonds first so that if East shows out declarer learns about the adverse distribution in time to protect himself. Now when he leads a low diamond, West must split and South is assured of four tricks in the suit.

But even after his careless play South could have recovered had he familiarized himself with the technique of the squeeze. After playing the ace of diamonds South should give up a diamond trick to the opposition. Presumably a spade will be continued which declarer wins with the queen. Declarer cashes the king of diamonds and the ace of spades, discarding a club from dummy. He then cashes three hearts winding up in the North hand. West has had to let go a club. Now the high diamond is led and East must either let go the spade or throw away his protection in clubs.

Royalty Celebrates

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth danced with a constable, Prince Philip "cha cha'd" with the palace housekeeper and Princess Margaret waltzed with a footman at the annual Christmas party for the household staff at Buckingham Palace Tuesday night. More than 500 members of the palace household staff were present.

Wins Highest Pool

GRANADA, Spain (UPI)—Officials of Spain's "quinielas" football pools said Wednesday Juan Canas' $110,000 first-place prize last week was the highest amount ever won by a one-person entry in the history of the pools.

Church To Give Cantata Sunday

A Christmas cantata will be presented Sunday at 9 p. m. at the Old Furnace Church of the Brethren.

Opening the program will be a candlelight worship ceremony with Mrs. Donald Funkhouser singing "O, Holy Night." Twelve of the young people of the church will take part in the ceremony.

The cantata, "Miracle At the Inn," is being directed by Mrs. Margaret Bohrer and Mrs. Pearl Whitacre. Taking part will be Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Bohrer, Ronald Comb, Jennings Whitacre, Glenwood Emmart, Chester Rogers, Richard Brant, Chester Hinkle, Raymond Whitacre and Dorothy Moreland.

The choir, under the direction of Carl Moreland, will sing "What of the Lambs?" with Miss Naomi Moreland as soloist. Mrs. Mary Alice McTaggart and Mrs. Mrs. Kathryn Moreland will sing "Sleep My Baby Jesus."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Happy days — Hollywood's spending big money again!

Today, Hal Roach Jr., and Robert Bradford are telling the world that they'll spend 10-million dollars making movies in the next two and a half years!

There are 27 features on the slate for their new Hy-Ford Productions Company costing approximately eight-million dollars with a two-million dollar "special" coming up late in 1959. Already in production in Hong Kong is "The Scavengers" starring Vince Edwards and Carol Ohmart.

Following this comes "The Loves of Eve Martin," an original melodrama by Walter Doniger, to be filmed in Rome with Vittorio De Sica starring. Young Roach and Bradford also hope to get Dorothy Malone and Gig Young for this. There are many more features including some chillers with titles like "The Creature from Blood Island." Well, they are top moneymakers.

The life story of famed combat photographer Robert Capa, who was killed in 1954 while covering Communist uprisings in Indo-China, has been bought by director Robert Wise for independent production. Wise, who directed the controversial "I Want to Live," will call his story "Battle" and he'll both direct and produce it for U-A release.

Capa had many friends whom he photographed in Hollywood, among them Gregory Peck, Hedy Lamarr, Kirk Douglas, John Huston and others. Much of the picture will be filmed in England, France, Spain, Russia, Austria and Indo-China. However, it won't be made until Wise finishes "Odds Against Tomorrow" with Shelley Winters and Harry Belafonte.

Every year I get a Christmas card from Clara Bow. This year she writes me on her card: "Do you realize that the young girl you interviewed in New York for the first time is now 51 years old? The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 NT.	Pass	6 NT.
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠.

North's overcaution in the bidding appeared to produce a careless attitude in his partner's play of a slam contract today. The result was an ignominious defeat instead of a substantial profit.

The six no trump explosion may impress some players as a dashing gesture. Actually it is distinctly craven. North has 13 good points with something added for his excellent five card suit. If South has a maximum two no trump bid a grand slam should be withhin reach and North should have explored such possibilities with a temporizing bid of three diamonds before jumping to six no trump. On the actual holding, the play for seven depends merely on a normal diamond break.

West opened the 10 of spades. South won and made the error of leading a low diamond to the ace. When East showed out the shock was so great that South proceeded in "give-up" fashion. He led a diamond to the king and a diamond back and West, of course, split his honors. Declarer went up with the queen and all he could take was 11 tricks.

South's handling of the diamond suit was rather slip-shod. Proper play is the king of diamonds first so that if East shows out declarer learns about the adverse distribution in time to protect himself. Now when he leads a low diamond, West must split and South is assured of four tricks in the suit.

But even after his careless play South could have recovered had he familiarized himself with the technique of the squeeze. After playing the ace of diamonds South should give up a diamond trick to the opposition. Presumably a spade will be continued which declarer wins with the queen. Declarer cashes the king of diamonds and the ace of spades, discarding a club from dummy. He then cashes three hearts winding up in the North hand. West has had to let go a club. Now the high diamond is led and East must either let go the spade or throw away his protection in clubs.

Royalty Celebrates

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth danced with a constable, Prince Philip "cha cha'd" with the palace housekeeper and Princess Margaret waltzed with a footman at the annual Christmas party for the household staff at Buckingham Palace Tuesday night. More than 500 members of the palace household staff were present.

Wins Highest Pool

GRANADA, Spain (UPI)—Officials of Spain's "quinielas" football pools said Wednesday Juan Canas' $110,000 first-place prize last week was the highest amount ever won by a one-person entry in the history of the pools.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind and sympathetic to us during our recent, sad bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, William James Morgan. We especially wish to thank Rev. Bruce Price, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.
WIFE and DAUGHTER, FATHER, MOTHER, SISTERS and BROTHERS.

In Memoriam

In memory of my darling husband, Charles R. Kane, who passed away 8 years ago today, December 18, 1950.
Where he sat and talked with me
There's just an empty chair
And the silence now at evening
Seems more than I can bear.
Though I knew that some day
There would be that empty chair
Yet I could never picture
Home, without him there.
I never fully realized
How deeply one can care,
Until I stood alone one night
Beside an empty chair.
Sadly missed by your wife,
MARGARET KANE.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Galen G. Howdyshell, 21 month, who passed away Dec. 18, 1957.
One year has passed since you went away,
But time cannot erase the memories we hold so dear
Of your gentle, smiling face.
Only those who have lost a loved one can tell.
The pain of parting without farewell.
Even though you are away,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where you are laid.
Sadly missed by his
FATHER, MOTHER, SISTER and BROTHER.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind and sympathetic to us during our recent, sad bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, William James Morgan. We especially wish to thank Rev. Bruce Price, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.
WIFE and DAUGHTER, FATHER, MOTHER, SISTERS and BROTHERS.

In Memoriam

In memory of my darling husband, Charles R. Kane, who passed away 8 years ago today, December 18, 1950.
Where he sat and talked with me
There's just an empty chair
And the silence now at evening
Seems more than I can bear.
Though I knew that some day
There would be that empty chair
Yet I could never picture
Home, without him there.
I never fully realized
How deeply one can care,
Until I stood alone one night
Beside an empty chair.
Sadly missed by your wife,
MARGARET KANE.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Galen G. Howdyshell, 21 month, who passed away Dec. 18, 1957.
One year has passed since you went away,
But time cannot erase the memories we hold so dear
Of your gentle, smiling face.
Only those who have lost a loved one can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell.
Even though you are away,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where you are laid.
Sadly missed by his

ASSIGNEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE KNOWN AS NO. 152 BOWERY STREET, FROSTBURG, MARYLAND.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage which is recorded among the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 325, folio 288, which mortgage is now in default in the covenants and conditions thereof, the undersigned Assignee of said Mortgage will sell at public auction in front of the Gunter Hotel, West Main Street, in the City of Frostburg, Maryland, on SATURDAY, JANUARY 10, 1959,
At 10:30 O'clock, A. M.,
the following lot or parcel of ground:

All that lot or parcel of ground lying and being on Bowery Street in Frostburg, Allegany County, Maryland, known as Lot No. 6 of Block No. 24 of Beall's First Addition to the Town of Frostburg, and being the same property which was conveyed to Bernard O. Finzel and Doris M. Finzel, his wife, by deed of Clarence Chaney, et ux, dated October 8, 1956, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 283, folio 265.

The above lot fronts 50 feet on Bowery Street and runs back for a depth of 150 feet. It is improved by a frame dwelling known as No. 152 Bowery Street, containing four rooms and bath, hot-air furnace, built-in kitchen cabinets, and a full basement with cement floor and toilet.

Terms of Sale: One-third cash on day of sale, and the balance on delivery of a good and sufficient deed to the purchaser. All taxes to be adjusted to the day of sale.

NOEL SPEIR COOK,
Assignee of Mortgage for the purpose of foreclosure.

Secrets Of Charm

Find A New Friendship

A recent cartoon had a matron saying that she and her husband were trying to include among their friendships some people they liked. A friend of mine raised an eyebrow as he smiled at it, and commented, "You know, there's something to that you usually don't think about. Older people especially get so used to being with the same crowd that they no longer think about whether or not they would choose this member or that for a friend.

"We couldn't hope for better friends than some we've had for years. But I wonder if it wouldn't be a good idea to find some new ones that we'd pick because they especially suited us right now—instead of sticking exclusively to people we've been used to so long."

Most husbands make their wives responsible for entertaining and the acceptance of invitations, so the situation may be up to you. Are you in a rut, always seeing the same people? Is your husband simply going along with your social life out of habit? Does he belong with your friends as he should, or truly enjoy them? How long has it been since you questioned things as they are?

Sometimes a man grows away from an old circle of friends faster than a wife does. His business life changes him, he broadens beyond what he was as a young man. He may enjoy far more advanced company occasionally. He may need the stimulation of contact with quite different thinking.

Now I'm not for a minute recommending the scuttling of old friends. There's surely enough room in your life for them and also new ones. I am suggesting that new friendships can be a wonderful experience. Those you can learn to know will present new viewpoints and new ideas, and inspire new interests and activities. Haven't you met someone recently whom you too would like to know better? Isn't it possible that someone you're passing by would like to make more than casual acquaintances of you?

Three Youngsters Drown In Mill Pond

SANFORD, N. C. (UPI) —A holiday romp through snow-covered fields ended in tragedy Tuesday when three youngsters tumbled into an ice-crusted mill pond and drowned.

The children, two boys and a girl, were taking advantage of what probably would have been their last day away from school because of a snow storm last Thursday. The storm dumped as much as 10 inches of snow on this section of eastern North Carolina.

Officers quoted a fourth youngster as saying the girl fell down an eight-foot embankment into the water. The boys, one of them her brother, jumped in after her.

The victims were Joyce Douglas, 12; her brother, Wilbur, 10, and Billy Ray Wester, 11. All were from Olivia, a tiny community about 12 miles south of here.

Union Service Sunday Set By Methodists

Central Methodist Church will be host to Kingsley and Centre Street Methodist churches at a union service Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Jacob Snyder, pastor of Kingsley, will deliver the meditation and the Central Church choir will sing. Rev. Carlton M. Harris of Centre Street Church, and Rev. James D. Elliott of Central Church, will participate.

This service is one of a series sponsored by the three churches each Sunday evening during the winter. The services will be held at Central during the remainder of December and January and at Kingsley during February and March.

Secrets Of Charm

Find A New Friendship

A recent cartoon had a matron saying that she and her husband were trying to include among their friendships some people they liked. A friend of mine raised an eyebrow as he smiled at it, and commented, "You know, there's something to that you usually don't think about. Older people especially get so used to being with the same crowd that they no longer think about whether or not they would choose this member or that for a friend.

"We couldn't hope for better friends than some we've had for years. But I wonder if it wouldn't be a good idea to find some new ones that we'd pick because they especially suited us right now—instead of sticking exclusively to people we've been used to so long."

Most husbands make their wives responsible for entertaining and the acceptance of invitations, so the situation may be up to you. Are you in a rut, always seeing the same people? Is your husband simply going along with your social life out of habit? Does he belong with your friends as he should, or truly enjoy them? How long has it been since you questioned things as they are?

Sometimes a man grows away from an old circle of friends faster than a wife does. His business life changes him, he broadens beyond what he was as a young man. He may enjoy far more advanced company occasionally. He may need the stimulation of contact with quite different thinking.

Now I'm not for a minute recommending the scuttling of old friends. There's surely enough room in your life for them and also new ones. I am suggesting that new friendships can be a wonderful experience. Those you can learn to know will present new viewpoints and new ideas, and inspire new interests and activities. Haven't you met someone recently whom you too would like to know better? Isn't it possible that someone you're passing by would like to make more than casual acquaintances of you?

Three Youngsters Drown In Mill Pond

SANFORD, N. C. (UPI) —A holiday romp through snow - covered fields ended in tragedy Tuesday when three youngsters tumbled into an ice-crusted mill pond and drowned.

The children, two boys and a girl, were taking advantage of what probably would have been their last day away from school because of a snow storm last Thursday. The storm dumped as much as 10 inches of snow on this section of eastern North Carolina.

Officers quoted a fourth youngster as saying the girl fell down an eight-foot embankment into the water. The boys, one of them her brother, jumped in after her.

The victims were Joyce Douglas, 12; her brother, Wilbur, 10, and Billy Ray Wester, 11. All were from Olivia, a tiny community about 12 miles south of here.

Union Service Sunday Set By Methodists

Central Methodist Church will be host to Kingsley and Centre Street Methodist churches at a union service Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Jacob Snyder, pastor of Kingsley, will deliver the meditation and the Central Church choir will sing. Rev. Carlton M. Harris of Centre Street Church, and Rev. James D. Elliott of Central Church, will participate.

This service is one of a series sponsored by the three churches each Sunday evening during the winter. The services will be held at Central during the remainder of December and January and at Kingsley during February and March.

AT&T Stock Split Sends Market To Record High

NEW YORK (UPI)—A three-for-one stock split for American Telephone & Telegraph Corp., world's largest investor - owned company, sent the stock market soaring to new record high levels Wednesday.

Activity in AT&T following the split announcement, eclipsed the rest of the market although there were numerous individual highlights such as Hupp Corp. which rose nearly ⅛ point to 5¾ but topped even AT&T on total turnover for the session.

An American Telephone stock split and higher dividend rate has been a recurrent rumor in Wall Street for many months but one that many investors thought would never come to pass.

The announcement caught Wall Street off base and the subsequent rush for AT&T forced suspension of trading from 1:35 to 3:10 p.m. while specialists sought stock to supply the demand.

Up 3 points to a new high of 205 at the time of suspension AT&T reopened on a 75,000-share block at 225, up 23 points and its highest price since 1930 when it touched 274½. (The all-time high for the shares was set in 1929, 310¼. A record low of 70¼ was reached in 1932.) The stock held all but 2 points of the rise.

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

Wheat closed off 1⅛ to 1⅜ cent; corn (old) off ⅜ to 1 cent; (new) unchanged to off ⅞ cent; oats off ⅛ to ⅜ cent; rye off ⅝ to 1⅜ cent; soybeans off 1⅜ to up ¼ cent.

Corn also underwent liquidation. December contract suffered most. There was much spreading of March deliveries and later options. Commercial interests increased their buying volume.

AT&T Stock Split Sends Market To Record High

NEW YORK (UPI)—A three-for-one stock split for American Telephone & Telegraph Corp., world's largest investor - owned company, sent the stock market soaring to new record high levels Wednesday.

Activity in AT&T following the split announcement, eclipsed the rest of the market although there were numerous individual highlights such as Hupp Corp. which rose nearly ¼ point to 5¾ but topped even AT&T on total turnover for the session.

Interest in Hupp reflected a stock dividend declared on common and a plan for retiring the points to 38.

An American Telephone stock split and higher dividend rate has been a recurrent rumor in Wall Street for many months but one that many investors thought would never come to pass.

The announcement caught Wall Street off base and the subsequent rush for AT&T forced suspension of trading from 1:35 to 3:10 p.m. while specialists sought stock to supply the demand.

Up 3 points to a new high of 205 at the time of suspension AT&T reopened on a 75,000-share block at 225, up 23 points and its highest price since 1930 when it touched 274½. (The all-time high for the shares was set in 1929, 310¼. A record low of 70¼ was reached in 1932.) The stock held all but 2 points of the rise.

Other telephone shares shared in the activity. General Telephone second largest telephone company in the country, rose 2½ points.

Chicago Grains

Wheat closed off 1⅛ to 1⅜ cent; corn (old) off ⅝ to 1 cent; (new) unchanged to off ⅞ cent; oats off ¼ to ⅝ cent; rye off ⅝ to 1⅜ cent; soybeans off 1⅝ to up ¼ cent.

Longs liquidated in wheat. Exporters and millers did some buying early, India was authorized to buy 1,120,000 tons of wheat, partly in flour.

Corn also underwent liquidation. December contract suffered most. There was much spreading of March deliveries and later options. Commercial interests increased their buying volume.

Deferred oats contracts also slumped. Cash houses bought December.

Legislators Are Briefed On FSTC Needs

Anticipate 1,000 Students By 1961

Legislators from Allegany and Garrett counties were guests yesterday at a luncheon in the social room of Lowndes Hall, Frostburg State Teachers College, after which they were briefed on expansion plans and needs at the college.

President Hardesty displayed two maps before the group. One showed various colored pins in the areas from which the students come from the State of Maryland. The other map showed the placement of graduates in the various counties over the state.

Pointing out that the enrollment of the college has doubled in the past 10 years from 304 students in 1948 to 705 in 1958, President Hardesty, explained the overcrowded housing conditions at the college. Dormitories house 312 students, 30 rent in the city and 16 have been commuting from homes in various parts of Allegany and Garrett counties until November 1. Total of students not living in Frostburg is 358. The total capacity of the dormitories is 266 showing that the college is desperately in need of housing for 266 students, Mr. Hardesty declared.

Current Needs

Current needs of the college in buildings approved by the State Board of Education on May 28, 1958 are as follows: A dining hall-student union building to cost $573,358; construction of addition to Laboratory School, $117,406; women's residence hall and men's residence hall to take care of existing students and alleviate overcrowded conditions of up to four students in a room, $362,000 each.

"These three improvements are a must," President Hardesty said as the enrollment of the college for 1959 is estimated at 800 students. This is 100 more than are on campus now.

The other two items in the approved needs for next year are site improvement to South campus $145,000 and site improvement in dining hall $50,000. The grand total for all needs is $1,609,764.

With the completion of the Laboratory School now under construction, the college will have available six classrooms which are needed now. Dean Ivan C. Diehl pointed out that national figures for use of classrooms is far below the use of the present rooms at FSTC.

President Hardesty pointed out to the legislators that he was not "sandbagging them" into supporting his plan but wanted to inform them of the needs so they could intelligently evaluate the program of Western Maryland's only college. One thousand students at the college are expected by 1961 and facilities must be here for them

Children Meet Santa Claus

Mineral Board Hears Request For New School

Meeting Tonight In Ridgeley

A public meeting will be held tonight in the Ridgeley High School for the purpose of hearing a report from the citizens delegation which contacted the Mineral County School Board in an effort to obtain a new grade school building in the town.

Jack Cornett who was elected chairman of the citizens group, said last night the meeting is called for 7 p. m. and baby sitting service at the school has been arranged so interested parents and other citizens may bring their children.

A 12-member citizens committee met Tuesday night with the School Board at Keyser and presented a request for a new elementary school building. The committee alleged that the present structure is a positive fire hazard, is unsafe, inadequate and over-crowded.

The committee was organized at a mass meeting held December 10, at which time a number of photographs and other exhibits were presented, showing there are numerous hazards and the building has long been neglected. The meeting with the Board of Education was the outgrowth of this public airing.

No official answer to the request was made by the Board of Education, although members said they were aware of the hazardous conditions at the school and said a new school is under consideration.

Members of the board, and S. T. McGee, superintendent of Mineral County schools, asked that they be permitted to study all phases of the request, and said they would make their decision known at a meeting Monday evening, January 5.

The Ridgeley school was constructed in 1914, with a second floor addition made in 1922, Cornett pointed out. Fire safety conditions are deplorable, he explained, citing reports of the state fire marshal's office which state corridors and stairways are too narrow, fire escape provisions inadequate and an out-moded heating plant constitutes a grave fire hazard.

CUF Agency Says Toys Holding Out

12,000 Available For Distribution

The Associated Charities expects to complete the annual distribution of toys this week, according to Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary.

She added that the supply has been slightly depleted by three days of distribution but that "there will be plenty for everyone."

An estimated 12,000 toys, big and little, were on hand Monday when the CUF agency began distributing toys which had been collected throughout the year.

It was a record collection, Miss Bonig said, both in quantity and quality.

Parents of needy children were given appointments to come to the toy center, where workers tried to provide just what the children wanted for Christmas.

One large toy, such as a bike or sled for boys, or a large doll and furniture for girls, is being provided, along with about a dozen smaller toys.

Miss Bonig said the parents have been very happy with the selection of toys available and that many were concerned for fear they were taking a toy someone else might need.

Idle Will Get Checks Before Christmas Day

Payment Schedule Will Be Advanced

All eligible claimants due unemployment insurance checks at any time during Christmas week will receive them prior to Christmas Day, the Department of Employment Security announced yesterday.

Robert B. Kimble, executive director, said the payments are being made early because the department recognizes the special need claimants and their families will have for the benefit checks just before Christmas.

Having completed its work by Christmas Eve, the department will be closed Christmas Day and Friday, December 26.

To make the early payment plan possible, the Department is working its check-writing unit the Saturday before Christmas and is making arrangements for special bus and train delivery of county claims to the central office in Baltimore for processing, as well as for the return delivery of checks to the counties for payment.

Mr. Kimble noted, however, that the department cannot duplicate the feat two weeks in a row and that claimants due checks on New Year's Day will be paid instead on Friday, January 2.

Claimants who would normally receive benefit checks—Wednesday and Thursday, December 24 and 25, will receive them Tuesday, December 23;

While claimants in the counties should follow the above schedule of reporting days, they will receive specific instructions as to the hours at which to report to their local offices on these days.

Claimants reporting to certain part-time offices in rural communities, which are not open every day, will receive special instructions if their schedules are changed.

Food Managers To Be Briefed On Health Rules

Series Of Meetings Begin In January

The Allegany County Health Department will begin a series of meetings next month in connection with a program of boosting the rating of eating and drinking establishments.

Beginning January 9, managers and owners of the county's 290 licensed food and drink establishments will be invited to attend group meetings at the Health Department offices.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, and J. B. Dowling, chief sanitarian, will brief the restaurant owners on the state regulations for eating establishments.

Got Low Ratings

Mr. Dowling said a State Health Department conducted survey this year resulted in a rating of 46.3 per cent and that the department is committed to a gradual upgrading of standards.

Similar meetings will be held on succeeding Fridays until all restaurant owners have been informed of the details of the program.

Mr. Dowling said a recent inspection showed that about 60 per cent of the establishments were not meeting state standards.

He said that such things as hand washing facilities, sterilization of dishes, refrigeration and proper food handling will be stressed at the conferences held for groups of from 15 to 20 managers.

The Health Department plans to enlist the aid of the Liquor Board in its program.

Use Permit Plan

Officials said they do not expect any restaurant or tavern to get a perfect score but will work with owners and managers until all of the minimum standards are met.

Higher standards are being demanded by the public, the Health Department said.

The Health Department recently stopped granting Grade A ratings to restaurants and instead is refusing to grant permits to operate unless sanitation conditions are satisfactory.

The Grade A cards were issued only by the City Health Department, which was discontinued when the Case plan for health financing was adopted.

Local Breweries To Consolidate

Queen City Exercises Option

Cumberland's two long-established breweries soon will be operated under single ownership.

William L. Wilson Jr., president of the Queen City Brewing Company, late last night confirmed a persistent rumor that the Queen City Brewing Company was in the process of acquiring the controlling interest in the Cumberland Brewing Company.

Mr. Wilson stated that the Queen City Brewing Company, manufacturer of Old German beer, had obtained an option to purchase the controlling interest in the Cumberland Brewing Company, maker of Old Export beer. Mr. Wilson further stated that when the option is exercised both firms would be operated as separate organizations.

It was understood last night that some details of the consolidation move have not yet been concluded.

Cumberland's breweries are probably the oldest local industries. The Cumberland Brewing Company dates from 1890 and the Queen City Brewing Company began operations in 1901. Both managed to continue operations through the Prohibition era by selling ice and non-alcoholic beverages.

APPOINTED—John L. Hardesty, a native of Terra Alta, W. Va., now residing with his family at Cresaptown has begun his duties as a field representative working out of the local Social Security office on Pershing Street. He was transferred to the local district office from Charleston, W. Va. where he joined the Social Security Administration in October 1956. He was formerly an employe of the West Virginia Conservation Commission.

FBI Arrests W. H. Parker At Keyser

Is Accused Head Of Forgery Ring

William Harvey Parker, 44, Keyser, was arrested Wednesday by FBI agents at Keyser and charged with being the head of a two-man forgery operation in West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

E. H. Winterowd, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the FBI, said Parker had some 600 checks printed in Cumberland on the account of the fictitious firm of Morris & Thompson Inc., listed as excavating contractors of Baltimore. The checks were on the First National Bank of Baltimore.

Winterowd said the majority of the checks were for $88.64. He said Parker signed the fictitious name of Anna A. Morris, as secretary of the firm, Frank H. Weaver, as treasurer, and cashed them at supermarkets at York, Pa., Clarksburg, W. Va., Baltimore, Hagerstown, Md., Newport News, Va., Falls Church, Va. Arlington, Norfolk, Va., and Colonial Beach, Va.

Authorities said an alleged accomplice, Stanley M. Phelps, 30, was arrested Dec. 12 at Fairfax, Va., while cashing one of the Morris & Thompson checks.

Parker was arraigned Wednesday before U. S. Commissioner George C. Ludwig at Keyser and remanded to Mineral County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond. He is scheduled to be taken to Fairmont today to await action of the next term of U. S. District court there.

Parker, a native of Wilmington, Del., also formerly lived in Fairmont and Washington, D. C.

Area Man Held As Gun Theft Case Is Closed

Police Open Probe In New "Mugging"

He was identified as Joseph Biggs, of 30 Lyons Street, Ridgeley. Detective Lt. James E. Van said he admitted taking the gun after failing a lie detector test at Police Headquarters yesterday afternoon.

The Ridgeley man is scheduled to be taken to the State's Attorney's Office today. Another man held for questioning in the case has been released.

Late yesterday afternoon, Biggs led Lt. Van and Detective Thomas J. See to the barn on a brother's home near Ridgeley, where he had hidden the gun.

Probe Mugging

The victim was Mrs. Elva Westfall, 44, of 209 Cecelia Street, who reported that she went home in a taxi. As the cab pulled away, she said, someone came from the side of the house, shoved her to the ground and took her black purse.

Detective George Furstenberg, who investigated, said Mrs. Westfall could not describe her assailant except that he was a "young fellow" and that he ran toward the corner of Park and Williams streets. The purse contained about $60 in cash, two pairs of boys' gloves and a scarf.

Bar Is Entered

City Police yesterday received a report of a breaking and entering at the K-Bar on Virginia Avenue.

Girl Scout Council Plans Annual Election

The annual meeting of the Cumberland Girl Scout Council will be held January 29 at 6 p.m. with a dinner at Central YMCA.

Mrs. Viola M. McKenzie, chairman of arrangements, told the Girl Scout board of directors at a meeting Monday night, that preparations are being made for up to 175 adult council and board members, and that each neighborhood will be responsible for reservations for its leaders. There are eight neighborhoods in the council.

"Widening Frontiers" will be the program theme at the annual meeting, emphasizing the growth of scouting here and its expansion into a broader council area.

There will also be the annual election of officers and new board members to replace those whose terms expire. Board members can not succeed themselves and must remain off the board at least one year, after holding that position, Mrs. McKenzie explained.

She said her committee is working on an entertainment program, that annual reports from various committees will be submitted and that a speaker from the National Girl Scout Council or from some neighboring scout council will appear.

At the meeting Monday night, the board heard routine reports, discussed the state of the budget a the year's end, and made preliminary plans for activity early next year, including several annual parent-daughter dinners.

ABL Honored For Aid To Handicapped

The award, one of three presented to Maryland firms, was accepted by Col. Robert W. Meals, assistant manager, at a luncheon sponsored by the Governor's Committee to Promote Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

Col. Meals was introduced by State Senator Charles M. See, who has been reappointed chairman of the Allegany County Employ the Handicapped committee.

Three workers who have overcome handicaps were also honored.

Also present from here at the luncheon were Mrs. Meals; John Cobun, rehabilitation counselor, and Francis A. Kenney, manager of the Department of Employment Security here.

Workers Pass First Aid Test

Eleven employes of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company successfully passed the standard first aid course taught by the Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross.

Brace E. Lee, 1027 Frederick Street, was the instructor for the group which completed the five class periods of two hours each.

Certificates were given to Robert J. Adams, 214 North Lee Street; William D. Dawson, 409 Piedmont Avenue; John W. Downey, 232 Baltimore Avenue; Robert Mattingly, 416 Grand Avenue; William T. Rice, 10 East Street; Kenneth Roby, 501 Oldtown Road; Robert Shipley, 1332 Shades Lane; and Darrell Simpson, Route 2, all of Cumberland; James E. Brashear, Central Avenue, Westernport; Royce W. Bucy, 9 Holly Avenue, LaVale, and Ronald E. Barb, LaVale.

Helena Taschenberger is instructor for the group of 17 students, who are believed to be the first high school group to study first aid as a body.

Kettle Drive Fund Growing

Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel, said this brings the Christmas Cheer fund to the $1,444.75 mark.

Included is $587.30 in the SA kettle drive; donations of $189.50, including $118.50 collected from members of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, and $667.95 from service club collections.

The Salavation Army has received over 600 applications for Christmas food baskets. Three Advisory Board members were at work last night writing out the orders. Most of the checks will be in the mail by Friday.

Christmas kettles in the downtown area will be manned by members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Campaign Pays Off

Because of the recent campaign to "Keep America Beautiful," the cleanup cost of a 58-mile stretch in Maryland dropped from $12,228 in 1957 to $9,481 in 1958.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Man Turned Over To Pennsylvania

Leroy Edward Wilkinson, of Hagerstown and San Francisco, who was given a one-year suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction last week by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, yesterday was turned over to Pennsylvania authorities.

He was tried in Allegany County Circuit Court here on a charge of breaking and entering and pleaded guilty to petit larceny. Judge Harris meted out the suspended sentence and Wilkinson was remanded to the Allegany County Jail awaiting police of Pennsylvania who returned him to that state where he faces a forgery and burglary charge in Bedford Countny.

The charge on which he was tried in the local court stemmed from the theft of a small amount of money and some clothes from a home on Williams Road in June 1956.

Chiropractors Attend Session

Local chiropractors attended the business meeting of the Maryland Chiropractic Association, Inc. which was held Sunday at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore.

District chapter officers and committee chairmen were present. Guest speaker was Dr. Aaron D. Barad, of Baltimore, president of the association. He outlined a few tips to aid drivers to protect themselves and others from accidents now that the worst traffic months — December and January — are upon us.

"The secret is for tired, restless, or uncomfortable drivers to stop the car, get out, and stretch, do some deep breathing and reach arms up over the head to keep the blood flowing," said Doctor Barad.

"Driving too long without altering the driving position," he said, "strains the tissues of the spinal column, resulting in a slowing of the reflexes."

Wiley Ford Youngster Drinks Turpentine

Hospital authorities said Mark Golden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Golden, was in "good" condition.

Hoke Named Manager In Puerto Rico

A former manager of the Bedford Springs (Pa.) Hotel has been named manager of a $10 million dollar hotel in Puerto Rico.

G. Bland Hoke, who served as manager of the Bedford hotel from 1948 to 1953, will manage the 136-room hotel which is located at Dorado Beach about 20 miles from San Juan.

The new development was undertaren by Lawrence S. Rockefeller and covers a tract of 1,200 acres along two miles of ocean front.

Mr. Hoke has spent the past year in Puerto Rico preparing for the opening which took place recently. The new Caribbean showplace includes 14 buildings, golf course, swimming pools, private airfield, tennis courts and riding trails.

Mr. Hoke is widely known in American hotel circles and also formerly managed Princeton Inn in Princeton, N. J.

Kiwanians Greet District Governor

Dr. Peter Noble Lombard of Silver Spring, who is ending his one-year term as governor of the Capital District of Kiwanis International, will visit the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at 12:15 p. m. today at Central YMCA.

The Capitol District includes all of the Kiwanis clubs in Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia, numbering about 150.

The program for today calls for the Allegany High School choir, directed by Miss Dorothy Willison, to make its annual visit to sing typical Christmas selections.

Quench Brush Fire

East Side Fire Company was called to 1513 Bedford Street yesterday at 12:50 p.m. to quench a brush and rubbish fire. The firemen had the blaze out within 25 minutes, using water from the booster tank.

14 Christmas Songs Due At Allegany Assembly

The Senior Choral Club will open the program with "Good Will To Men" and " Ye Bells of Bethlehem." The octet will sing the Ukranian tune "Carol of The Bells." The Senior Boys Glee Club is scheduled then for "The Three Kings" and "O Holy Night."

The Musettes, a group of eight outstanding singers directed by Mrs. Chambers, will present "Sing Gloria" and "Jesus Is Born." The entire audience will then be called upon to join in singing "Joy To The World."

Rounding out the program will be "O Come, All Ye Faithful", "There Were Shepherds" and "The Shepherds' Story," all sung by the Senior Choir; "We Saw Him Sleeping, "sung by the octet; "Silent Night" and "Gloria In Excelsis," both sung by the Senior Choir.

Some 400 singers participated in the Christmas vocal concert Tuesday night in the school auditorium before an audience of some 1,200 parents and friends. The junior high school Christmas assembly was conducted yesterday.

Mercury Rises As Area Enjoys Break In Weather

Residents of this section got a chance to thaw out yesterday as the mercury climbed to 46 degrees in Cumberland, the highest reading here in several weeks.

The forecast for today calls for slightly colder weather with temperatures to range in the high 30s. Cloudy skies and windy conditions also are expected today.

The weatherman says it will be warmer tomorrow and Saturday, colder Sunday and possibly warmer Monday. Normal highs are expected to be in the upper 30s in this area.

West Virginia also enjoyed its warmest weather in two weeks yesterday, but temperatures are expected to drop from the 40s down to the 30s today. Temperatures are forecast to average well below normal in that state the next five days.

Fuel Oil Price Reaches 16.3 Cents

The new price of fuel oil for homes charged by most of the companies serving the Cumberland area is now 16.3 cents a gallon, effective Tuesday, a spokesman for one of the affected companies reported last night.

An Associated Press dispatch from Baltimore Tuesday night said that Esso Standard Oil Company has increased the price of fuel oil for homes to 14.9 cents a gallon. A spokesman here explained that the 1.4 cents differential between Baltimore and Cumberland results from the increased charges of bringing the oil from Baltimore here. The Baltimore increase was the third hike in a little more than four months totaling 1.3 cents.

D'Alesandro To Run Again

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro announced Wednesday night he will campaign for Democratic renomination to a fourth straight term.

D'Alesandro, defeated by Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall in Maryland's senatorial election last month, said he was taking the step "after a conference with Gov.-elect J. Millard Tawes."

Party leaders who have been drumming up support for a candidate to oppose the mayor include Democratic chieftains who spearheaded the Tawes-for-governor movement in Baltimore.

J. Harold Grady, newly elected state's attorney, has been mentioned as their likeliest choice to oppose D'Alesandro.

6 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Legislators Are Briefed On FSTC Needs

Anticipate 1,000 Students By 1961

Legislators from Allegany and Garrett counties were guests yesterday at a luncheon in the social room of Lowndes Hall, Frostburg State Teachers College, after which they were briefed on expansion plans and needs at the college.

R. Bowen Hardesty, college president, and a number of members of the administrative staff were hosts at the luncheon.

President Hardesty displayed two maps before the group. One showed various colored pins in the areas from which the students come from the State of Maryland. The other map showed the placement of graduates in the various counties over the state.

Pointing out that the enrollment of the college has doubled in the past 10 years from 304 students in 1948 to 705 in 1958, President Hardesty, explained the overcrowded housing conditions at the college. Dormitories house 312 students, 30 rent in the city and 16 have been commuting from homes in various parts of Allegany and Garrett counties until November 1. Total of students not living in Frostburg is 358. The total capacity of the dormitories is 266 showing that the college is desperately in need of housing for 266 students, Mr. Hardesty declared.

Current Needs

Current needs of the college in buildings approved by the State Board of Education on May 28, 1958 are as follows: A dining hall-student union building to cost $573,358; construction of addition to Laboratory School, $117,406; women's residence hall and men's residence hall to take care of existing students and alleviate overcrowded conditions of up to four students in a room, $362,000 each.

"These three improvements are a must," President Hardesty said as the enrollment of the college for 1959 is estimated at 800 students. This is 100 more than are on campus now.

The other two items in the approved needs for next year are site improvement to South campus $145,000 and site improvement in dining hall $50,000. The grand total for all needs is $1,609,764.

With the completion of the Laboratory School now under construction, the college will have available six classrooms which are needed now. Dean Ivan C. Diehl pointed out that national figures for use of classrooms is far below the use of the present rooms at FSTC.

President Hardesty pointed out to the legislators that he was not "sandbagging them" into supporting his plan but wanted to inform them of the needs so they could intelligently evaluate the program of Western Maryland's only college. One thousand students at the college are expected by 1961 and facilities must be here for them

Children Meet Santa Claus

Mineral Board Hears Request For New School

Meeting Tonight In Ridgeley

A public meeting will be held tonight in the Ridgeley High School for the purpose of hearing a report from the citizens delegation which contacted the Mineral County School Board in an effort to obtain a new grade school building in the town.

Jack Cornett who was elected chairman of the citizens group, said last night the meeting is called for 7 p. m. and baby sitting service at the school has been arranged so interested parents and other citizens may bring their children.

A 12-member citizens committee met Tuesday night with the School Board at Keyser and presented a request for a new elementary school building. The committee alleged that the present structure is a positive fire hazard, is unsafe, inadequate and over-crowded.

The committee was organized at a mass meeting held December 10, at which time a number of photographs and other exhibits were presented, showing there are numerous hazards and the building has long been neglected. The meeting with the Board of Education was the outgrowth of this public airing.

No official answer to the request was made by the Board of Education, although members said they were aware of the hazardous conditions at the school and said a new school is under consideration.

Members of the board, and S. T. McGee, superintendent of Mineral County schools, asked that they be permitted to study all phases of the request, and said they would make their decision known at a meeting Monday evening, January 5.

The Ridgeley school was constructed in 1914, with a second floor addition made in 1922, Cornett pointed out. Fire safety conditions are deplorable, he explained, citing reports of the state fire marshal's office which state corridors and stairways are too narrow, fire escape provisions inadequate and an out-moded heating plant constitutes a grave fire hazard.

CUF Agency Says Toys Holding Out

12,000 Available For Distribution

The Associated Charities expects to complete the annual distribution of toys this week, according to Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary.

She added that the supply has been slightly depleted by three days of distribution but that "there will be plenty for everyone."

An estimated 12,000 toys, big and little, were on hand Monday when the CUF agency began distributing toys which had been collected throughout the year.

It was a record collection, Miss Bonig said, both in quantity and quality.

Parents of needy children were given appointments to come to the toy center, where workers tried to provide just what the children wanted for Christmas.

One large toy, such as a bike or sled for boys, or a large doll and furniture for girls, is being provided, along with about a dozen smaller toys.

Miss Bonig said the parents have been very happy with the selection of toys available and that many were concerned for fear they were taking a toy someone else might need.

Idle Will Get Checks Before Christmas Day

Payment Schedule Will Be Advanced

All eligible claimants due unemployment insurance checks at any time during Christmas week will receive them prior to Christmas Day, the Department of Employment Security announced yesterday.

Robert B. Kimble, executive director, said the payments are being made early because the department recognizes the special need claimants and their families will have for the benefit checks just before Christmas.

Having completed its work by Christmas Eve, the department will be closed Christmas Day and Friday, December 26.

To make the early payment plan possible, the Department is working its check-writing unit the Saturday before Christmas and is making arrangements for special bus and train delivery of county claims to the central office in Baltimore for processing, as well as for the return delivery of checks to the counties for payment.

Mr. Kimble noted, however, that the department cannot duplicate the feat two weeks in a row and that claimants due checks on New Year's Day will be paid instead on Friday, January 2.

Claimants who would normally receive checks — Monday and Tuesday, December 22 and 23, will receive them Monday, December 22;

Claimants who would normally receive benefit checks—Wednesday and Thursday, December 24 and 25, will receive them Tuesday, December 23;

Claimants who would normally receive benefit checks — Friday, December 26, will receive them Wednesday, December 24.

While claimants in the counties should follow the above schedule of reporting days, they will receive specific instructions as to the hours at which to report to their local offices on these days.

Claimants reporting to certain part-time offices in rural communities, which are not open every day, will receive special instructions if their schedules are changed.

Food Managers To Be Briefed On Health Rules

Series Of Meetings Begin In January

The Allegany County Health Department will begin a series of meetings next month in connection with a program of boosting the rating of eating and drinking establishments.

Beginning January 9, managers and owners of the county's 290 licensed food and drink establishments will be invited to attend group meetings at the Health Department offices.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, and J. B. Dowling, chief sanitarian, will brief the restaurant owners on the state regulations for eating establishments.

Got Low Ratings

Mr. Dowling said a State Health Department conducted survey this year resulted in a rating of 46.3 per cent and that the department is committed to a gradual upgrading of standards.

Similar meetings will be held on succeeding Fridays until all restaurant owners have been informed of the details of the program.

Mr. Dowling said a recent inspection showed that about 60 per cent of the establishments were not meeting state standards.

He said that such things as hand washing facilities, sterilization of dishes, refrigeration and proper food handling will be stressed at the conferences held for groups of from 15 to 20 managers.

The Health Department plans to enlist the aid of the Liquor Board in its program.

Use Permit Plan

Officials said they do not expect any restaurant or tavern to get a perfect score but will work with owners and managers until all of the minimum standards are met.

Higher standards are being demanded by the public, the Health Department said.

The Health Department recently stopped granting Grade A ratings to restaurants and instead is refusing to grant permits to operate unless sanitation conditions are satisfactory.

The Grade A cards were issued only by the City Health Department, which was discontinued when the Case plan for health financing was adopted.

Local Breweries To Consolidate

Queen City Exercises Option

Cumberland's two long-established breweries soon will be operated under single ownership.

William L. Wilson Jr., president of the Queen City Brewing Company, late last night confirmed a persistent rumor that the Queen City Brewing Company was in the process of acquiring the controlling interest in the Cumberland Brewing Company.

Mr. Wilson stated that the Queen City Brewing Company, manufacturer of Old German beer, had obtained an option to purchase the controlling interest in the Cumberland Brewing Company, maker of Old Export beer. Mr. Wilson further stated that when the option is exercised both firms would be operated as separate organizations.

It was understood last night that some details of the consolidation move have not yet been concluded.

Cumberland's breweries are probably the oldest local industries. The Cumberland Brewing Company dates from 1890 and the Queen City Brewing Company began operations in 1901. Both managed to continue operations through the Prohibition era by selling ice and non-alcoholic beverages.

APPOINTED—John L. Hardesty, a native of Terra Alta, W. Va., now residing with his family at Cresaptown has begun his duties as a field representative working out of the local Social Security office on Pershing Street. He was transferred to the local district office from Charleston, W. Va. where he joined the Social Security Administration in October 1956. He was formerly an employe of the West Virginia Conservation Commission.

FBI Arrests W. H. Parker At Keyser

Is Accused Head Of Forgery Ring

William Harvey Parker, 44, Keyser, was arrested Wednesday by FBI agents at Keyser and charged with being the head of a two-man forgery operation in West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

E. H. Winterowd, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the FBI, said Parker had some 600 checks printed in Cumberland on the account of the fictitious firm of Morris & Thompson Inc., listed as excavating contractors of Baltimore. The checks were on the First National Bank of Baltimore.

Winterowd said the majority of the checks were for $88.64. He said Parker signed the fictitious name of Anna A. Morris, as secretary of the firm, Frank H. Weaver, as treasurer, and cashed them at supermarkets at York, Pa., Clarksburg, W. Va., Baltimore, Hagerstown, Md., Newport News, Va., Falls Church, Va. Arlington, Norfolk, Va., and Colonial Beach, Va.

Authorities said an alleged accomplice, Stanley M. Phelps, 30, was arrested Dec. 12 at Fairfax, Va., while cashing one of the Morris & Thompson checks.

Parker was arraigned Wednesday before U. S. Commissioner George C. Ludwig at Keyser and remanded to Mineral County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond. He is scheduled to be taken to Fairmont today to await action of the next term of U. S. District court there.

Parker, a native of Wilmington, Del., also formerly lived in Fairmont and Washington, D. C.

Area Man Held As Gun Theft Case Is Closed

Police Open Probe In New "Mugging"

A 22-year-old area man is being held in the City Jail in connection with the theft of a rifle here last Friday.

He was identified as Joseph Biggs, of 30 Lyons Street, Ridgeley. Detective Lt. James E. Van said he admitted taking the gun after failing a lie detector test at Police Headquarters yesterday afternoon.

The Ridgeley man is scheduled to be taken to the State's Attorney's Office today. Another man held for questioning in the case has been released.

Late yesterday afternoon, Biggs led Lt. Van and Detective Thomas J. See to the barn on a brother's home near Ridgeley, where he had hidden the gun.

Probe Mugging

Investigation was started yesterday on a "mugging" case reported shortly after midnight yesterday.

The victim was Mrs. Elva Westfall, 44, of 209 Cecelia Street, who reported that she went home in a taxi. As the cab pulled away, she said, someone came from the side of the house, shoved her to the ground and took her black purse.

Detective George Furstenberg, who investigated, said Mrs. Westfall could not describe her assailant except that he was a "young fellow" and that he ran toward the corner of Park and Williams streets. The purse contained about $60 in cash, two pairs of boys' gloves and a scarf.

Bar Is Entered

Lt. Van and Det. See said the intruder obtained a small amount of cash from two pinball machines and a juke box.

Girl Scout Council Plans Annual Election

The annual meeting of the Cumberland Girl Scout Council will be held January 29 at 6 p.m. with a dinner at Central YMCA.

Mrs. Viola M. McKenzie, chairman of arrangements, told the Girl Scout board of directors at a meeting Monday night, that preparations are being made for up to 175 adult council and board members, and that each neighborhood will be responsible for reservations for its leaders. There are eight neighborhoods in the council.

Final date for obtaining tickets and making reservations is January 23.

"Widening Frontiers" will be the program theme at the annual meeting, emphasizing the growth of scouting here and its expansion into a broader council area.

There will also be the annual election of officers and new board members to replace those whose terms expire. Board members can not succeed themselves and must remain off the board at least one year, after holding that position, Mrs. McKenzie explained.

She said her committee is working on an entertainment program, that annual reports from various committees will be submitted and that a speaker from the National Girl Scout Council or from some neighboring scout council will appear.

At the meeting Monday night, the board heard routine reports, discussed the state of the budget a. the year's end, and made preliminary plans for activity early next year, including several annual parent-daughter dinners.

ABL Honored For Aid To Handicapped

The Allegany Ballistics Laboratory was honored Tuesday in Baltimore for its outstanding efforts to employ handicapped persons.

The award, one of three presented to Maryland firms, was accepted by Col. Robert W. Meals, assistant manager, at a luncheon sponsored by the Governor's Committee to Promote Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

Col. Meals was introduced by State Senator Charles M. See, who has been reappointed chairman of the Allegany County Employ the Handicapped committee.

Three workers who have overcome handicaps were also honored.

Also present from here at the luncheon were Mrs. Meals; John Cobun, rehabilitation counselor, and Francis A. Kenney, manager of the Department of Employment Security here.

Kettle Drive Fund Growing

Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel, said this brings the Christmas Cheer fund to the $1,444.75 mark.

Included is $587.30 in the SA kettle drive; donations of $189.50, including $118.50 collected from members of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, and $667.95 from service club collections.

The Salavation Army has received over 600 applications for Christmas food baskets. Three Advisory Board members were at work last night writing out the orders. Most of the checks will be in the mail by Friday.

Christmas kettles in the downtown area will be manned by members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Campaign Pays Off

Because of the recent campaign to "Keep America Beautiful," the cleanup cost of a 58-mile stretch in Maryland dropped from $12,228 in 1957 to $9,481 in 1958.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Chiropractors Attend Session

Local chiropractors attended the business meeting of the Maryland Chiropractic Association, Inc. which was held Sunday at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore.

District chapter officers and committee chairmen were present. Guest speaker was Dr. Aaron D. Barad, of Baltimore, president of the association. He outlined a few tips to aid drivers to protect themselves and others from accidents now that the worst traffic months — December and January — are upon us.

"The secret is for tired, restless, or uncomfortable drivers to stop the car, get out, and stretch, do some deep breathing and reach arms up over the head to keep the blood flowing," said Doctor Barad.

"Driving too long without altering the driving position," he said, "strains the tissues of the spinal column, resulting in a slowing of the reflexes."

Wiley Ford Youngster Drinks Turpentine

A two-year-old Wiley Ford youngster was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night after he drank an unknown amount of turpentine at his home.

Hospital authorities said Mark Golden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Golden, was in "good" condition.

Deaths

Moon, Edward D., 64, of 15 Potomac Avenue, Ridgeley.

Turner, Carl L., 57, of 1209 Lexington Avenue.

Man Turned Over To Pennsylvania

Leroy Edward Wilkinson, of Hagerstown and San Francisco, who was given a one-year suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction last week by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, yesterday was turned over to Pennsylvania authorities.

He was tried in Allegany County Circuit Court here on a charge of breaking and entering and pleaded guilty to petit larceny. Judge Harris meted out the suspended sentence and Wilkinson was remanded to the Allegany County Jail awaiting police of Pennsylvania who returned him to that state where he faces a forgery and burglary charge in Bedford Countny.

The charge on which he was tried in the local court stemmed from the theft of a small amount of money and some clothes from a home on Williams Road in June 1956.

Serving On Cruiser

Harry E. Mullenax, seaman, USN, son of Mrs. Lougora M. Mullenax, 324 Baltimore Avenue, is serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Macon with the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean Sea.

Hoke Named Manager In Puerto Rico

A former manager of the Bedford Springs (Pa.) Hotel has been named manager of a $10 million dollar hotel in Puerto Rico.

G. Bland Hoke, who served as manager of the Bedford hotel from 1948 to 1953, will manage the 136-room hotel which is located at Dorado Beach about 20 miles from San Juan.

The new development was undertaken by Lawrence S. Rockefeller and covers a tract of 1,200 acres along two miles of ocean front.

Mr. Hoke has spent the past year in Puerto Rico preparing for the opening which took place recently. The new Caribbean showplace includes 14 buildings, golf course, swimming pools, private airfield, tennis courts and riding trails.

Mr. Hoke is widely known in American hotel circles and also formerly managed Princeton Inn in Princeton, N. J.

Kiwanians Greet District Governor

Dr. Peter Noble Lombard of Silver Spring, who is ending his one-year term as governor of the Capital District of Kiwanis International, will visit the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at 12:15 p. m. today at Central YMCA.

The Capitol District includes all of the Kiwanis clubs in Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia, numbering about 150.

The program for today calls for the Allegany High School choir, directed by Miss Dorothy Willison, to make its annual visit to sing typical Christmas selections.

Quench Brush Fire

East Side Fire Company was called to 1513 Bedford Street yesterday at 12:50 p.m. to quench a brush and rubbish fire. The firemen had the blaze out within 25 minutes, using water from the booster tank.

14 Christmas Songs Due At Allegany Assembly

Fourteen Christmas selections will be sung at the senior high school assembly starting about 9 a. m. Friday at Allegany High School.

Miss Dorothy Willison and Mrs. Margery H. Chambers direct the various musical groups which will sing at the assembly, a highlight of the final day of school before the Christmas holidays.

The Senior Choral Club will open the program with "Good Will To Men" and " Ye Bells of Bethlehem." The octet will sing the Ukranian tune "Carol of The Bells." The Senior Boys Glee Club is scheduled then for "The Three Kings" and "O Holy Night."

The Musettes, a group of eight outstanding singers directed by Mrs. Chambers, will present "Sing Gloria" and "Jesus Is Born." The entire audience will then be called upon to join in singing "Joy To The World."

Rounding out the program will be "O Come, All Ye Faithful", "There Were Shepherds" and "The Shepherds' Story," all sung by the Senior Choir; "We Saw Him Sleeping, "sung by the octet; "Silent Night" and "Gloria In Excelsis," both sung by the Senior Choir.

Some 400 singers participated in the Christmas vocal concert Tuesday night in the school auditorium before an audience of some 1,200 parents and friends. The junior high school Christmas assembly was conducted yesterday.

Mercury Rises As Area Enjoys Break In Weather

Residents of this section got a chance to thaw out yesterday as the mercury climbed to 46 degrees in Cumberland, the highest reading here in several weeks.

The forecast for today calls for slightly colder weather with temperatures to range in the high 30s. Cloudy skies and windy conditions also are expected today.

The weatherman says it will be warmer tomorrow and Saturday, colder Sunday and possibly warmer Monday. Normal highs are expected to be in the upper 30s in this area.

West Virginia also enjoyed its warmest weather in two weeks yesterday, but temperatures are expected to drop from the 40s down to the 30s today. Temperatures are forecast to average well below normal in that state the next five days.

Fuel Oil Price Reaches 16.3 Cents

The new price of fuel oil for homes charged by most of the companies serving the Cumberland area is now 16.3 cents a gallon, effective Tuesday, a spokesman for one of the affected companies reported last night.

An Associated Press dispatch from Baltimore Tuesday night said that Esso Standard Oil Company has increased the price of fuel oil for homes to 14.9 cents a gallon. A spokesman here explained that the 1.4 cents differential between Baltimore and Cumberland results from the increased charges of bringing the oil from Baltimore here. The Baltimore increase was the third hike in a little more than four months totaling 1.3 cents.

D'Alesandro To Run Again

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro announced Wednesday night he will campaign for Democratic renomination to a fourth straight term.

D'Alesandro, defeated by Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall in Maryland's senatorial election last month, said he was taking the step "after a conference with Gov.-elect J. Millard Tawes."

Workers Pass First Aid Test

Eleven employes of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company successfully passed the standard first aid course taught by the Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross.

Certificates were given to Robert J. Adams, 214 North Lee Street; William D. Dawson, 409 Piedmont Avenue; John W. Downey, 232 Baltimore Avenue; Robert Mattingly, 416 Grand Avenue; William T. Rice, 10 East Street; Kenneth Roby, 501 Oldtown Road; Robert Shipley, 1332 Shades Lane; and Darrell Simpson, Route 2, all of Cumberland; James E. Brashear, Central Avenue, Westernport; Royce W. Bucy, 9 Holly Avenue, LaVale, and Ronald E. Barb, LaVale.

Helena Taschenberger is instructor for the group of 17 students, who are believed to be the first high school group to study first aid as a body.
